EMBASSIES FEAR SACCO BOMBINGS

PARIS, Aug. 4.—(AP.)—A strong guard was maintained about the American embassy and chancery today to prevent disturbances as a consequence of Governor Fuller's decision that Sacco and Vanzetti must die. Up to noon there were no signs of trouble.

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 4.—The United States embassy in Buenos Aires and consulates in other Argentine cities were under guard today against possible demonstrations over the Sacco-Vanzetti decision.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(AP.)—Some of New York's larger buildings were being guarded today as a result of the ruling of Gov. Fuller, of Massachusetts, that the Sacco-Vanzetti death sentences must be carried out.

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—(AP.)—A week from today Nicola Sacco's and Bartolomeo Vanzetti's seven-year battle to escape death for murder, which has echoed in every country, will end in the electric chair at the Charlestown state prison unless their counsel can discover an avenue of appeal to the federal courts.

That possibility admittedly is a slender one.

Gov. Alvan T. Fuller last night, in a 2,300-word decision, definitely closed their last hope of escape by rejecting their plea for clemency.

Son-in-Law Kills Ohio Mine Head

NELSONVILLE, O., Aug. 4.—P. J. Merz, 65, president of the Lick Run Coal Company, was shot and killed near here this morning by James McManaway, president of the Nelsonville local of the miners' union.

McManaway surrendered to authorities and said he fired in self-defense.

The Lick Run Coal Company has been the scene of several disorders in connection with the atempt to operate it on the non-union shop basis.

Don McGill, manager of the mine, yesterday appealed to Gov. Vic Donahey to send troops to the property for protection. McGill said he feared bloodshed in the dispute between mine owners and union sympathizers.

The Lick Run Coal Company has been armed heavily since resuming operations on an open-air basis.

Merz was shot and killed about 8 o'clock this morning.

He was found on a railroad track leading from the mine, wounded in the left and right breasts.

McManaway, son-in-law of Merz, said the killing had resulted from an argument over domestic matters.

A few hours previously, Perry Wood, night foreman of the Lick Run mine, had been assaulted and robbed while going from the property to Nelsonville.

Orr "Squatter" on City Land, Officials Charge

The Rev. Dr. J. Alvin Orr, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church of the North Side and chairman of the executive board of the Citizens' League of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County, is a "squatter" on city property, city officials charged today.

Charles A. Waldschmidt, city solicitor, announced that complaints from property owners in the vicinity of Dr. Orr's home, 2 Watson entrance, Riverview, have entered complaints. Mr. Waldschmidt referred the case to Edward G. Lang, director of public works, who reiterated his statement.

Several years ago, the city vacated Derry street, which paralleled Dr. Orr's property line and crossed Watson entrance. One-half of the 30-foot street reverted to Dr. Orr, who sought that much for a driveway to his garage. Instead of laying the driveway, the city charges, he sowed grass and built the driveway on the 15 feet of the vacated street that should have been retained by the city, inasmuch as it reverted to the city as owner of Riverview Park, adjacent to Dr. Orr's property.

Dr. Orr replied to the accusations by saying that the city sold him its 15 feet of the property on a councilmanic ordinance. "So far as finding fault with my property line is concerned, I might say that I have one and three-quarters inches leeway on the Riverview Park side of the driveway."

DROP CARGO IN PARACHUTE

CURTISS FIELD, NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(AP.)—A giant Ford all-metal airplane "freighter," en route from Detroit to Hartford, Conn., arrived here at noon today, and delivered a case, containing three typewriters, by means of its special parachute equipment designed to expedite its deliveries of merchandise at various airports.

The case containing the typewriters was dropped from a height of about 400 feet and was carried to a hangar nearby.

"WE" TAKE OFF ON HOP TO W. VA.

Lindy said good-by to Pittsburgh today. He was given a send-off befitting a cavalier of the air.

As the silver-tipped Spirit of St. Louis flashed in the sunlight over Bettis Field, Charles A. Lindbergh, the "flying colonel," waved his hand from the side of his plane to the crowds massed below.

Thousands of hands waved in response. Then the plane circled, sped to the south and was gone.

Lindy gave the crowd many thrills before he left. He rocketed around in the air like a meteor gone astray, "floated" and performed graceful side slips.

The official time of the take-off was 1:15 p. m. Over 20,000 persons, a larger crowd than welcomed the air hero when he landed yesterday, gathered to bid him adieu.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, "hero of the Atlantic," was cheered out of the city at 11:30 o'clock this morning, as he left for his take-off from McKeesport to Wheeling.

The cheering began on the fifteenth floor of the William Penn Hotel as he walked out of his suite. Chambermaids, bellhops and other employes as well as guests of the hotel started the big hurrah.

"My stay here has been wonderfully pleasing and I am delighted with the hospitality of your people," said the king of the air.

"Lindy" was whisked away to Bettis Field amid a shower of confetti, small bits of paper and ticker tape. Men waved their hats, and Frank Barry, 47, of 7305 Whipple street, Swissvale, paid $50 in Oakland Police Court this morning for slugging William Dunkakis, 25, of 255 East Eighth avenue, Homestead, in Schenley Park. Dunkakis, with Miss Margaret Sennetto, 21, of 717 Homewood avenue, had stopped his automobile at a spring when Barry, with James McConville, 42, of 7407 Race street, ordered him to move on. Dunkakis refused and the attack followed.

Col. Lindbergh, who was introduced by former Congressman James M. Magee, another prize-winner in the accepted the bird house and contest which the scouts will send today to his mother in Detroit.

MELLON MAY BE 'DRAFTED' AS PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEE

If President Coolidge cannot be persuaded to seek re-election, it is likely that Secretary of the Treasury A. W. Mellon will receive at least 79 votes on the first ballot at the next Republican national convention.

Even if Secretary Mellon refuses to be an active candidate for the nomination, the probability is that the entire Pennsylvania delegation, mustering that many votes, will cast complimentary ballots for him.

There is a possibility that other states will follow the example of Pennsylvania.

HORSESHOE PLAY MAY HOLD ROBBERY SOLUTION

South Side police today were on the lookout for a horseshoe-pitching contest. If they find one they are hopeful of also finding 25 pairs of new horseshoes which were stolen last night from the blacksmith shop of David Smith, South First and McKean streets.

EASTERN BANDITS BAG PAY

EASTON, Pa., Aug. 4.—(AP.)—Three men dressed as workmen yesterday held up the paymaster of the Ferry Construction Company of Atlantic City, engaged in construction work here and got away with about $3,000. The robbers mingled with the workmen when they were lined up to receive their pay and took the money at the point of guns.

BELLEVUE DENTIST, FRIEND DROWN

Two Pittsburghers, Dr. Robert F. Ardery, aged 28 years, of 202 Summit avenue, Bellevue, and W. J. Dean, aged 35 years, of 628 Haverhill street, were drowned in Glouster Pool of Severn River, seven miles from Waubaushene, Ontario, Canada, according to word received by the relatives here today.

Both of the men were vacationing at the Moredolphon Camp, where they arrived Sunday. Dr. Ardery, a dentist, left his home last Friday to drive to Camp with Dr. R. J. Askin.

Both of the men were well-known in Pittsburgh, Dean being manager of a downtown bakery. Full particulars of the accident could not be obtained this morning. The bodies of both men will arrive in the city at 11:30 o'clock tonight.

Dr. Ardery was born in Pittsburgh, a son of A. W. and Mary E. Ardery. He attended the public schools here and in 1924 graduated from the University of Pittsburgh. He was a member of the Church of the Ascension in Bellevue. Beside his mother and father he leaves three sisters, the Misses Mary C., Helen G. and Bessie Ardery, and two brothers, Norman W. and Alfred Ardery, all at home.

Mr. Dean was also born in Pittsburgh, the son of Thomas and Alice Boyd. He was a World War veteran, having served with the Fifteenth Engineers. He was a member of the Masons and of the Brushton Methodist Episcopal Church. Beside his parents he leaves two sisters, Mrs. W. F. Boyd and Mrs. J. E. Hutchinson, and a brother, Oliver Dean, all of Pittsburgh.

16 MINERS DEAD IN PIT BLAST

CLAY, Ky., Aug. 4.—(AP.)—After eight bodies had been recovered from the West Kentucky Coal Company's mine today, T. E. Jenkins, vice president in charge of operations, said no hope remained for the eight others missing.

Fire broke out in the mine this morning, adding to the hardships of rescuers who had worked in relays all night, and while its extent could not be determined at once, it was believed to have influenced Mr. Jenkins in giving up hope.

The known dead are Manly Gobin, Charles Harper, Burgess Harper, Luther Melton, Boyd Lane, James Meyers, Arthur Shelton and an unidentified man.

Yesterday's explosion, which came 10 years to a day after the great explosion in the same mine that cost 67 lives, was attributed to a "faulty shot" or to explosion of a small gas pocket from an electrical spark, but Mr. Jenkins could not definitely state the cause.

THE WEATHER.

Partly cloudy tonight and Friday; slightly warmer tonight.

GENEVA PARLEY ENDS IN DEADLOCK

International News Service Wire.

GENEVA, Aug. 4.—The tripartite naval disarmament came to an end at 4:10 this afternoon, having failed to achieve any degree of success in negotiating a treaty for further limitation of naval armaments.

The conference, called at the suggestion of President Coolidge, had been in session for nearly two months and at no time had there been definite promise of success.

The final plenary session of the conference was marked with statements by the American, British and Japanese delegates declaring that the conference's failure does not mean a resumption of the race in naval armaments and that it will not disturb the peace of the world.

Friendly sentiments were voiced by all the speakers and a joint statement was made to the effect that the governments concerned would continue to examine the problem of limitation of armaments and solutions which have been suggested.

ILEANA FANCIES .·. AN AMERICAN HUBBY .·. PROPOSALS POUR IN

Since Queen Marie's dismissal of objections to an American as husband for the 18-year-old Princess Ileana, nine proposals have reached her bearing Uncle Sam's postmark. Ileana on her visit here last year caused a flutter at West Point when she visited the academy a second time just to say goodbye to Cadet Bill Glasgow (left) who had danced with her on her visit. If Bill knows anything about Ileana's intention he's discreetly silent. Here is Ileana in peasant costume and next are her sisters, Irene and Helene and their cousin, Princess Elizabeth of Greece, who will be somebody's sisters-in-law. Mayhap Ileana has whispered her choice to her pet and confidante, but she said yesterday that she will not marry for at least five years. Prince Humbert of Italy (right) was reported as the successful suitor but their engagement is denied. An Indiana farm boy in his letter of proposal offered Ileana his 10-acre farm, six cows, two buggies and a sleigh. A New Yorker offered simply his love and a cozy cottage. A third American said he was sure he could make her happier than if she became a queen.

PRESIDENCY EYED BY DAWES

Copyright 1927 by Universal Service and the Chicago Herald-Examiner.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Vice President Charles G. Dawes will accept the Republican nomination for President if it is tendered him. He will not, however, campaign to get it, Nor will he announce formally that he is a candidate.

The fiery Chicago banker, brigadier general during the World War and author of a plan for solving the reparations problem growing out of the Versailles treaty, declined to discuss the situation today, but his intimate friends did.

"There is nothing I care to say for publication," he said.

He was pleasant and amiable and before receiving the interviewer enjoyed a chat with a Senate page who was passing through the city and had called to pay his respects.

"I hope now, sir, that you will be elected to succeed President Coolidge," the boy said in parting.

"Oh, I stand all right with the Senate pages, do I?" responded the Vice President with a glint that recalled his battles to compel that body to modernize its rules.

While Gen. Dawes refused to comment, his position may be stated to be as follows:

He had no advance information that the President was going to "choose not to run." Two years ago, and several times since, he said publicly that he would not be a candidate for any office while he was Vice President. That is his present attitude.

No man would refuse the office of President if it was offered him, he believes. His friends added that the general will not stop any efforts that may be launched to place his name before the convention.

HELD IN ATTACK CASE

Arraigned in Morals Court today in connection with an attack on Miss Nellie McDonald, 27, of 1714 Fifth avenue, early yesterday in a cabaret at Wylie avenue and Fullerton street, Thomas Buckley, Negro, of Wylie avenue, was held pending the outcome of Miss McDonald's injuries.

GRANDDAD ASKS DIVORCE

Twice father and twice grandfather, Louis A. Wall, 55, of 9 Arion street, today instituted legal action in an atempt to dissolve his 25-year-old marriage with Mary B. Wall, 57, of 220 Shiloh street. A divorce libel, filed with Judge George V. Moore by the husband, charges the wife with desertion.

Snow Storm Sweeps Woods Run Area; 'Tis Synthetic

Reports reaching the office of the weather bureau that a snow storm had visited the Woods Run district this morning were true. But the snow was synthetic.

Over an area of several blocks in Preble avenue and Eckert street the white crystals fell from the cloudy sky and on close examination the substance had all the appearance of mid-winter snow.

M. J. Bodner, manager of the plant of the Liquid Carbonic Company, 3101 Preble avenue, explained that coke furnaces were being blown out by use of compressed air which carried the sodium particles toward the city.

MAY "DRAFT" MELLON

In that way, according to the opinions expressed by Republican politicians in the western part of the state, there is a possibility that the Secretary of the Treasury may find himself before the convention as a serious contender even against his own wishes. As Councilman James F. Malone, chaircan of the Republican organization committee of Allegheny county expressed it, he may find himself "drafted" by the delegates.

MELLON EUROPE BOUND

Secretary Mellon is bound for Europe. His relatives and political associates here refused to discuss talk of Mellon for President, although Mayor Charles H. Kline and other Pittsburgh leaders spoke of him as the best candidate in the event Coolidge takes himself from the field.

"It is impossible for me to discuss that subject," said Republican State Chairman W. L. Mellon, "I do not know what is in the mind of the Secretary."

At the Cleveland convention in 1924 Secretary Mellon received what was possibly the most enthusiastic ovation of the gathering, the occasion being when he was recognized by Theodore E. Burton, temporary chairman, to move the creation of a committee on resolutions.

NAB PULLMAN PORTERS AS BOOZE SMUGGLERS

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Old John Barleycorn rides in state. He came into Chicago yesterday on three Pullman cars from Detroit. Three Pullman porters who were passing grips containing whisky valued at $10,000 to red caps were arrested. Ray Timroth, waiting in an auto to take the grips, was also arrested. Dry agents threaten to padlock the cars.

HANDKERCHIEF HALL OF FAME

When Lindy came to town yesterday Miss Florence Kuhlman got out the handkerchief at the left and remembered that night at Le Bourget Flying Field when a lone young eagle swooped down from the air and fished out his letters of introduction. She was there, having been in Paris as buyer for a local department store. Later Miss Kuhlman acquired the signatures of Bert Acosta, Lieut. George Noville, Clarence Chamberlin and Commander Richard E. Byrd. She resides at the William Penn Hotel.

Prince Hadn't Planned To Visit U. S. But It's Necessary

OTTAWA, Canada, Aug. 4—(Universal.)—The Prince of Wales and party will enter United States territory Friday afternoon.

Although the Prince is understood to have abandoned any idea of visiting the United States formally during his present tour, he will find it necessary to be a fleeting guest of America during his 50-mile cruise among the Thousand Islands. The Royal party will be guests of Mrs. George T. Fulford on her yacht "Magedoma."

The Prince will be given a royal salute of 21 guns as he comes into American waters.

It was the gift of Premier Mackenzie, King of Canada, on the occasion of the British premier's sixtieth birthday. Hundreds of congratulatory messages were received by the premier, among them messages from King George and Queen Mary.

DARES DEATH IN HOME-MADE BLIMP

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(AP.)—The wild ride of a lone pilot in a home-made blimp 6,000 feet above the ground furnished thousands of New Yorkers last evening with the thrill of a lifetime.

The pilot, Anthony Hansler, finally landed his 94-foot ship safely in the Long Island meadows. The only damage done was a rip in the gas bag.

The ship was constructed by Morris F. Hamza, in the backyard of his home in Union City, N. J., and represents 10 years of experimental work and three years of actual construction. Hamza is striving to perfect a ship that will remain afloat indefinitely.

Yesterday's flight was to have been in the nature of a test. Hansler took off from Secaucus, N. J., and headed over New York. When he was about over Times Square a tear in the gas bag developed from the friction of a rope, and fearing an explosion of the 15,000 feet of hydrogn in the bag he turned off the motor.

The craft was then at the mercy of the winds and Hamza straped a parachute on himself and threw out a 1,500-foot rope hoping someone would catch it. Although many tried, none succeeded until the Long Island meadows were reached. The blimp was then hauled down in safety.

The ship, which is shaped something like a sausage, has a small bamboo under-carriage suspended by ropes. Its motor is a two-cylinder, seven-horsepower motorcycle engine which drives a four-foot propeller.

Hamza prepared to retrieve his ship today and said the accident would not prevent additional flights.

women their handkerchiefs. Those in the crowded thoroughfare craned their necks to see him, but few caught more than a glimpse. He was in a closed car.

The first thing "Lindy" did as he left his room was to shake the hand of P. N. Harrison, of Meade street, a World War aviator who was blinded in the service. Even though Harrison could not see him, the greeting electrified him.

His desire to see that the other half of the famous "We" was in perfect condition for his trip to Wheeling today was in part at least responsible for Col. Lindbergh's retirement from his Pittsburgh reception at 9 o'clock last night, after one of the most momentous banquets ever held in the city.

CITY MUST LEAD

In his speech, with which the banquet ended, Col. Lindbergh paid tribute to Pittsburgh as the birthplace of aviation, in that it was here that Samuel Pierpont Langley conducted many of his experiments. He charged Pittsburghers with the responsibility of maintaining the lead in its development. He complimented the city on the response which has made the Pittsburgh-Cleveland air mail route so successful.

The Langley Beacon, commemorating the valor of the pioneers of aviation in the form of a powerful beacon to be erected at Pittsburgh's historic Point, was warmly indorsed by Col. Lindbergh.

Pittsburgh's police gave him the "best protection he has had in any city on his tour," he asked Mayor Kline to tell the public.

Regarding his own experience in crossing the Atlantic the young hero was reticent. But he told at great length about how "planes like the Spirit of St. Louis" can go 250 hours, or 25,000 miles, without overhauling.

"The science of aviation is growing so fast," he said, "that modern planes become obsolete before they wear out.

"Transatlantic service by airplane is coming," Col. Lindbergh declared. "It will not be here in a few months, nor even in a few years. There is much research and development to precede it. But no one can predict what will happn to aviation within the 25 coming years."

INCLINE PILOT DROPS DEAD

Just before Isaac Miller, 42, Duquesne Incline engineer, was to have taken charge of the incline last night to operate it until this morning he collapsed and died. It is believed that the excitement of seeing Col. Lindbergh had been too much for his heart. Had Miller lived a few minutes longer a dead man's hand might have held the power throttle of the incline on one of its trips between Duquesne Heights and West Carson street.

Miller had been one of the thousands who saw Col. Lindbergh at the Pitt Stadium.

OLDEST AERO COLONEL MEETS YOUNGEST, LINDY

For the first time since Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was honored with that ranking, the youngest colonel shook the hand of the oldest colonel in aviation, Col. Harry Fry, commander of Rogers Field, yesterday at Bettis Field, shortly after the "hero of the Atlantic" landed amid the plaudits of the thousands.

Crusoe's Life on Island "Soft," Professor Declares

By Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Robinson Crusoe had a soft snap living on Juan Fernandez Island with his good man Friday, Dr. Waldo L. Schmitt of the Smithsonian Institution has made known.

Just back from the island during a South American survey of vast resources of shrimps and crabs, Dr. Schmitt found the place where Alexander Selkirk lived four years and four months a veritable paradise.

"Every imaginable plant seems to grow on the island," said Dr. Schmitt, "including such widely divergent kinds as the cork oak of Spain and apple, cherry and olive trees. It is the base of the spiny lobster fisheries, $0,000 a year being shipped."

There are 287 persons now living on the island, among them a Frenchman who was shipwrecked 40 years ago and liked the place so well he has refused to leave, Dr. Schmitt said.

The Sun-Telegraph cameraman was kept on the jump yesterday from the time Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, "the Flying Colonel," swept down out of the skies onto Bettis Field, promptly at 2 p. m.—the hour he had promised. Here fully 100,000 persons awaited the intrepid flyer whose spanning of the vast Atlantic from New York to Paris brought him fame. Seeking advantage points, the crowds were on hand several hours before "We" appeared as a dot in the northwestern skies. Leaving Bettis Field, an automobile escort conveyed Lindbergh to Pitt Stadium, where another vast throng greeted him and heard him tell of the country's air needs. The reception for the flyer who five years ago was unknown, was concluded at a banquet in the William Penn Hotel. When Lindy arrived at Bettis Field, a crowd, delirious with joy, mingling cheers with tears of happiness, surged toward him, almost sweeping the 400 or more Pittsburgh policemen on duty at the field, off their feet. Mayor Kline, heading the reception committee, was the first to grasp the hand of the nation's hero.

YILDIZ PALACE IS GAMING RESORT

YILDIZ, TURKEY, Aug. 4—(AP.)—The click of little ivory balls on roulette tables now is heard in the great reception hall of the palace of Yildiz, where Sultan Abdul Hamid often held court when he came in summer with the women of his harem and a vast retinue.

Safeguarded by two high walls enclosing beautiful grounds, the palace has been transformed into Constantinople's gambling casino. It is a few miles up the Bosphorus at the top of a hill, where short-skirted, unveiled women dance in the cool breeze that blows on the hottest nights.

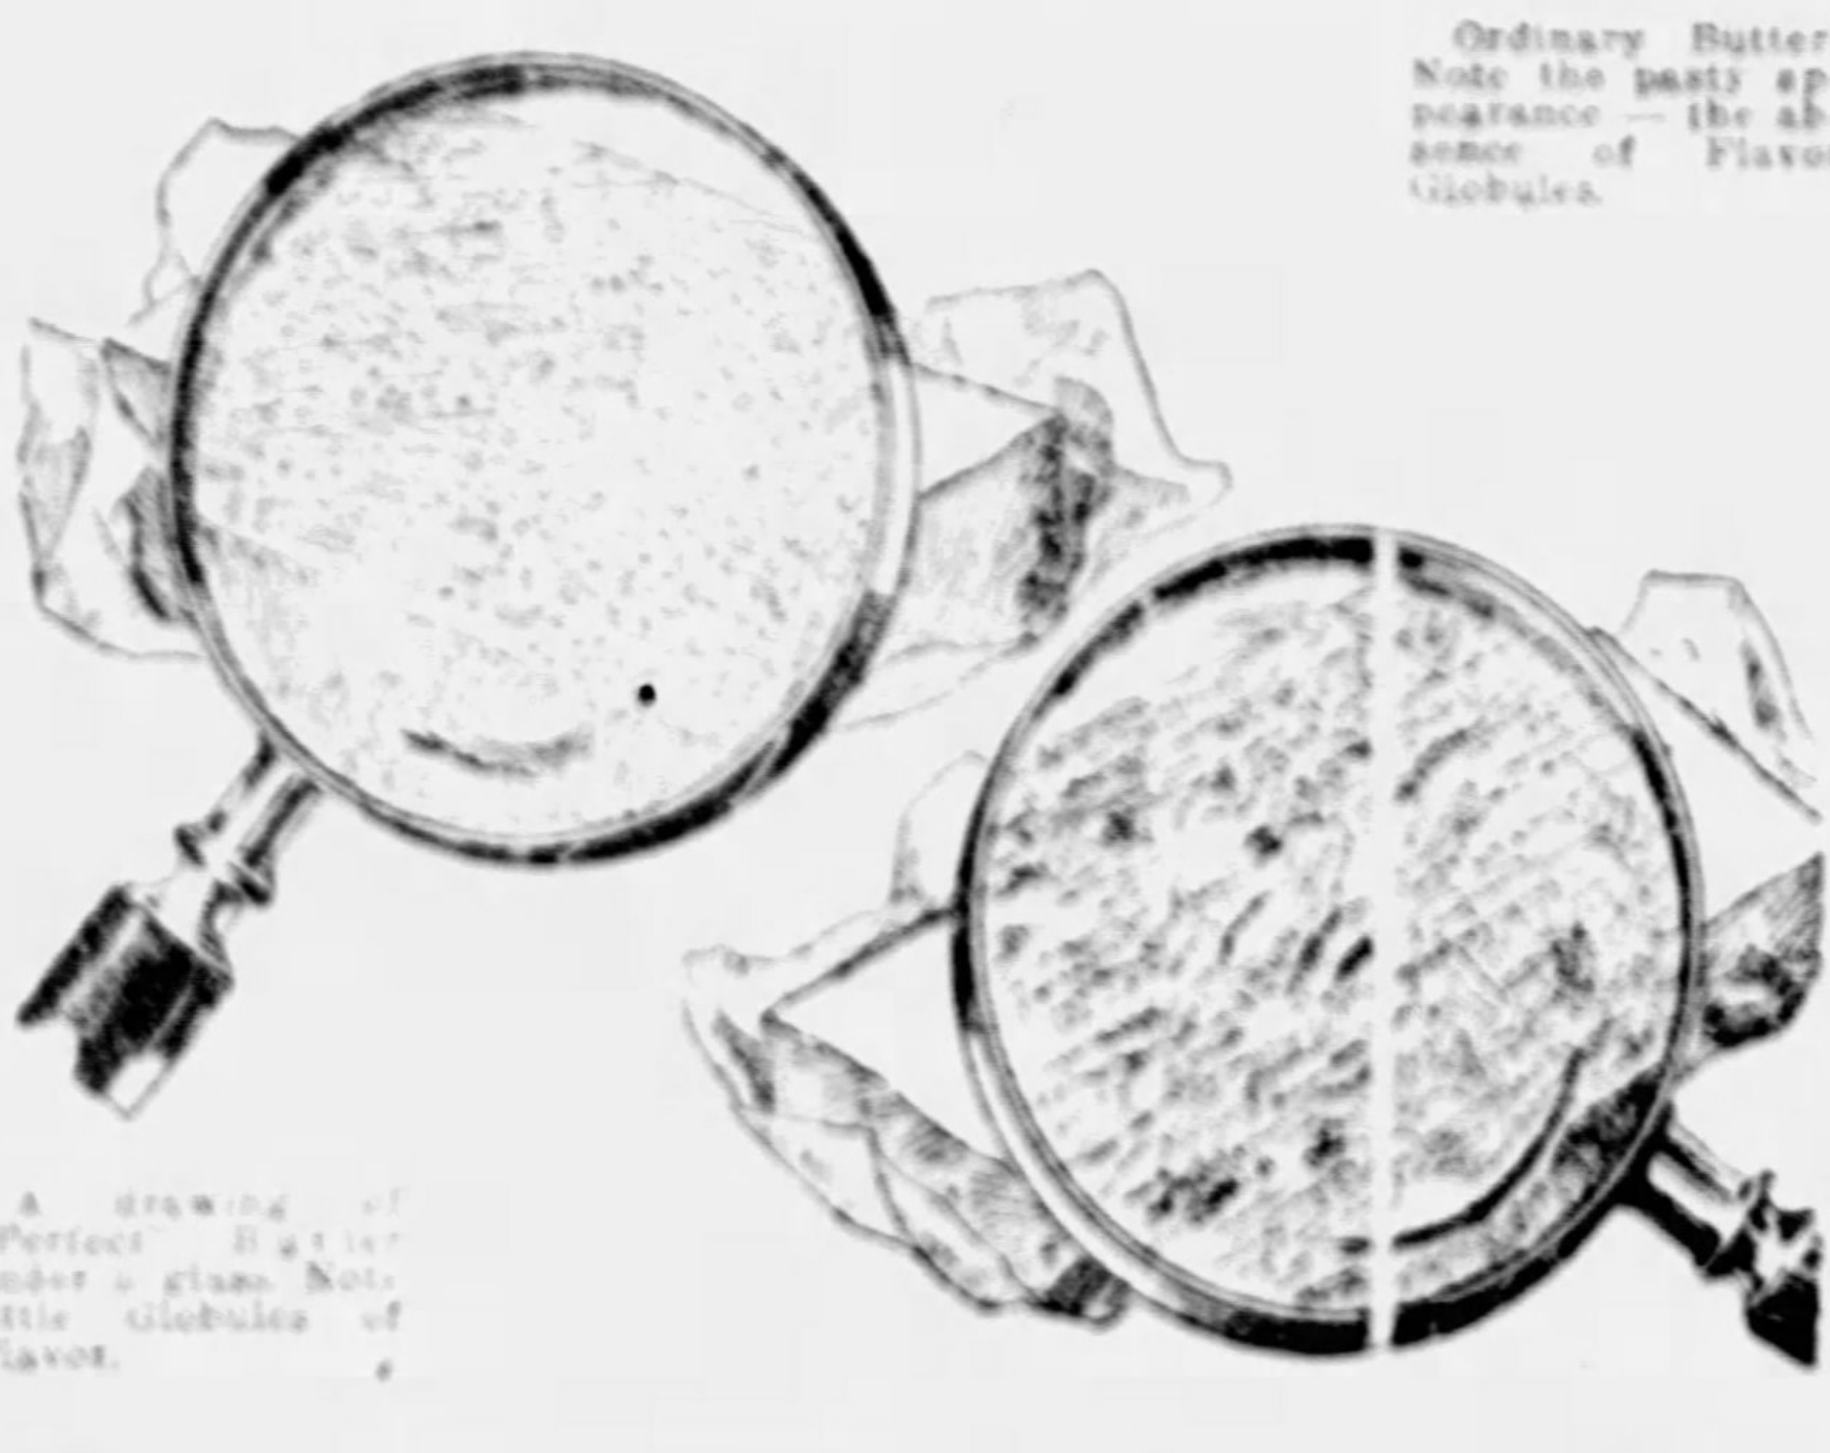
Tall black eunuchs who lost their jobs when the sultan lost his, bow the patrons in and out. Roulette, baccarat, and chemin-de-fer are new to the Turkish casino crowds and the croupiers work at half the speed, or less, than in other countries.

BLUE LAW APPEAL HEARD.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 4—(AP.)—Opposing views of the South Carolina blue laws forbidding the sale of gasoline on Sunday were argued before the State Supreme Court at a special session here today. Decision was reserved. The case grew out of an injunction issued by Circuit Judge William H. Grimball upon petition of the company, restraining state and county officers from interfering with the sale of motor fuel.

BRITISH SHIP RENAMED

GALVESTON, Tex., Aug. 4—(AP.)—The British steamer Hornby Castle limped into port last night in tow of a tugboat, shorn of her deck plates and with her stem and bow rammed in, the result of a head-on collision with the American steamer Cody in the channel six miles off shore. None of the crew was injured.



Ordinary Butter: Note the pasty appearance — the absence of Flavor Globules.

A drawing of "Perfect" Butter under a glass. Note little Globules of Flavor.

We Will Take the Risk . . .

if you will sample it. Buy a pound and use it. If it does not fulfill completely your expectations for flavor and extraordinary keeping quality, tell us and we will refund your money.

You Can SEE the Flavor in Perfect Butter!

It's visible in the form of little globules when viewed through a magnifying glass. As the flavor escapes, these little "flavor containers" are broken.

"Perfect" Butter always represents value far in excess of its price. Our enormous volume (9½ tons in a single day) and 54 years of Butter experience places us in a unique position to serve you.

ANGLO-U. S. OIL WAR LOOMS

By EDWIN J. CLAPP

Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

(Copyright, 1927, by New York American and Universal Service.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Inner circles of the oil industry are discussing the astonishing harshness of the ultimatum delivered to two American oil companies July 11 by Sir Henri Deterding, managing director of the Royal Dutch Shell Company, which maintains the closest of relations with the British government. The approximate terms of the ultimatum have become known now.

The American concerns threatened were the Standard Oil Company of New York and the Vacuum Oil Company, which had offended the British oil magnate by purchasing Russian petroleum which they proposed to distribute in the Eastern Mediterranean, India, the Straits Settlement, in competition with Sir Henri's Royal Dutch Products.

Deterding has been trying to force the American companies to refrain from buying Russian oil until Russia agrees to pay for Royal Dutch oil properties "nationalized" in 1918.

The British ultimatum was sent by cable to Sir Richard Airey, New York representative of Sir Henri, and the contents immediately transmitted by Airey to Herbert Pratt, president of the Standard Oil of New York.

PRICE WAR THREAT

Sir Richard, it is reported, was instructed to threaten the American companies with a price war, a propaganda campaign in the American press and a competition that would "drive American companies out of India." Airey was instructed to "show this cable to Walter Teagle."

A paraphrase of the cable from Deterding to Airey is approximately as follows:

"Sir Henri instructs Sir Richard Airey to tell Standard Oil of New York that the purchase of Russian oil must be considered a hostile act, which is tantamount to buying oil which has been stolen from the Royal Dutch Shell interests.

"You can inform them we shall never yield to Russian oil and we shall fight it out with American companies until they are driven out of India.

"In this dishonest act Standard Oil of New York is taking an unfair advantage. Unless Standard Oil of New York confirms the transaction, Royal Dutch will assume rumors set forth by the Bolsheviki are false.

"We might instruct you to start a press campaign against these companies in the United States.

"Show this cable to Walter Teagle."

Standard Oil of New York evidently "confirmed" the suspicion of Sir Henri, for eight days later, on July 19, Walter Teagle, president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, started the American press campaign for Sir Henri. He issued a public statement saying that if any Standard Oil Company was buying Russian oil and trafficking with the Soviet government it was not Standard Oil of New Jersey, which was refusing to deal with the Bolsheviki until they restored the stolen property confiscated by them.

Standard of New York said nothing, but its partner in Russian oil purchases, Vacuum Oil, through its president, George P. Whaley, publicly stated that it was buying Russian oil to sell in markets which could not be reached by American oil because of the high freights.

WILL NOT CLUB JOB HOLDERS

City and county employes will not be clubbed into line for the Republican organization ticket, Councilman James P. Malone, campaign chairman, said today.

We aren't going to use clubs in an effort to force employes to support the ticket, said Malone. We are going to use every artifice to persuade them and all voters to support our candidates.

Malone made this statement after a meeting in the Hotel Henry today which was attended by several hundred county jobholders who had been "invited" to meet the candidates and to be "requested" by the chairman to start campaigning for the organization slate. It was the first of a series of three or four such meetings to which workers will be "invited."

We want the employes and all other Republicans to attend these meetings, said Malone. We're not ordering them to do anything. We're asking them. And we won't use any clubs.

All of the candidates, with the exceptions of Judges Cohen, Swearingen and Ford and District Attorney Gardner addressed this morning's gathering.

4 WOMEN AND 4 MEN FINED FOLLOWING RAID

Four women and four men, arrested in a raid on an alleged disorderly house at 1406 East street, were given hearings today before Magistrate E. M. Hough in Morals Court. Mrs. Mary McConaughy, 42, of 1406 East street, alleged proprietress, was fined $25 and the alleged visitors $10.

All Dressed Up In Daddy's Clothes!

Sonny Plays An Old Game

The little fellow above tried to put one over on Mother. But Daddy's size 42 is a little more than he can manage.

Sonny's little game is, after all, as old as Adam. Take the history of malt, for instance. There are many brands on the market—mostly they have fancy labels, and they come in similar sized cans, too. In fact, they may be all dressed-up like Puritan Malt. But have they, like Puritan, uniform Strength, Richness and Flavor? Are they, like Puritan, blended with genuine Imported Bohemian Hops? No wonder Puritan is America's favorite malt!

BYRD ANTARCTIC TRIP TO COST $250,000

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Commander Richard E. Byrd's scientific exhibition into the Antarctic promises to be one of the most stupendous undertakings in history and will cost about a quarter of a million dollars, it is reported.

This, Commander Byrd admitted, is an extraordinarily large sum, but declared it conservative when measured against the size of the expedition, the distance the supplies will be transported and the fact that two, and perhaps three, years will be required for its completion.

Commander Byrd said Edsel Ford will not be the sole backer of the expedition. At the base in Discovery Bay a miniature modern city of 30 persons will be constructed.

LITA BALKS ON TERMS ONCE ACCEPTED

By Universal Service.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4—Declaration that Lita Grey Chaplin had accepted and later repudiated a settlement of her divorce action against Charles Chaplin was made at a hearing before Judge Walter Guerin yesterday.

The assertion was made in a statement read by Lyndol Young, of the law firm of Young & Young, retiring as counsel for Mrs. Chaplin.

Young said that Mrs. Chaplin had been offered "a substantial sum" by her husband. This offer, he stated, had been accepted by his firm, by Attorney Edwin T. McMurray, Mrs. Chaplin's uncle and legal representative, and by Mrs. Chaplin.

A contract was drawn up, but 10 days later Mrs Chaplin and McMurray repudiated the agreement, Young declared.

"We urged that this was a fair offer and that, in absence of fraud, it should not be repudiated," Young stated. "But they would not reconsider.

Young, questioned by Attorney Gavin McNab, representing Chaplin, admitted the settlement terms had been suggested by Mrs. Chaplin's counsel. It was brought out that Mrs. Chaplin's acceptance had been verbal, not written.

Rumors of an impending settlement were denied by Lloyd Wright, Chaplin's local counsel. These rumors had placed the consideration at $600,000 to $750,000, in addition to the Chaplin home.

Young & Young have been replaced as counsel for Mrs. Chaplin by Attorneys Kenyon Lee and Bradner Lee, who represented Mildred Harris in her divorce action against the comedian.

PROF. E. DALBEY DIES AT LAKE

Prof. Enoch W. Dalbey, 77, of 1015 Farragut street, prominent in Pittsburgh educational circles for the last 50 years, died suddenly at the Chautauqua Assembly Grounds, Chautauqua, N. Y., at 1:30 o'clock this morning, according to word received by his daughter, Mrs. Thomas Whitehead, of 1017 Farragut street.

Mr. Dalbey had gone to Chautauqua, where he was formerly a lecturer, to spend the summer with his wife, Mrs. Mathilda Crawford Dalbey.

He was born in Millsboro, Washington county, a son of Alexander and Susanna Dalbey. He was educated in the public schools and graduated from Mt. Union College in 1872.

Prof. Dalbey had been principal of the Brownsville, Bellevernon and Monongahela schools before coming to Pittsburgh. While here he was principal of the Bedford and Birmingham schools. He retired seven years ago.

He was treasurer of the Pennsylvania Schoolmasters' Club and a member of the Pittsburgh Teachers' Association and the Hiland Presbyterian Church.

Beside his wife and daughter, he leaves a grandson, Ralph Paul Whitehead. The body will be brought back to Pittsburgh for burial.

International News Service Wire

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—One man was murdered in Brooklyn today in an argument protesting the Sacco and Vanzetti decision. Two protest meetings were under way while police arranged to take every precaution against possible outbreaks throughout the five borougs. Weather Conditions.

The skies are mostly clear over the northern half of the country and generally cloudy over the southern half. While the barometric pressure is relatively high over much the greater portion of the country there is but slight variation over the portion south of the lakes and from the Atlantic Coast to the Rocky Mountains, causing what is termed a flat barometric condition.

This flat barometric pressure condition is causing the widespread cloudiness and it is nearly always favorable to local showers.

Low pressure appears over Canada, a center north of Lake Superior and another in British Columbia and Alberta.

The rainfall for the last 24 hours was generally light and occurred over a belt extending over Kentucky and Tennessee from the Atlantic Coast to the Rocky Mountains.

The temperature continues below the normal.

New Fashions for Late Vacations and Indian Summer

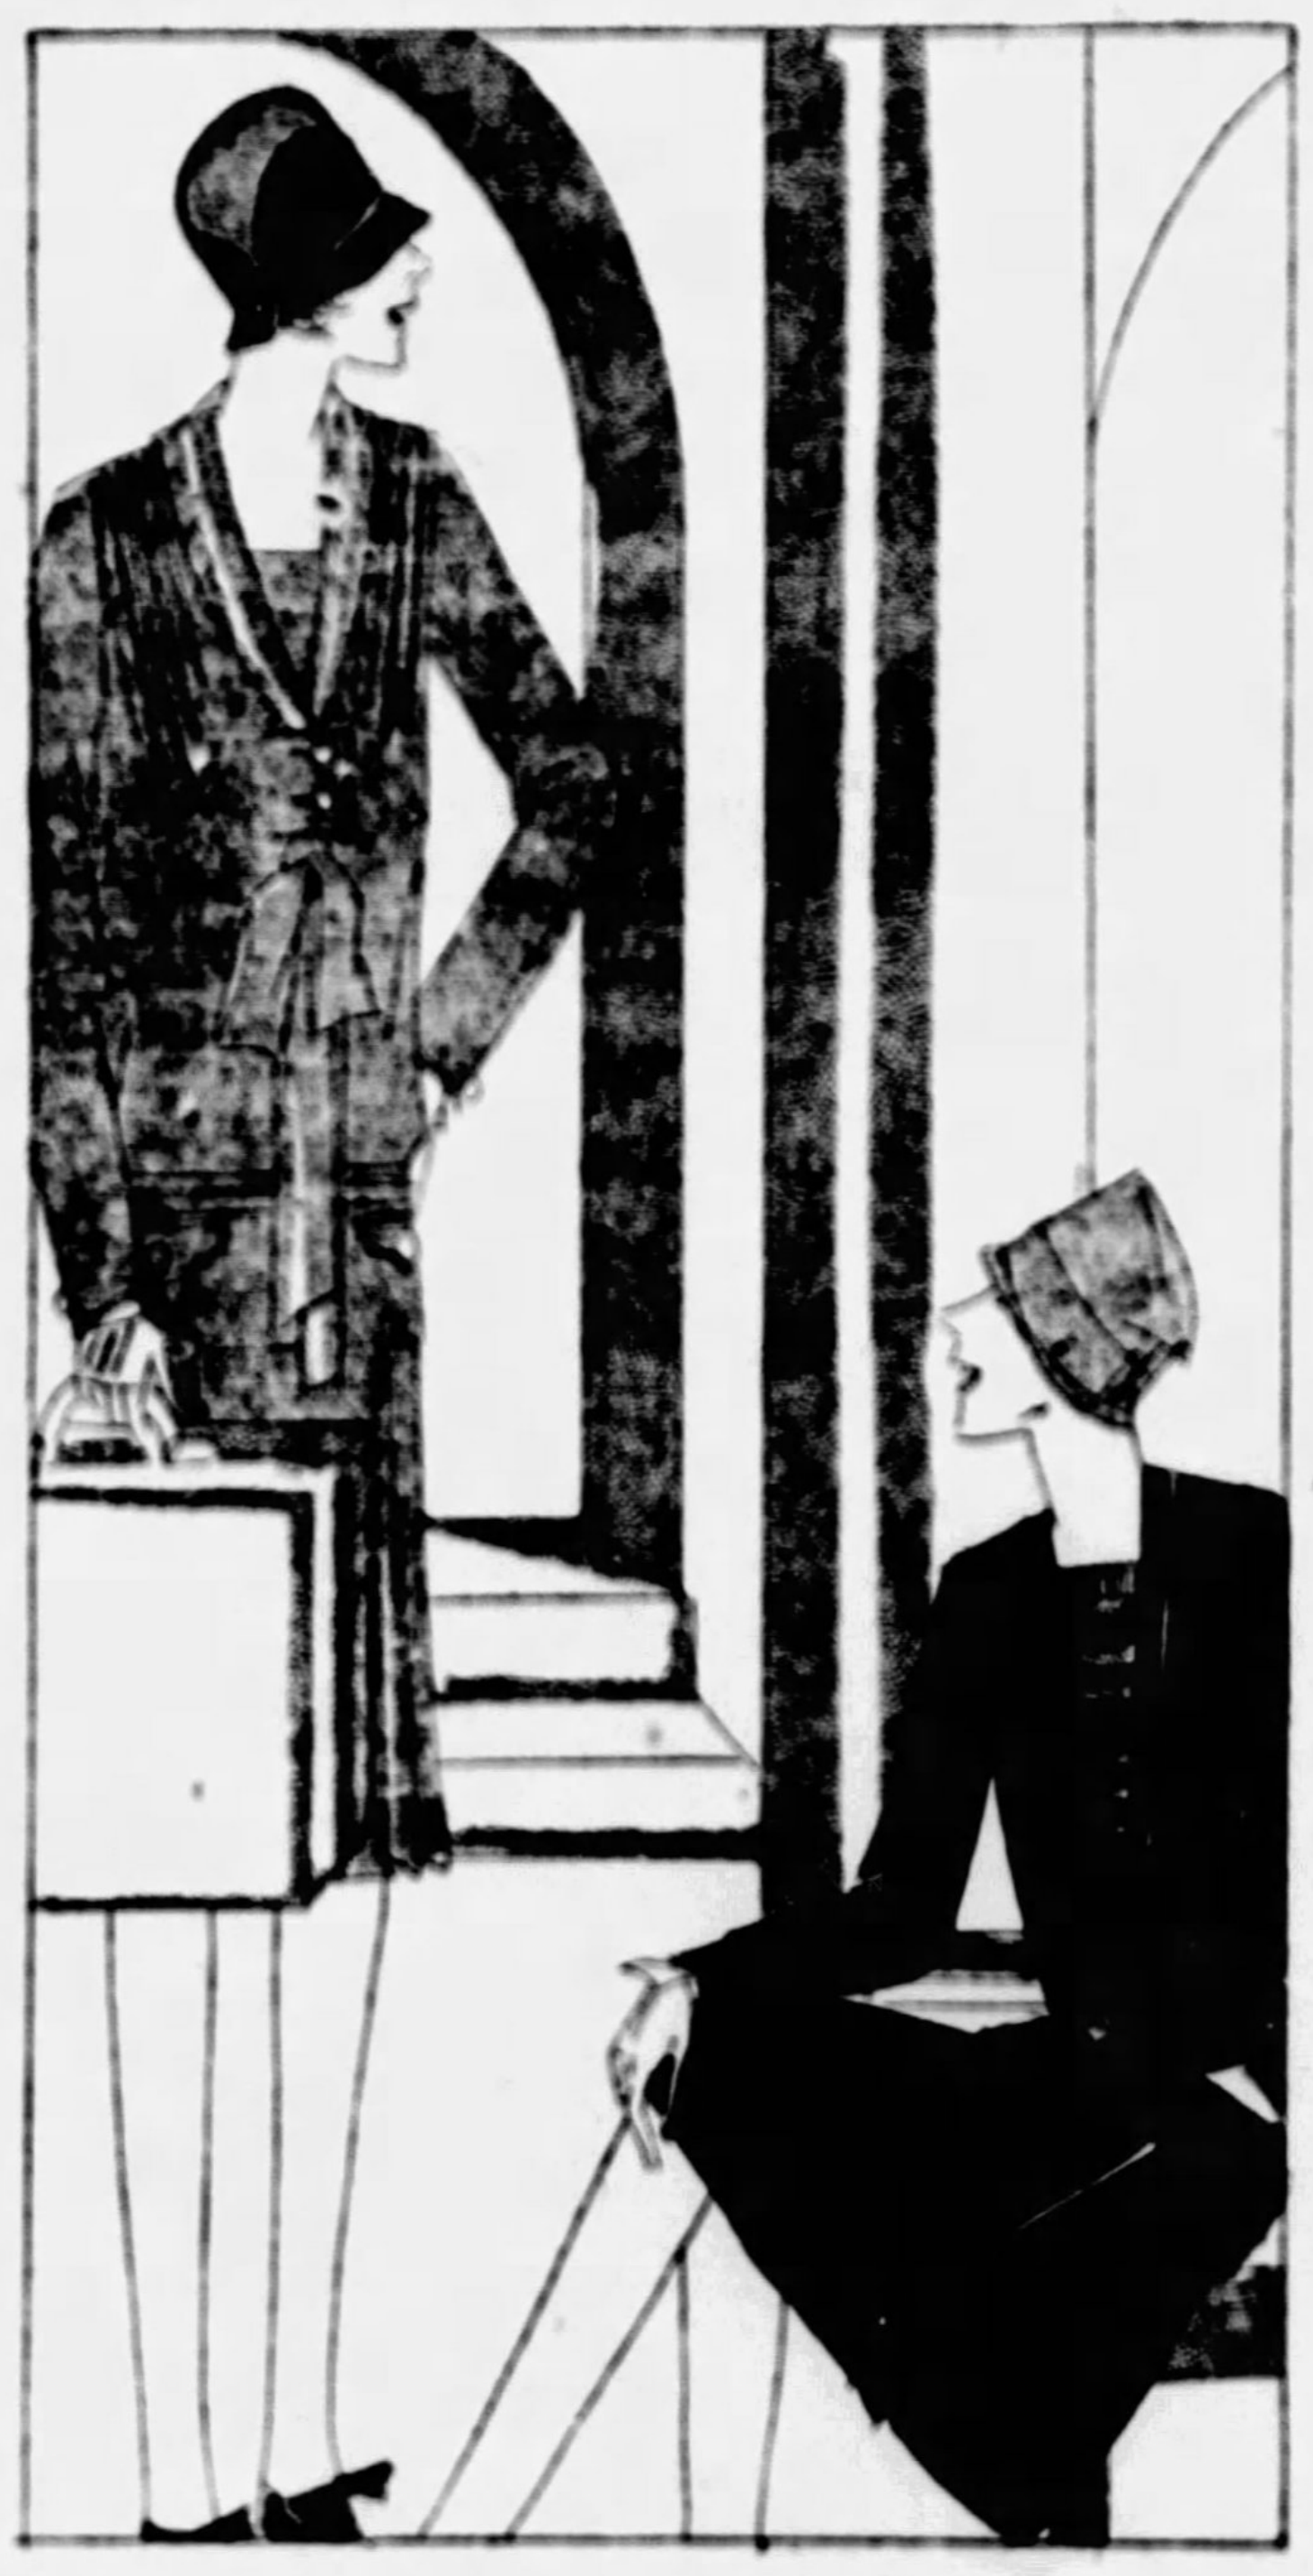
HERE are some of them—means by which a woman may subtly inform the world that she is a bit more fashion-wise than the average—garments with a hint of autumn about them, yet which are in weights comfortable for present travel and wear at vacation points.



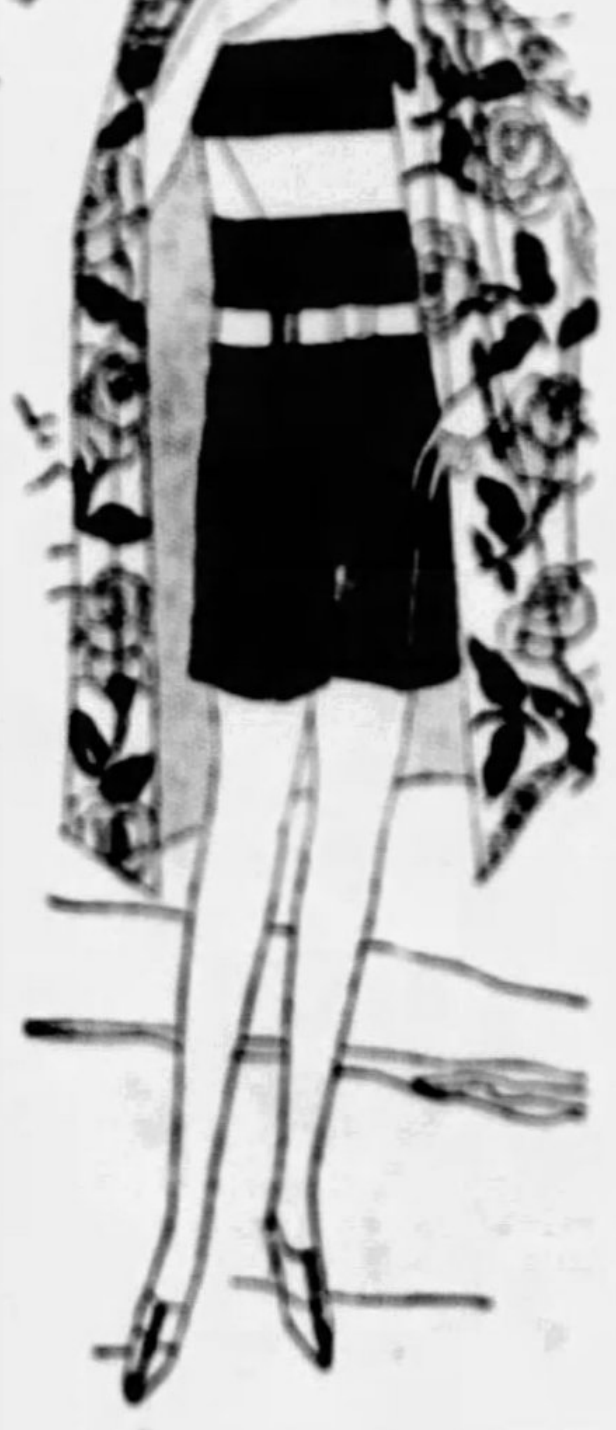
Transparent Velvet

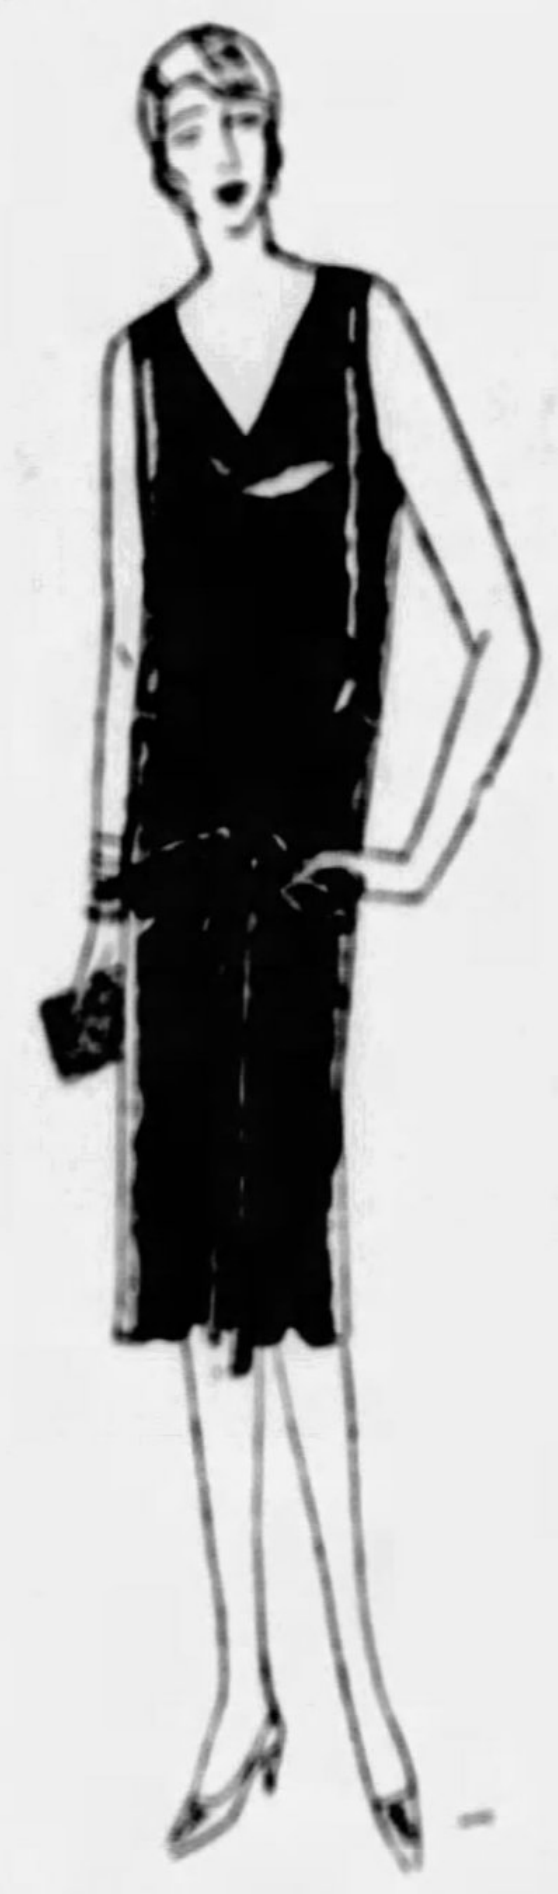
In Daytime and Evening Frocks

One might, justifiably, raise her brows in inquiry at the mention of velvet for wear at such an early date, if it were not such velvet! — light as down, nearly as transparent as chiffon.

Printed, plain-colored, black, in frocks for afternoon wear, for dinners and dances.

Women's models, $39.50 to $165.00; misses' $39.50 to $145.00.





Bathing Suits

A special price on fresh, new stocks of two-piece bathing suits, for vacationists.

The shorts, knitted or of flannel, come in Yale blue, Dutch blue, scarlet, Chanel red, jade green, Kelly green, black and navy blue. The knitted tops are in the same colors, with broad white stripes. Women's and misses' sizes.

Motor in a Knitted Frock

It will be a loyal companion on a long motor trip or on sight-seeing drives incident to vacations—never wrinkling, always ready to slip into.

New three-piece Knitted Outfits, with skirt and cardigan jacket of wool, and long-sleeved, slip-on sweater of wool-and-rayon, are to be had in light and dark colors. In The Sportswear Shop, at $19.50 and $35.00.

The New Sheer Cloth Frocks

Frocks of wool georgette, markette, friska, phantomine and sheer novelty cloths, which have a neat tailored appearance and do not crush, are the newest for train travel.

Also, they are practical for wear at mountain and seaside places, and will be correct on the street in early autumn. In solid colors, mixtures, checks and stripes—women's models $36.50 to $49.50; misses, $25.00 to $55.00.

Beauty Quest Entries Close Tomorrow

Girls, it's your last chance to register.

Final entries in the quest for "Miss Pittsburgh 1927" must be filed before noon tomorrow. Only two theaters remain in which to compete for the right to appear before the 1927 "Miss Pittsburgh" Committee judges at The Willows, on Saturday, August 13, where the beauty queen and her alternate will be selected with 23 leading contenders who will receive nine-day vacation trips to Atlantic City and Washington.

The remaining two theaters are the Arcadia, 823 East Ohio street, North Side, and the Orpheum, McKees Rocks. Finals will be conducted tomorrow night. Entries can be filed at either theater. It is a matter of your own choice. The committee has ruled, due to the late hour, it will not be necessary that photographs be filed with the entry blanks. All girls of Greater Pittsburgh, between the ages of 16 and 26 years, who are not married and are of excellent moral character, are eligible. Professional models and beauties are barred, however. Four girls will be selected at each theater and these contestants will gain the right to appear at The Willows to vie for the beauty queen's crown and also for the individual theater titles that carry the wonderful vacation trips.

FINALS LAST NIGHT

Finals were staged last night in four theaters of the 23 leading motion picture playhouses conducting this year's pretentious quest. The theaters were the Ideal, West End; Dormont, in Dormont; Garden, North Side, and Frederick, East Pittsburgh. The winners and the judges follow:

Judges: Chairman A. B. Gatz, Warren H. Van Kirk and Walter Dyke. Master of ceremonies, Elmer Eachman. Each winner was presented with a vanity by Bennett Amdur, manager of the theater.

FREDERICK—Miss Helen Overmeh, 12, of 133½ Church street, Turtle Creek; Miss Lignnal, 17, 515 Brommer avenue, East Pittsburgh; Miss Helen Slusarick, 17, 1306 Electric avenue, East Pittsburgh, and Miss Betty Mause, 18, 1308 Grandview avenue, North Braddock. Judges: L. L. Swaney, W. B. Shackelford and M. Zuckerman. Master of ceremonies, J. W. Wolfe, Jr.

DORMONT—Miss Jean Armstrong, 19, 1301 Hillsdale avenue, Dormont; Miss Mercedes Siegler, 18, 322 Gallion avenue, Brookline; Miss Dorothy Webb, 16, 967 Woodbourne avenue, Brookline, and Miss Dorothy McKinney, 17, 1262 Mississippi avenue, Dormont. RIVER AIRPORTS KELLY'S AIM Airport landings built lengthwise of Pittsburgh's three river channels may become an actuality, for Congressman Clyde Kelly says if a feasible bill is presented to him he will offer it to Congress.

"Such use of the rivers sounds reasonable," said Mr. Kelly, as he awaited the arrival of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh at Bettis Field yesterday, "and these runways probably could be built wide and high enough to permit safe landings."

ALIMONY CLUB OPENS WAR ON GOLD-DIGGING

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—(AP.)—The Alimony Club of Illinois, with a constitution and by-laws—and many grievances—today was ready to begin in earnest its fight against "gold-digging and profiteering" in the divorce courts.

The newly organized club took definite steps at its second meeting last night, adopting its by-laws and constitution and establishing a fund to carry on its anti-alimony campaign.

The club began work toward gathering evidence against "crooked lawyers and framing detective agencies" by instructing each member to make a written report of his grievances, the reports to be placed on file with the secretary for private use among the members.

How To Care For Varicose or Swollen Veins

Rub Gently and Upward Toward the Heart as Blood in Veins Flows That Way.

If you or any relative or friend is worried because of varicose veins, or bunches, the best advice that anyone in this world can give you is to ask McCulloch's 10 Convenient Drug Stores or your druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) and apply night and morning to the swollen, enlarged veins. Soon you will notice that they are growing smaller and the treatment should be continued until the veins are of normal size. So penetrating and powerful is Emerald Oil that even Piles are quickly absorbed. Anyone who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded.—Advertisement.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (AP)—Approximately $7,000,000 additional a year will be distributed among 20,000 locomotive engineers in the East as a result of a 7½ per cent wage increase granted by the conference of Eastern railroads. The increase is effective as of August 1. The agreement was brought about through efforts of the United States Mediation Board after railroad owners and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers were unable to agree on demands for a 15 per cent increase.

MOTOR CARS DOOM POPE'S FAMOUS STABLES

ROME, Aug. 4.—The Pope's recent purchase of a third automobile for the Vatican spells doom for the survivors of the Vatican stables. The papal stables were once the most luxurious and most spacious in Europe. The latest addition is a small model popular Italian car. It has three seats in front with a single seat for the Pope behind them. Eventually the transporting of papal officials in Rome will be done entirely by motor.

WAGE INCREASE GIVEN 30,000 ENGINEERS

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(AP.)—An agreement providing a seven and one half per cent wage increase for approximately 30,000 locomotive engineers on 54 eastern railroads was signed here yesterday.

The agreement was reached after arbitration had failed and appeal was made to the United States Board of Mediation.

The signatories were John G. Walber, vice-president of the New York Central Railroad, for the conference committee of managers of the roads involved, and A. Johnston, grand chief engineer, for the Brother of Locomotive Engineers.

The engineers had asked for a 15-per cent increase, estimated to amount to $13,000,000 annually.

Roads which have not undertaken to act in concert in such questions are not affected, although the wage demands also apply to them and it is expected that negotiations with these other roads will be undertaken separately.

The systems affected by the aggreement include the Baltimore and Ohio; Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh; Erie, New York Central lines; Pennsylvania and the Pittsburgh and West Virginia.

15 ENTER PRIZE HOP TO HAWAII

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 4.—(AP.)—Fifteen aviators, three of whom are expected to brave alone the perils of flying over the Pacific, are entered in the great aerial derby for $35,000 in prizes from the mainland to Hawaii on August 12.

Closing of the official entry books found an array of civilian fliers competing with one naval flier for the money offered by James D. Dole, wealthy pineapple grower, for the first two to land on the islands after the 2,400-mile hop from San Francisco. Lieutenant N. A. Goddard, U. S. N., is entered.

The men who expect to make the flight unaccompanied by navigators are Arthur C. Goebel of Santa Monica, Cal., flying a monoplane; Major Livingston G. Irving, Berkeley, Cal., also using a monoplane, and Frederick A. Giles, Detroit, flying a biplane.

Two women are to make the flight. Miss Mildred Doran, school teacher of Flint, Mich., will accompany John Augie Pedlar of Flint and W. R. Lawing, chief aerographer and meteorologist of North Island, Cal., while Mrs. William P. Edwin of Dallas expects to fly with her husband, Capt. William P. Erwin.

MILK, ICE FUND GETS $11.09

Another vacation Bible school has sent in a donation to The Sun-Telegraph Milk and Ice Fund, this one being a gift of $5.59 from the East Liberty Presbyterian Church school. Other contributions received today include $3 from W. K., $1 from "a friend," and $1.50 from Philip, Richard and Ruth Singer. These donations bring the fund today to a total of $1,694.65.

VARE, WLSON INVITED TO BALLOT CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(AP.)—Senator-elect Vare, Republican, Pennsylvania, and William B. Wilson, Democrat, his opponent at the last election, were requested last night by Sergeant-at-Arms Barry of the Senate to join in a conference later in the week on plans for gathering the Pennsylvania ballots called for by the Senate Elections Committee. Barry said he would propose that Vare and Wilson each designate representatives to superintend removing the ballots from the boxes and placing them under seal for delivery in Washington.

FRANCE TO HONOR LEGION BY SPECIAL STAMP ISSUE

PARIS, Aug. 4.—(AP.)—The French postoffice will issue a special series of stamps in celebration of the American Legion convention in Paris this September. The stamps will carry a likeness of Washington and Lafayette separated by an ocean on which the steamship Paris is sailing away from the Statue of Liberty with a monoplane design similar to the Spirit of St. Louis, in which Lindbergh made his flight, overhead. Each will bear the words: "Legion Americaine Septembre 1927."

CRAZED SAILOR KILLED.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Aug. 4.—(AP.)—D. Rodriquez, fireman on the steamship El Capitan of the Morgan Line, died of injuries after running amuck aboard ship with an open knife. Reports from the vessel said Rodriquez suddenly became insane while the El Capitan was off the South Carolina coast and received cuts on the head and body when Capt. L. H. Damm disarmed him during a struggle.

In the Rim Of the Limelight

SPEARS $12,000 PRIZE.

Cape May, N. J.—Because he had curiosity enough to spear a lump being fought over by a flock of seagulls, Jeremiah Pratt, seaman, is now the richer by some $12,000. Pratt was on watch on the deck of the schooner Mary Ann when the quarreling gulls drew his attention to the prize. It turned out to be a lump of ambergris, weighing 28 pounds, and very valuable to perfumers. Pratt says he's going to sell it, buy a poultry farm, and retire from the sea.

ADDS HIS BIT.

New York—A little boost has been given to the conscience fund kept by Frank R. Bowers, collector of internal revenue. Another conscience stricken citizen has added his bit to the fund's growth—$130 to be exact, and it's for back taxes. The citizen, anonymous, specified that $128.72, the amount that he owed, be placed in the fund, and that the additional $1.28 be used to advertise the receipt of the letter. Bowers decided to put the entire amount in the fund.

"WEAK KIDNEYS" KILL AMBITION

"Weak acting kidneys and painful, irritated bladder, kill ambition, destroy efficiency, produce suffering day and night, with thousands of men and women," says a noted urinary specialist.

If the trouble is organic, a specialist, or a surgeon's knife, may be needed.

But functional urinary distress has been overcome for thousands by the use of Blackburn's Balmwort Tablets. If the kidneys are "off duty"—Balmwort puts them back on the job. If the bladder is tender and over-sensitive due to excess acids or alkali in the liquid secretion, just try Balmwort and see how quickly things are changed—and distress banished. BELOW ZERO

From Terrific Heat to Bitter Cold!

TEMPERATURES as high as 600° Fahrenheit and as low as 20° below zero . . . huge wax presses and stills . . . both filters and centrifugal separators . . . all are used in refining Tiolene from the famous Super-Pennsylvania Cabin Creek Crude. Every approved process is employed which our engineers know will perfect the quality of the finished Tiolene Motor Oil.

Many of these operations are costly, but they assure the complete removal of those elements which—in less carefully refined oils—form carbon deposits in your motor, cause thinning under heat and result in early breakdown of the protecting film.

Tiolene quality depends, first, on the crude. Cabin Creek Crude is Pennsylvania grade—plus! It flows from the ground clean, clear, amber-colored and with such remarkable qualities that it commands the highest price of any crude produced on this continent. And all of the desirable lubricating qualities of this premium crude are preserved and refined with skilled care.

The result is Tiolene 100% Super-Pennsylvania Motor Oil.

Tiolene's stubborn resistance to heat, its sturdy body-under-heat, enables it to give more miles of safe lubrication per fill.

The Dental Method

To Restore Clouded Teeth

To Color and to Firm Tender Gums

A New Method, Urged by Leading Dentists. Accept 10-Day Tube Free

THERE is now a way to quickly lighten clouded teeth. Tender gums, too, are firmed; given the healthy coral color that is necessary to set white teeth off.

New discoveries have been made. Tooth and gum troubles were found to come largely from a film coat that forms on teeth, absorbs food discolorations and breeds bacteria.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you'll feel a slippery coating. That is film. Old-type dentifrices won't successfully combat it. That's why your teeth have remained "off color" regardless of what you did.

Now, in a new-type dentifrice called Pepsodent, those conditions have been met—you can clear that film off. Teeth whiten amazingly. One's whole appearance thus is often quickly changed.

To prove those results, accept 10-day tube free. Or get full-size tube for few cents at your druggist. Do this in fairness to yourself.

LIED TO MARRY KING BEN'S FAVORITE

(Universal Service Wire)

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Aug. 4.—Special Prosecutor George E. Nichols dealt a severe blow at King Ben Purnell's defense in the state's dissolution suit when he drew the admission from James D. Tucker, 61, veteran cult preacher, that Tucker gave a false age to obtain a license to marry Violet McFarlane, one of Ben's alleged Shiloh girl favorites.

Tucker admitted he was 51 and Miss McFarlane 19, when he obtained the marriage license in 1912. Nichols, however, showed him the license which gave his age as 41 and Miss McFarlane as 29.

This admission from one of Ben's gray-bearded leaders strongly bolstered testimony of girl state witnesses that to protect Purnell from criminal prosecution if they were examined physically, they were compelled to marry after their mates were selected in a "hand-in-the-hat" kind of lottery.

The Fascinating Love Story of a Girl of the Present Day

Betty and Bob Have Another Argument After Anson's Visit to Her Home

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Pretty black-haired Betty Warren goes on a pleasure trip with some friends, including Bob Stevenson. Betty lives with her mother and two sisters in Brooklyn and works as a typist in New York City. The girl and the young man leave before the others so that they can enjoy each other's company on the trip home from Coney Island. As the next day is a Sunday the whole Warren family assembles for dinner. Helen, the 16-year-old beauty of the family; Gladys, the artistic dreamer; Mrs. Warren, motherly and impractical, and finally, Betty's married sister, Virginia, with her little boy, Junior, and her husband, Jim, who was gassed in the war. Virginia is despondent about her husband's health. Betty is acquainted with a wealthy author, Anson Lorrimer, and Virginia urges her to try and attract him. The next day Lorrimer visits Betty's office with some typing he wants her to do. Betty is oblivious of his admiration. Bob asks Betty to marry him, and she accepts. Betty's brother-in-law becomes so ill that he must be sent to a western hospital. To Betty it means an indefinite postponement of her marriage to Bob. Betty and Bob have a trivial argument. Bob is very angry when he leaves her home. Lorrimer invites Betty out to lunch and she accepts. He offers to get her a better job. To add to her happiness, when she reaches home she finds Bob waiting for her, and they make up. Several nights later Lorrimer calls at Betty's home and meets Bob, who forms a dislike for him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

BETTY took the letter and blushed and stammered her thanks and in another few moments Lorrimer had gone. After his departure there was a silence which was broken by a chorus of comments from Virginia and Helen, the one flattering and the other disparaging.

"What's all this about a letter?" growled Bob.

Betty explained hastily.

"Oh, how nice of him!" said Mrs. Warren as she drifted upstairs to her sewing, Gladys following on her heels.

Helen grunted.

Virginia looked sharply at Betty.

"Do go—it may mean the chance of a lifetime!" she said, and she did not mean the possible new position. Bob felt this, intuitively, and looked at his enemy angrily.

"I think Lorrimer is charming," remarked Virginia and left the room, with Helen, smiling a little. Now she would go upstairs and write Jim all about it and on the way up she would lecture Helen for her ungracious attitude.

Once more Bob and Betty were left alone, but the atmosphere had changed.

Betty sat down, nervously fingering the letter.

"What right has that high-hat chap to come over here and make himself at home?" demanded Bob.

Betty, anxious to avoid a quarrel, started to explain.

"I've known him so long—he's always been kind—he wants to help me to a better position," she defended Lorrimer.

"All well and good, but what's he going to get out of it?"

"Bob!"

"I don't care. I don't like it. And you have no right to be running around with him, Betty—"

"I don't," she began indignantly.

"What about lunching with him? I could see that news was a surprise to everyone else in the room, too."

"Why shouldn't I lunch with him?" she demanded, getting angry.

"Because I say you shan't!" he shouted.

Betty jumped to her feet.

CHAPTER XII. BOB'S CATECHISM.

SHE stood there, quivering with anger, looking at Bob whose expression of sullen determination did not change.

"I thought we had this all out some time ago?" queried she, in an ominously quiet tone.

"What—exactly?"

"Just what right you had to dictate to me," replied Betty.

Now he rose, very solid and real and very dear, despite her anger at him.

"Come over here. Now sit and let's talk this over quietly," he answered and practically forced her into a corner of the shabby couch which had all too recently seen Lorrimer enthroned upon its faded cushions.

Betty sat down. After all, she couldn't quarrel any better on her feet, yet it was disconcerting to feel Bob there, so near to her, so warm and vital and alive, and to remember that only a little over an hour ago they had been sitting there side by side, hands clasped, all their previous differences forgotten in the knowledge of their love and reunion.

"Well?" she asked.

"There's no use flying into a temper," he began heavily, which, of course, only served to enrage her further.

"I wasn't—I didn't—you started it!" she accused.

"Well, let that pass. I merely said I didn't think Lorrimer a fit companion for you."

"And why not, pray?"

Bob began to flounder. He was not used to words.

"He's rich," he brought out finally—"a—a man about town . . . he ought to stick to girls of his own sort—his own class. Men like that never mean any good by it when they come fooling around girls who work for their living and have been brought up differently."

"Then you mean to say I am not good enough for Mr. Lorrimer to associate with?" she asked furiously.

"Oh, Betty, you know I didn't mean that. Why, do you always twist and turn things so?" he asked, wearily, marvelling at the infinite capacity of women for turning the tables, for wilfully misunderstanding and for being, in two words, naturally perverse. "I meant it the other way round, as I said—he isn't good enough for you."

"Well, I think he is," she retorted. "He's been most kind and thoughtful always, I've enjoyed working for him. Now all he has done is to show me a further proof of kindness by offering to help me get a better position and you begin to rage around as if there was a catch in it somewhere."

"Well, isn't there?"

"Oh, don't be silly!"

"How do you know there isn't?" he persisted.

"How do I know? How do I know anything? Mr. Lorrimer's a very

STATE LEGION CONVENES AT YORK

International News Service Wire.

YORK, Pa., Aug. 4.—With every train and highway bringing additional hundreds of legionnaires and guests, the ninth annual convention of the Pennsylvania department, American Legion, opened here today, with the majority of its 880 accredited delegates in attendance.

York was ablaze with color. From every window the Stars and Stripes were draped with Legion banners, and the business district took on a carnival appearance as groups met on each corner to exchange greetings and to talk Legion politics.

In connection with the Legion meet, several hundred delegates to the annual session of the Legion auxiliary were on hand for their first meeting, which began a half hour after Robert Vail of Wilkes-Barre, Legion department commander, called the veterans to order at 9 a. m.

ENVOY DIES AT SEA.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Dr. De Groot, chief engineer of the Colonial section of the Netherlands Bureau of Posts and Telegraphs, died at sea Monday while en route to the United States, the State Department announced. MAY PADLOCK PULLMAN CARS

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—(AP.)—Federal prohibition padlocks may be attached to three Pullman railroad sleeping cars on the Wabash Railway as a result of an exposure of what is called a "liquor ring" that dry authorities claim has been bringing whisky from Detroit to Chicago.

Three Pullman porters, two "red caps" and a sixth man, named as distributing agent here, were arrested here today by federal agents. Six suitcases, each containing two cases of liquor, were seized as they were being unloaded. Other arrests have been ordered at Detroit, according to Alexander Jamie, prohibition administrator.

"If we are able to learn that the conductor of the train was acquainted with the transportation of this liquor we will take steps to padlock the cars on which it was carried," Jamie said.

ROOSTER CROWS A GREETING TO WALES

International News Service Wire.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 4.—The Prince of Wales and his brother, Prince George, took advantage of a lull in their official program this morning and rested.

The two princes and Premier and Mrs. Stanley Baldwin will be guests tonight at a dinner given by Premier W. L. Mackenzie-King of Canada. This will be followed by a reception in the Ottawa Country Club after which the visitors will board their special train to spend the night. They will leave for Brockville tomorrow morning.

The Prince of Wales attended the World's Poultry Congress where chickens from his Alberta ranch were on exhibition. As the Prince approached a cage containing Wyandottes from his ranch, a huge rooster rose up and flapped his wings, crowing.

"By jove, he knows me," exclaimed the Prince.

POLICEMEN'S SCHOOL TEACHES ENGLISH

Paris.—So successful have been the few Parisian policemen who speak English in aiding travelers that the municipal council has decided to put English speaking officers on duty where tourists appear in any numbers.

A police school, with an original enrollment of nearly 50, has been organized. It will teach the English usually employed by those asking for aid and directions, and the proper words for a polite and informative reply.

FALCONRY NEAR END AS POLISH SPORT

London—Falconry, that old and honorable sport, which in the Middle Ages disputed for first place with hunting and jousting, is fast disappearing.

The Old Hawking Club, the last to keep alive the ancient sport, has just gone out of existence. Falconry is still practiced by some persons in private. They obtain their falcons, however, in Holland. Occasionally a rider is to be seen following the flight of the falcon on horseback.

COOLIDGE FACES STORM CLOUD IN CONGRESS

By ARTHUR HACHTEN,
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—President Coolidge will be faced with as balky a Congress as ever defied a President of the United States, when the national legislature convenes next winter, in the opinion of political observers here.

Republican leaders in Congress, the administration spokesmen, are expected to find their ranks scurrying in all directions. Every act of the executive will be scrutinized closer than ever before and darts will be thrown by his political enemies.

With Vice-President Dawes and Speaker Nicholas Longworth now catapulted into the Presidential race, it was not believed likely that their leadership in the Capitol will be designed to further the hoped-for boom for Mr. Coolidge.

National defense and farm relief were pointed to as major issues upon which Dawes and Longworth forces will come out in the open against the President.

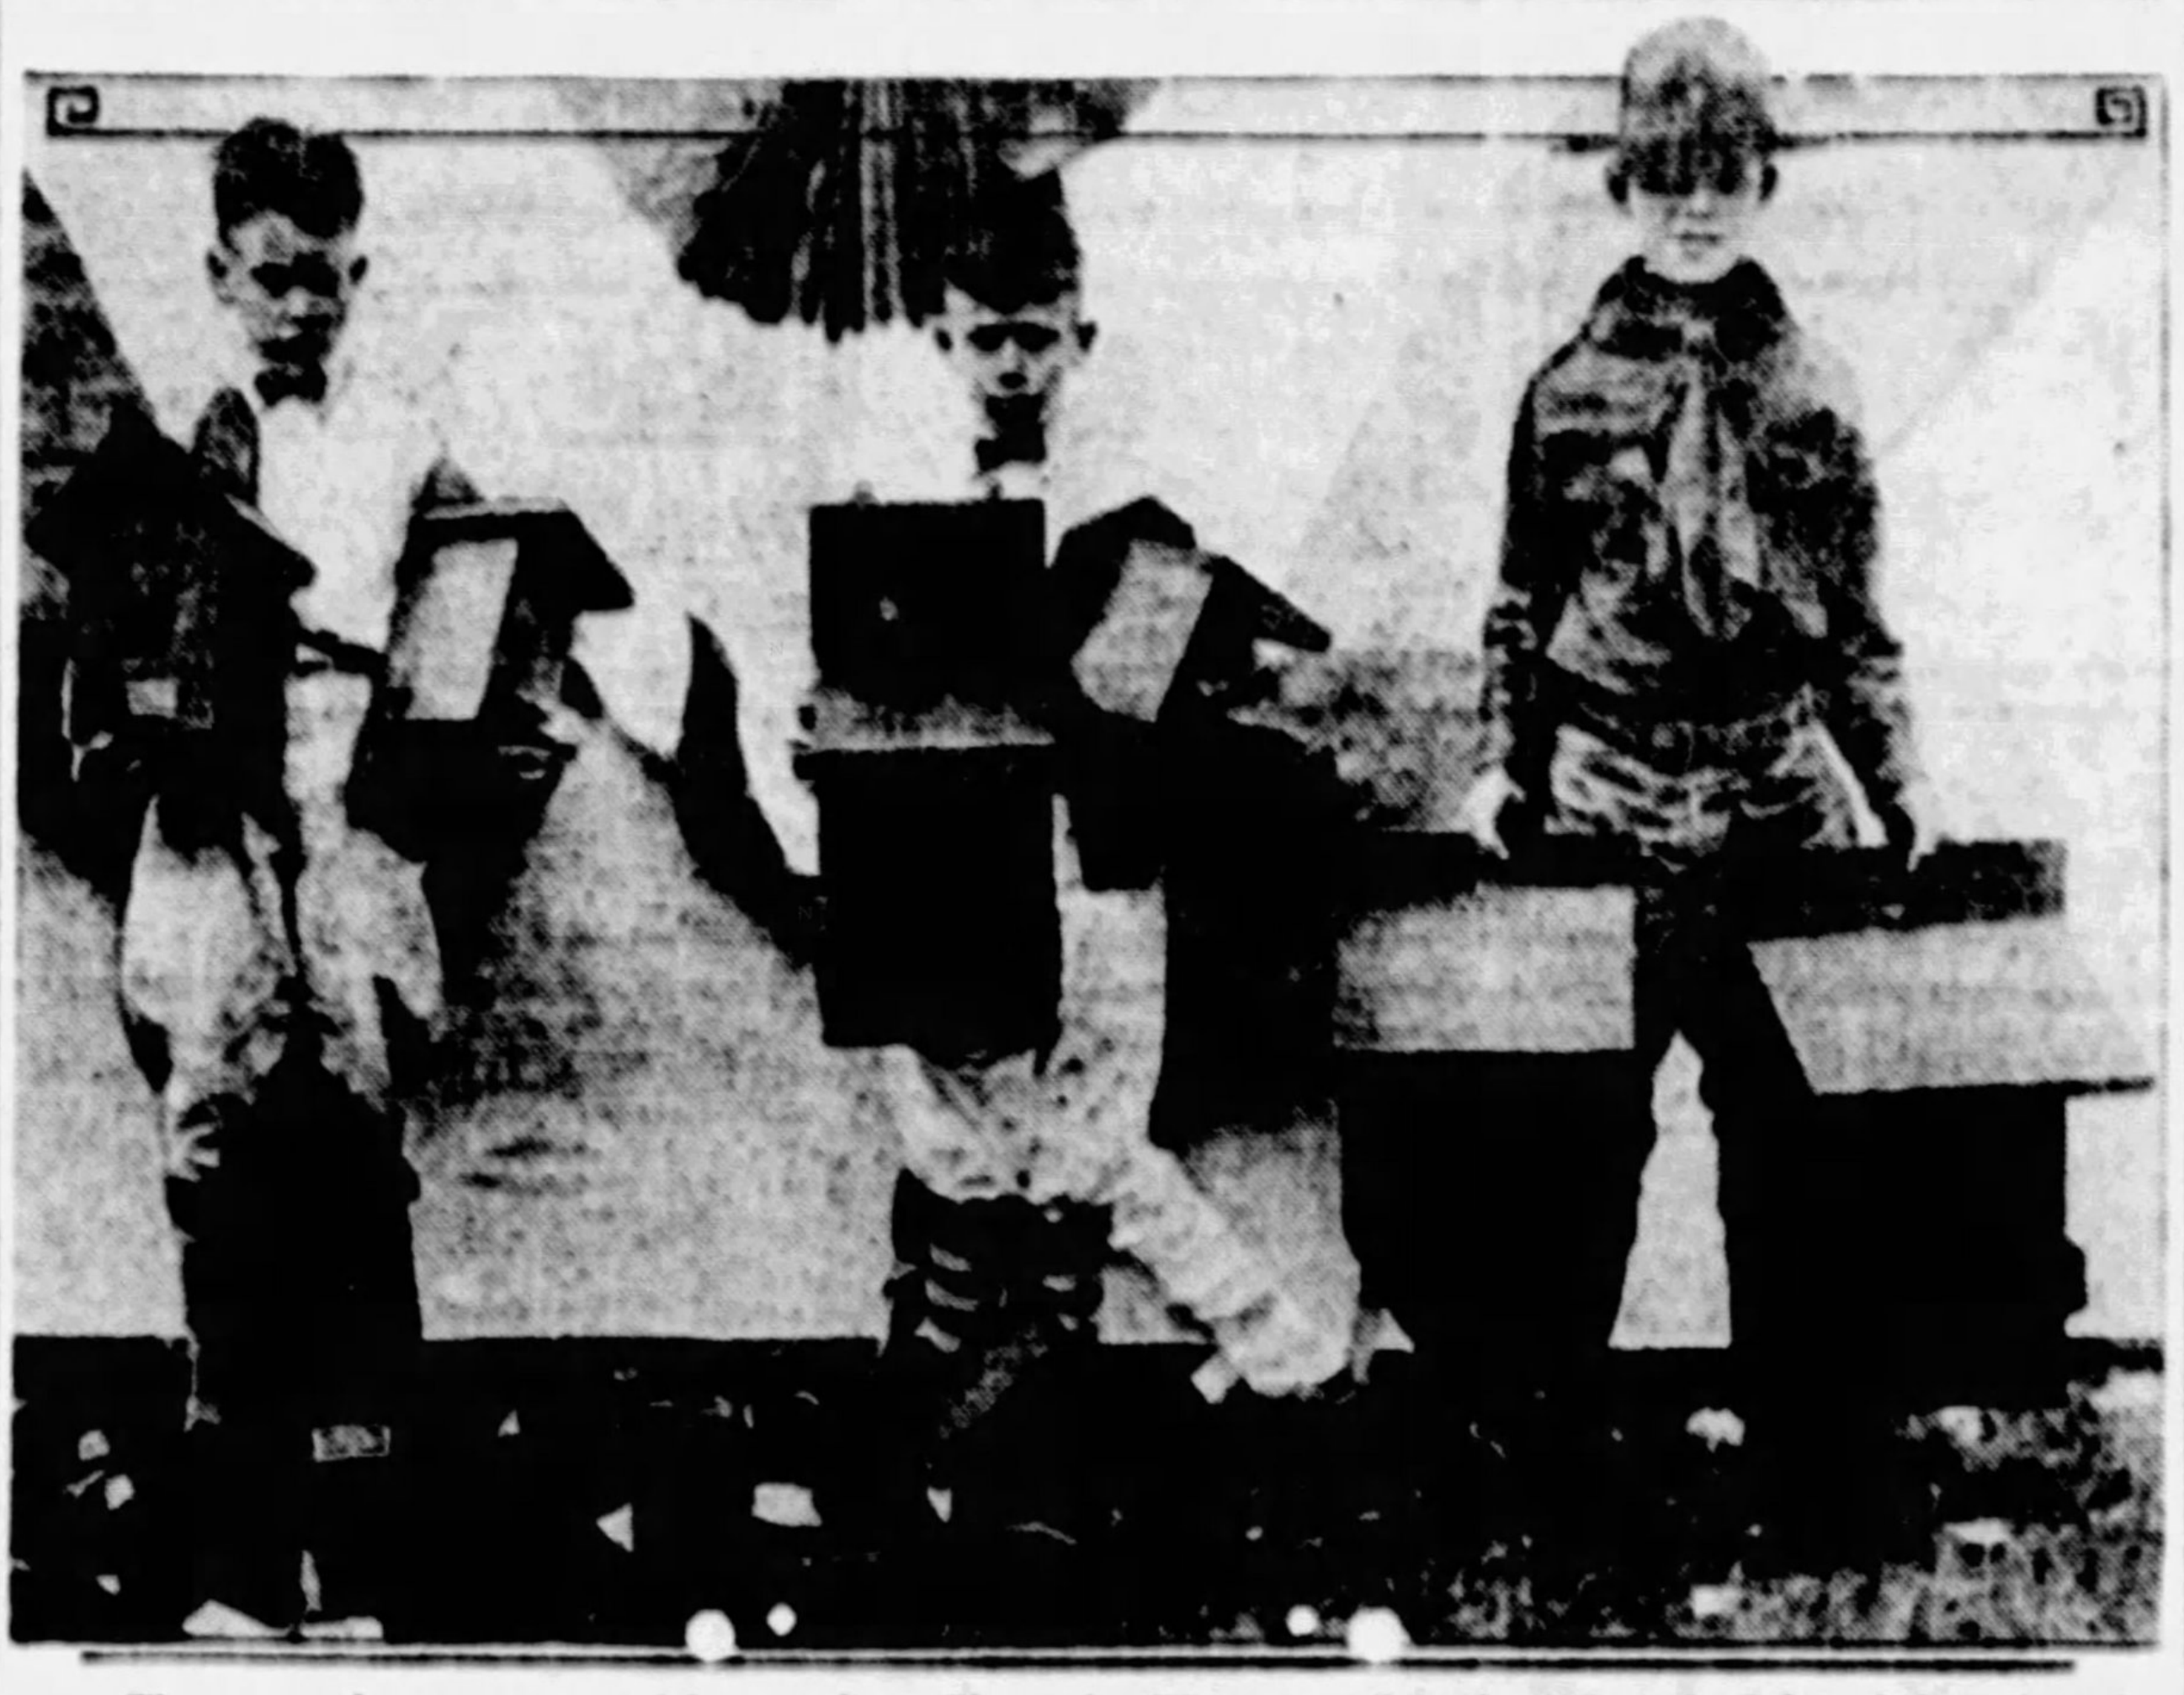
A vigorous follower of the preparedness views of President Roosevelt, his father-in-law, Speaker Longworth was counted upon to lead a fight for a bigger navy than Mr. Coolidge would countenance.

Dawes already has opened a breach with President Coolidge on the farm relief problem, the Vice-President siding with the McNary-Haugen farm relief proposition.

Having gained about 15 seats in the House and leaving the regular Republicans with a scant working majority, the Democrats will gauge their fight on legislation with one eye to the 1928 presidential race.

In the Senate, the Republican control hangs on a narrow thread. Failure to appease recalcitrants under the G. O. P. label may see the administration blocked at every turn in the upper body, it was observed.

PROUD WINNERS SHAKE HERO'S HAND



There are three very proud boys today. Yesterday Col. Charles A. Lindbergh shook hands with them and congratulated them for building the best "Sun-Tele" bird houses in the contest conducted by the "Sun-Tele" Bird House Club. They are Joseph Aylward, John Aylward and Lawrence A. Hood, Jr. Col. Lindbergh, who was introduced by former Congressman James M. Magee, accepted the bird house, which, with nine other prize winners, will be sent to the colonel's mother in Detroit today.

'TOM' CAMPBELL TO MEXICO

International News Service Wire.

CANDIDATE WINS RACE—WITH PROHIBITION MEN

Stanley Juskowich, 40, of Mine No. 3, Castle Shannon, said to be running for constable in Bethel Township, ran and won a different sort of race early yesterday, with the result that today prohibition men seek him. FASHION QUEEN SET FOR TEST

By ALFHILD LARSON,
Pittsburgh's Fashion Queen.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 4.—I feel exactly as though I have gone on the stage. Yesterday afternoon was spent in rehearsing on the stage of the Garden theater with the girls who are to compete with me in the St. Louis fashion pageant garment model contest.

We were told to bring the dresses we were to wear in the show in the evening. In the afternoon we were taught to walk like models and carry ourselves properly. I thought this was very fair, as it will give some of us who have had no experience as models an even chance with the others.

The weather is pretty cool out here and as our theater is a natural out-of-door one in a setting of beautiful trees and shrubbery we felt quite chilled. The people here are carrying heavy coats.

STRONG COMPETITION

When I met the beautiful girls who are in the contest I realized that I will have to work hard to have a chance to win. Miss St. Paul is my favorite so far. She is a stunning girl. Well, there is only one thing to do. Just do my best and not worry. We can't all win, of course.

The show starts tonight. Tomorrow I will be able to tell you a lot more. So far it has all been rehearsing and the plans are "in the air." Everybody is very kind and it is easy to see that they are going to try to make our trip so pleasant that whether we win or lose it will be worth while. I wish every girl in Pittsburgh could be with me. This is so wonderful I hate to keep it all to myself.

NORTH SIDE GIRL, MAN HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Miss Mary Trimmer, 19, of 3702 Ruggles street, North Side, and Samuel Grasinger, 29, of 617 Arch street, are in a serious condition in the Citizens' General Hospital at New Kensington from injuries suffered yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a Pennsylvania Railroad freight train on a siding at Creighton. Miss Trimmer has been unconscious since the accident.

DRY AGENTS POSE AS CUSTOMERS; NAB TWO

Two prohibition officers, purporting to be customers, arrested George Crago, aged 26 years, of Carmichael, and Walter Rosenberger, aged 28 years, of 215 Spring street, Mt. Oliver, today, when they supplied the agents with liquor in a garage at 35 Parkside avenue, Mt. Lebanon. J. R. Austin, reputed proprietor of the garage, is being sought.

TULSA OIL PRODUCTION TO BE CUT TOMORROW

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 4.—(AP.)—The greater Seminole oil field will be pinched back to a daily production of 450,000 barrels beginning tomorrow. H. N. Ray Collins, umpire, is en route to the field to make arrangements to put into effect the curtailment program agreed upon by the operators.

PLAN BELLEVUE GATHERING

The Bellevue Board of Trade has arranged for a "Meet Your Neighbor Night" at Balph Park, Balph and Steese avenues, tomorrow night. The Letter Carrier's Band of Pittsburgh will give a concert from 8:15 p. m. until 10:15 p. m.

A feature of the evening will be several vocal selections by a double quartet of girls from the Odd Fellows' Orphans' Home of Davis avenue. Another feature will be community singing.

Benjamin Moore, president of the Board of Trade, has appointed the following vice chairmen: W. B. Rodgers, Jr., Bert Sutter, John Dewar, Peter Crary, C. F. Nettrour, T. A. McNary, A. D. Smith, D. M. Sloan, Clarence Elste, C. J. Debar, Ralph Witherspoon, M. B. Porch, J. W. Vickerman, W. D. Teuterberg, W. H. Newmyer, George Morcroft and Park Martin.

SCHOOL CONTRACT LET

The Overbrook School Board last night awarded a contract to the Dick Construction Company of Clairton for the erection of their new grade school. The cost to be $116,000.

DISSOLUTION ASKED

A petition was presented in Common Pleas Court this morning asking for a decree of dissolution of the Rosslyn Street Railway Company. The company was organized in 1902 and built a line which operated between Crafton and Carnegie. This was abandoned in 1911.

SCOTCH TO HOLD PICNIC

ENGLAND IS HIT BY 'NO NIGHT' PERIOD

LONDON, Aug. 4.—England recently experienced what is called a "no night" period when the sun does not descend far enough below the horizon to cause real darkness. This period begins the last week in May and continues to the last week in July.

In past years it has been found that the intensity of the midnight glow depends upon not only atmospheric conditions, but also upon whether the sun is a compartively restful or disturbed state.

Under extremely favorable conditions, such as a long dry spell, with a cloudless sky and a dust-laden upper air, the glow occasionally has been remarkably bright.

BRAVES FLOORED IN SUN DANCE

LANDER, Wyo., Aug. 4.—(AP.)—Of 66 Shoshone Indian braves who four days ago began their annual Sun Dance on the reservation near here, less than half were able to continue the gruelling pace last night.

One by one the braves have fell until but a few were left to carry on the end of their dance this morning.

With hay crops harvested and their grain fields irrigated for the last time, the Indians opened their annual celebration here Monday with a sham battle and the "killing" of a tree to be used as the center pole of their dancing arena. Then, without food or drink or rest, they danced up to the centerpole and back to the edge of the circle, blowing whistles continuously.

Each morning the maimed, blind, or otherwise afflicted members of the tribe were brought to the center pole and the dancers performed a healing ceremony for them.

DIES AWAITING SON'S RETURN

Private Charles Snyder, honorably discharged from the quartermaster's corps at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, yesterday, is speeding to Pittsburgh, his home, to see his father after an absence of three years.

His father, Christopher Joseph Snyder, 67, late last night, a few hours after his son's discharge, died in the home of his daughter, Mrs. John R. Cleer, 1608 Converse street, McKeesport.

Mr. Snyder, who has been ill for several years, had been with his daughter for four years. He was born in Mt. Washington and lived all of his life in Greater Pittsburgh.

Jack Gilbert Speeds Eastward To Meet Jeanne Eagles, Chosen But Not Signed for His Film

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS,
Motion Picture Editor of Universal Service.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—Jack Gilbert is speeding over the rails to Washington, where he has an engagement to meet Jeanne Eagles and Monta Bell. He wasn't sure, when he left Los Angeles, that Miss Eagles, the star of "Rain", would be able to meet him, for her contract had not yet been signed with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer as his leading lady. However, much can be accomplished in a few hours and yesterday Robert Rubin in New York told Irving Thalberg in Culver City, over the telephone, that Miss Eagles had agreed to co-star with Mr. Gilbert. Naturally, everyone is pleased.

Monta Bell figures again as both director and scenario writer. The story, "Fires of Youth," a tale of Monta's own experiences as a reporter on the Washington Herald during Taft's administration, gives Mr. Gilbert the role of a newspaperman. Moreover, it will put Washington in a fine humor, for Mr. Bell hails from the capital of the U. S. A. and the whole town will be at his disposal.

He has longed to film just such a story, and that he was able to sell Metro-Goldwyn an original speaks well for his powers of oratory. Few directors do as well with their own stories.

It is safe to say an Englishman falls in love with the native dancer in "The Devil Dancer." My powers of deduction are not particularly keen, but when I heard that Clive Brooke had been engaged to play opposite Gilda Gray, I just felt that this was a part of the story. "The Devil Dancer" goes into production tomorrow and Gilda is praying that there won't be any more fires to burn her clothes.

Some Good News ∴ Admirers Inquire ∴ Cows Don't Ride

It is announced that Gloria Swanson will soon be busy on a new picture. In fact she is said to be busy now on the preliminaries.

Friends of Richard Barthelmess are forever inquiring when he is going to be seen in a new picture. It must be great to be so popular.

Marie Prevost, who has begun "The Girl in the Pullman," observes that a cowcatcher on a locomotive is a device to catch automobiles.

Barbara Kent Is Cast In Barthelmess Production

Barbara Kent, Wampas baby star of 1927, has just been added to the cast of "The Drop Kick."

Miss Kent, a former Hollywood High School girl, was chosen for the role in "The Drop Kick" after numerous tests of prominent young actresses were made. She joins a cast that already includes many pretty girls, including Dorothy Revier and Alberta Vaughn, who are seen in support of Richard Barthelmess, the star in this picture of modern college life.

Barbara Kent's entry into pictures is unusual, in that she won two personality contests, one in Santa Cruz and one in Los Angeles, without attracting notice of picture producers. Later an executive of one of the large producing companies saw her enter a store, was struck with her charm and manner and sent for her to make a screen test.

No Americans in Cast Of Jetta Goudal Photoplay

Not an American is to be found either in the roster of important players or in the directorial ranks of the company now filming "The Forbidden Woman," which stars Jetta Goudal for De Mille.

Miss Goudal hails from sunny France. Paul Stein, her director, arrived in Hollywood from Austria only 14 months ago. Victor Varconi is a Hungarian, while Joseph Schildkraut is a native of Austria. Ivan Lebedeff, who completes the list, is a Lithuanian of recent arrival on American shores.

"The Forbidden Woman" is from the pen of Elmer Harris.

BEAUTY QUEEN TO PLAY HEROINE IN GIBSON FILM

Hoot Gibson has selected Georgia Hale, another beauty winner, as the leading woman of "The Rawhide Kid," which was adapted from Peter B. Kyne's story, "The Lion and the Lamb." Miss Hale is the winner of a Chicago beauty contest.

WELLS DRILLED IN DESERT FOR ANIMALS IN FILM

Two 200-foot wells were drilled in the "American Sahara," 30 miles southwest of Yuma, Arizona, to provide water for the hundreds of horses, mules and camels appearing in Paramount's "Beau Geste," which arrives at the Stanley-Davis-Clark Grand next week.

Patrons of the George Sharp Production Stock Company playing a summer engagement in the Pitt will be interested to learn that John Thorn will remain with the company for next week's play, "If I Was Rich." Mr. Thorn was enjoying a vacation at his home in Mercer when Manager Sharp prevailed upon him to join the company for "Seventh Heaven."

Regain Health this Way!

There is a right way to regain health—if you are anemic, weak, nervous and run-down, because of thin, watery blood and deficient gland activity.

The way is easy, pleasant, prompt. It is scientific, for it deals with supplying the elements needed by the system. The method has been used successfully 15 years. The use of Cadomene Tablets has grown to over one million a week, by users telling others how effective the method is. There are people in your own circle who have regained lost health. Your doctor or druggist can tell you of "the miracle-like" recoveries of thin, anemic, weak, nervous-run-down folks.

Take from your food all calcium, phosphorus, iron and magnesium—and you wither and die. Reduce the amount your blood and glands should have, and you soon become afflicted with Nerve Trouble, Gland Trouble, Anemia, Weakness, Digestive Disorders, Infected Teeth, Headaches, Lowered Vitality, Fatigue, a tendency to have "colds" frequently and a general lethargy of mind and body.

The "Balance" or level of your system is upset, due to modern methods of preparing foods from which vital elements have been taken. Cadomene gives back this lost balance promptly. Six to eight weeks' use is time enough to produce a delightful buoyancy of spirit and reserve strength. Simply take three to six tablets daily as per directions.

Cadomene Tablets

Cadomene Tablets is not a cheap "catch penny tonic", but an efficient enricher of the blood and a potent strength-inducing agent. Go, try it now. Learn that you can be well and strong. Druggists everywhere sell Cadomene on a guarantee of delightful satisfaction or money back.

Cadomene is sold and recommended by all the May Drug Stores.

GEHRIG MENACES RUTH'S 1921 MARK

Callow Crew Coach at Penn

Through the Sport Lens

by Havey Boyle

A STRONG protest against the scheduling of exhibition games is voiced in letters from two fans. These fans voice the opinion that in scheduling exhibition games for his club Barney Dreyfuss is hurting the pennant chances of his Pirates. Pittsburgh players will concur in this view.

Although the Pirates showed signs of staleness last week the club was forced to go to Massilon, O., for an exhibition game Sunday. Fans and players agree that this time could have been spent advantageously in a rest period for the team.

IT was said that the Pirate management wanted to call off the game last Sunday but that a contract made earlier, when the staleness of the team was not considered, prevented any cancellation.

While I am not so certain that exhibition games take the awful toll the majority of fans believe is taken, I am convinced that Mr. Dreyfuss and his brother magnates who have ball clubs in close pennant races would displease the public less by dispensing with these games.

I am not so sure these exhibition games are the awful things said about them, because over a long stretch of years I never have heard that this or that big league club lost a pennant because of too many exhibition games.

Poor pitching, weak hitting, loose fielding, injuries, or loss of morale often have been cited as contributing causes to a ball club's failure to win a pennant, but so far no one has ever had the temerity to say: "Our club lost because the owner insisted on scheduling exhibition games."

BASEBALL magnates cite one reason why these exhibition games are scheduled. They say these games allow the manager to keep better track of his men on an off-day. This, of course, is the lesser of two considerations. The main consideration, kept in the background by the magnates, but plainly seen by those who look even casually, is that exhibition games are staged to make money.

Now some magnates may shrink at such a bald statement of a plain fact. Yet on sober consideration they should not feel hurt, for after all, is not the whole scheme of baseball designed to enrich the fortunate men who hold paying franchises?

It seems to me there is no greater slur in saying exhibition games are staged for the money than to say that the pennant races are held so that the baseball owners can make an honest fortune, or that cheese salesmen or fish mongers are in business to make money.

IN MAKING protests against exhibition games some fans seem to get so beclouded by sentimentalities about winning the pennant that they cannot see with clear vision. Winning the pennant is desired mainly by the ball club owner because it brings a rich financial reward. Ball players want to win the pennant because it means a rich return in the form of a world's series purse. Only the fans, and sometimes an occasional writer, fall into the false belief that money in baseball is a secondary consideration.

AT THE precise moment when the magnates with pennant-contending ball clubs reach the conclusion that exhibition games hurt the prospects of their gaining a bigger return in a world's series, these exhibition games will be discontinued. But so long as the magnates feel they can make money out of the exhibition games and still hold an even chance to get into the money-making world's series, then, in spite of fan clamor from time to time, the magnates will continue to stage exhibition games.

ONE great fault about exhibition games, aside from any possibility they hurt a club's pennant chances, is that they bring into full light the tendency in baseball to grab the dollar, whether the dollar happens to be in an outlying town which offers a guarantee or percentage for an exhibition or whether the dollar happens to be in the big league cities.

At least one large advantage in cancelling exhibition affairs would be to still loud voices among the fans and to keep observers from pointing out, as I am pointing out here, that none of us must believe in Santa Claus or in the sentimental myth that baseball is something besides a device with which to make money.

MAGNATES with pennant-contending clubs would be able to make a better face in their constant attempts to down the money angle of baseball if they did not show so plainly by this staging of exhibition games how very important each dollar is considered.

Too, their proclaimed attitude of listening to their fans, and of having serious consideration for the customers, would be strengthened if they paid heed to the fan appeal to eliminate exhibition games.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—The United States Wightman Cup team, which will oppose the English team in the fifth women's international tennis team match at Forest Hills, Friday and Saturday of next week, will be selected from among Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman, captain; Miss Helen Wills, Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, Miss Penelope Anderson, Miss Eleanor Goss, Mrs. Charlotte Hosmer Chapin and Miss Helen Jacobs. SPUHN, FORMER MENTOR, IS MADE RUSTY'S AID

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 4—(AP.)—Official announcement was made today that Russell S. Callow of the University of Washington will be head rowing coach at the University of Pennsylvania, beginning September 1.

It also was announced that Fred Spuhn, head coach for the last two years at Pennsylvania, will be Callow's assistant.

FIVE-YEAR CONTRACT

Callow comes to Pennsylvania under a five-year contract at a salary said to be the highest paid to any rowing coach in the country.

John Arthur Brown, chairman of the Pennsylvania Rowing Committee, said "the committee is glad to be able to make this announcement, for it feels that Pennsylvania rowing will be in the hands of two of the most competent coaches in the country."

Callow's coming to Pennsylvania was forecast several weeks ago, when he sent a letter of resignation to the University of Washington authorities, effective September 1. He was asked to reconsider and some days ago it became known that he had decided to let his resignation stand.

He is now in Havana coaching Cuban oarsmen and will return to his home in the Northwest before moving here.

The Pirates' crippled pitching staff gained some strength and much local color this afternoon when Regis Lehney, of Oakland, son of Lieutenant of Police Peter Lehney, reported for a tryout.

Young Lehney's first assignment was pitching to the Bucco hitters in batting practice and he filled it in a creditable manner.

CRACK OARSMEN OPEN NATIONAL REGATTA TODAY

DETROIT, Aug. 4—(AP.)—Crack oarsmen from the West matched strokes with crews from the East in the National Amateur Rowing Association championship regatta which got under way at the Wyandotte Boat Club course near here today.

Eddie Freeman, star sculler of the Nassau Boat Club, New York, was pitted against W. W. Smith, H. Carlson and K. Thompson, of the Lincoln Park Boat Club, Chicago, and G. A. Ruder and C. J. Dinklekamp, of the Century Club, St. Louis, in the intermediate single sculls event, feature of the opening day's card.

Dinklekamp, a newcomer in championship circles, also was entered against Lee McClenahan, of the Wyandotte Club in the junior singles championship to be decided today.

The junior 145-pound singles, junior 145-pound fours and junior doubles complete today's program. The races will continue through tomorrow and Saturday. On the last day of the meet, the national championship senior eights race will be held and a formidable field has been entered against the Pennsylvania Athletic Club crew, defending champion.

Haines Leads Majors In Shutouts

By JULIUS LEVIN

Jess Haines, a veteran righthander of the Cardinals, stands an excellent chance of leading the major league hurlers in scoring shutouts, having registered his fourth of the season yesterday, when he blanked the Dodgers in St. Louis, 4 to 0.

By whitewashing the Dodgers, Haines raised his total shutout victories to four, giving him undisputed possession of first place in this department.

Haines started the season on April 12 by blanking the Cubs at Chicago, 5 to 0, allowing the Bruins only two hits.

On April 25, he registered his second shutout, defeating the Pirates, 1 to 0, at St. Louis, yielding only two hits.

New York was Haines' third victim over the whitewash route, on June 13, the Cardinal veteran winning in St. Louis, 5 to 0, again allowing only two hits.

Yesterday he allowed only eight hits in scoring his victory over Jess Petty and the Dodgers.

Haines' record for the season is 16 victories and seven defeats. He has defeated Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and Philadelphia each three times; Chicago, Brooklyn and Boston each twice and New York once.

Pittsburgh has defeated Haines twice and Chicago, Brooklyn, New York, Cincinnati and Boston each once.

TILDEN, HUNTER FACE FIGHT

SEABRIGHT, N. J., Aug. 4—(AP.)—Two youthful tennis players who have spilled seasoned veterans on their way to the semi-finals round today remained to dispute with William T. Tilden and Francis T. Hunter, the right to the men's singles bowl in the annual invitation tournament here.

George Lott, of Chicago, and Fritz Mercur, of Bethlehem, Pa., were bracketed with Tilden and Hunter, respectively, with the older men the favorites, but with the unexpected admittedly possible in a tournament which has seen more than its share of sensational upsets.

All four won their way to the semifinals impressively in straight sets yesterday, Lott beating Lewis N. White, of Austin, Tex., sixth ranking American player, and Mercur disposing of Elmer Griffin, of New York. Tilden meanwhile was coasting to victory over Jerry Lang, New York, and Hunter was having little more difficulty with Cranston Holman, of San Francisco. Of the four Mercur is the only one whose appearance in the semi-final round was a complete surprise to the experts. On the way he disposed of the second ranking player in the country, Manuel Alonzo.

Miss Helen Jacobs, who disposed of two opponents thus far with loss of but five games, has the gallery with her in her battle for the women's singles bowl. The California girl already this season has won from the American champion, Mrs. Molla Mallory.

LOU IS ONE SHORT OF RECORD PACE

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(United Press.)—Lou Gehrig, Yankee first baseman, is in a position to make an earnest try for Babe Ruth's immortal home run record of 1921, when Ruth knocked out 59 in the season.

Gehrig, whose rise to fame by the power of his bat has been meteoric, hit his thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh home runs of the season yesterday in the double-header between the Yankees and the Detroit Tigers.

It put him, technically, only one run behind Ruth in his record year. On this date in 1921 Ruth had hit 38 homers. Ruth cracked his thirty-ninth on August 6, 1921.

As a matter of fact, however, Gehrig is not that close to the record. Ruth made his thirty-seventh homer on July 30. It was the Yankees' ninety-third game that season. Yesterday's second game was the Yanks' one hundred and third of the season, so Gehrig is handicapped 10 games in his drive for the record.

Gehrig Hits Two More Homers; Leads Ruth By Three of 'Em

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(AP.)—Lou Gehrig corralled two home runs yesterday during the Yanks' double bill with the Tigers, one coming in each game, to boost his total to 37, three more than Babe Ruth's pile. By failing to connect for a long distance poke, Ruth slumped to nine runs behind his 1921 record year. The standing:

	Games.	Homers
Ruth (1921)	103	43
Ruth (1927)	103	34
Gehrig (1927)	103	37

MEDALIST IS ELIMINATED IN PUBLIC LINKS TOURNEY

Kauffmann Is Winner

By JACK DEMPSEY Former World's Heavyweight Champion

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER, Staff Correspondent.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 4.—The first round of match play in the national public links golf tournament here today provided two startling upsets when Clarke Morse, of St. Louis, the medalist, and Carmen Bell, of Cleveland, one of the title favorites, were eliminated.

Carl Kauffmann, of Pittsburgh, runner-up to Morse in the qualifying round and [illegible] championship [illegible], advanced to the second round at the expense of George Joyce, of Philadelphia, [illegible].

Morse, Bell and Kauffmann were the three [illegible] in the preliminary test [illegible] of these only Kauffmann [illegible] championship capabilities today. Morse fell a victim of W. L. Palmer, of Baltimore, 2 and 1, and [illegible], of New York, accounted for Bell, 4 and 3.

In other matches Tom Walsh, of Boston, defeated Walter Bauer, of Toledo, 4 and 2; Frank Brosh, of St. Paul, eliminated Frank Aff, of Kansas City, 4 and 3, and Kendall Morrison, of St. Joseph, triumphed over R. A. Howard, of Chicago, 4 and 3.

Kauffmann shot beautiful golf in his round and registered a 35 for the outward trip, two strokes under par. He bagged two birdies on the first two holes for wins, sinking a 36-foot putt on the second green. He missed a two-footer on the third, however, and required three putts for the loss of the hole. Hitting par on the next gave him the fourth.

Another par on the fifth was a win for the Pittsburgh ace and he was 2 up, Joyce having lost a stroke in the rough. They halved the short sixth, Joyce running down a 40-foot putt for his par. The seventh was halved in par and Kauffmann was down for another birdie and a win on the eighth, increasing his advantage to 4 up. Joyce took a 7 on this hole, slicing his drive and three putts. On the ninth Kauffmann had an easy putt for his par, while Joyce took a 6 and the Pittsburgher was 5 up, with a medal score of 35. The pair halved the tenth. Their cards going out:

Kauffmann—
Out ... [illegible]—35
Joyce—
Out ... [illegible]—47

Coming in they halved the first four, and Kauffmann hit par on the fourteenth for a win, Joyce missing his putt. Carl was one under par for the 14 holes. Their card coming in:

Kauffmann—

ESTELLE O. K.; FIGHT'S SET

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS, Motion Picture Editor of Universal Service.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—There need no longer be any doubt that Jack Dempsey will meet Gene Tunney September 22 in Chicago.

The destiny of their much-discussed prize fight has been held in the slender hands of a woman, Estelle Taylor Dempsey, the last few days and she has settled the issue by sitting up in bed.

Her physician is so delighted with Mrs. Dempsey's improvement that he has said that unless some unexpected complications arise she will be able to accompany her husband when he leaves Los Angeles August 15 for his training camp.

Dempsey has said under no consideration would he leave Estelle while she is so ill and I suspect the thought that she was keeping him from getting into training for his battle with Tunney has helped her get well.

Her friends in Hollywood will be delighted to hear that she is convalescing. Estelle has been very ill. Only those who have been closest to her know what a fight she has been waging for the last month.

Filmland, which will be well represented at the fight in Chicago, has been eagerly waiting for word that its own favorite fighter really will be able to meet Tunney. Dempsey has been training each day, but the thought nearest his mind has been the recovery of Mrs. Dempsey and now he will go to work in earnest.

Jack's training camp has not yet been chosen, but it seems likely it will be somewhere near Chicago, and wherever he is, Estelle will be close by so that he can see her every day and can be sure she is well and happy.

40 PILOTS ENTER TWO RACES AT BRIDGEVILLE

That the shorter races are more popular than the longer events is indicated in the interest being manifested in the two classics booked for the Pittsburgh - Bridgeville board speedway Saturday afternoon, August 13. The speedway association has decided on staging 75- and 25-mile races in place of the customary 150 distance.

THREE FORMER CHAMPS IN SOUTHPAW TOURNEY

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—(AP.)—Three former champions are among the scores entered today in the 36-hole match for the national "southpaw" golf title at Midlothian.

Dr. R. C. Wilson, of Olympia Fields, who won the crown last year with 156, will defend his honors. R. S. Juran, of Minneapolis; Fred Merkle, of Columbus, and John Humphreys, of Edgewood Valley, twice winner of the title, are the former champions among the field of left hand shooters. The winner will receive a gold medal, and trophies for the best afternoon rounds are among the prizes.

WHEN TO QUIT

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor

YESTERDAY we wrote of the Spirit of Youth.

Today we write of Age. Not necessarily in the generally accepted term of years, but in the sense of efficiency.

In sports, efficiency ends at a comparatively early period in life. Our greatest performers in virtually all lines are the kid "phenoms." They speedily reach their highest point of development. Some carry on longer than the others and are hailed as marvels. But the span of stardom is comparatively short for the majority.

Comes then the question: "When to quit?"

When? Few know.

Most of them carry on long after their best days, and it is pathetic to see them try to hold up their end with the onrushing horde of youngsters. When they finally are forced out, the public remembers them, as a rule, not as the stars of their palmy days, but as the veterans who tottered through pitifully to the bitter end, still groping about and grasping for what has eluded them forever—the plaudits of the throng for the topliner.

Young Paul Berlenbach announced his retirement from the ring the other day. It was the second time he had made this announcement. The first time was immediately after he was knocked out by Mike McTigue after having lost his world's light-heavyweight title to Jack Delaney shortly before. Berlenbach's rise and fall were meteoric, the latter as much so as the former. After a short stay away from the smell of resin dust he essayed a "comeback." He won several bouts, but in them he was only a ghost of the Berlenbach who had scaled the heights. Realization came to him and he is out now to stay out.

The youngsters won't get a chance to pound Berlenbach silly and make the fans forget Paul ever was a champion. Berlenbach has made his pile out of boxing and has sense enough to quit while the quitting is good.

He has made a wise decision. Stolid and unimaginative as he is supposed to be, he has proved himself a "wise guy, after all."

For so few know when to quit in the realm of sports.

Young Haley Fulfills Golf Vow Annexes Swiss Amateur

LONDON, Aug. 4.—(AP.)—By winning the Swiss amateur golf championship at St. Moritz yesterday, young Edwin Haley, of New York fulfilled a vow made in mock solemnity at St. Andrews recently, that he would not return home until he could take some sort of European golfing scalp with him.

Len Nettlefold, amateur champion of Australia, whom Haley defeated yesterday, 5 and 4, in the 36-hole final, also sought European links honors.

After the recent British open tournament at St. Andrews, the two youths set off from England on a golf barnstorming trip through Europe, intending to do battle in every available golf competition that crossed their paths. They said they would go as far as China if they had to.

NO WONDER HE'S GRAY

JACK HENDRICKS

You'd be gray, too (as indicated by the arrow), if you were the manager of a big league club that had lost 23 games by one run to date in the pennant race. That's the plight of Jack Hendricks, pilot of the Cincinnati Reds, who now are playing the best baseball of any club in the majors after getting off to an atrocious start. Included among the close-shave setbacks are one 1-0, ten 2-1 and five 3-2 wallops. The others were by scores of larger denominations.

SMITH STARTS DEFENSE OF CANADIAN OPEN TITLE

TORONTO, Aug. 4.—(AP.)—MacDonald Smith, the champion, and 170 other golfers who seek his crown, started out today in the first round of the Canadian open golf championship. The field was the largest and strongest in the history of the event.

Harry Cooper, the California pro, who was runner-up in the United States open, teed off with Walter Hagen, always regarded as a threat, the pair attracting a large gallery.

Par for the course is 71 and the official course record is 69. The championship play opened with good weather to encourage experts who have suggested that a new record may be made for a round.

NEW RECORD FOR JOHNNY

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—(AP.)—The world's 120-yard swimming record now is among the other chattels of Johnny Weissmuller, sprint champion of the I. A. C. The tank star reeled off the distance in 1:07 1-5 in dedicating a new pool last night, shattering the mark of 1:08 2-5 set 12 years ago by Perry McGillivary.

SEPTEMBER 22 SELECTED FOR DEMPSEY-TUNNEY FIGHT

Jack Wires Acceptance

By ROBERT A. HEREFORD.
(Universal Service Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Thursday night, September 22.

That's when Jack and Gene will stage the second act of that "Battle of the Century" begun at the Sesqui Stadium last September.

The place having been established as Soldiers' Field, Chicago, after two weeks of wild conjecture and surmise, the time finally has been definitely set.

A telegram received from Jack Dempsey, in Los Angeles, settled the time dispute which has been waging since Monday.

"Will be ready to fight on September 22," it read. "Expect to leave Los Angeles for the Mid-West August 15."

Rickard earlier in the day had wired Dempsey stating that he must fight on or before September 22.

TUNNEY READY.

The present champion, Gene Tunney, has been amicable to Rickard's wishes all along, so all that remains to be done now is the choosing of the training camp sites for the rival battlers, and the preparation of the huge fighting grounds which is known as Soldiers Field.

The definite setting of the time, and the concurrent placation of the obstreperous former champion, killed the last hope which optimistic Gotham fans might have cherished that difficulties might arise to force Rickard to change the battle scene from Soldiers Field to the Yankee Stadium.

Many of the long-suffering Gothamites are already laying their plans so that they will be able to run down to the Windy City for that big Thursday night in September. It is quite naturally a blow to the pride of the fight-mad Manhattanite, who considers New York the pugilistic capital of the universe, to have the second heavyweight championship affair within a year staged away from Gotham.

POLICY OF SILENCE.

The boxing commission maintains its policy of silence in regard to the choice of the fight site.

Rickard, who returned from Chicago today, was in a jubilant mood. The grizzled old promoter who handles million-dollar deals with the calmness of a housewife at her daily marketing, was actually building air castles.

Announcing that Albert Loos and Joe Boynton had received orders for $650,000 worth of tickets, Rickard exclaimed, "Think of that! This means that I have orders already in hand for over $1,000,000, including what I left at Chicago. I never seed nothin' like it before."

The promoter emphatically stated that Chicago was to get the fight. He scoffed at the stories that New York still had a chance to land the brawl.

"I have signed, sealed and delivered the fight to Chicago. The fight will draw the largest gate in the history of boxing. We have received orders here for $650,000 and I have at least $350,000 more in paid reservations at Chicago. I am sure that I will have at least $2,000,000 left over when the Federal and state taxes are deducted.

"I have scaled the Chicago Stadium to seat 150,000. I might increase the capacity to 160,000, out I do not intend to have more than 23,000 ringside seats, about the same number that I had in Philadelphia."

Rickard also made the significant statement that this was the "last big fight that I will promote outside of my own stadium."

OPERATIONS START.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—(AP.)—The wheels began to turn today in preparation for the Tunney-Dempsey fight at Soldiers' Field which Tex Rickard has now set for September 22. The two principals were ordered to start their training, near Chicago, by September 1 and Rickard sent word that his ringside seat builder would start for Chicago tomorrow.

He is Pat Mulvey, builder of tracks for six-day bike races. By Saturday he will meet with George T. Donohue, superintendent of the South Park Board, to go over construction plans.

Two race track establishments which will be idle at the time were offered today as training quarters. Lincoln Fields was tendered by Col. Matt Winn to Rickard for either Tunney or Dempsey and Exposition Park at Aurora was offered to Tunney by the Aurora members of the American Legion. Either track has ideal facilities for training and crowds.

George F. Getz, millionaire coal man, who is the legal promoter for Rickard, was to return to Chicago today from a brief trip to his summer home across Lake Michigan and began plans for a central downtown ticket office.

CHILLYSAUCE

By CHILLY DOYLE

See Him Go!

PAUL WANER rose to great heights yesterday as he hopped over the century mark in driving in tallies. The marvelous batter pushed over six tallies in his big afternoon, his bat efforts scoring Brother Lloyd no less than three times.

The Waner kids and Cuyler in the three first notches of the batting order, crossed the plate seven times. Now if some of the boys in the cleanup section and lower positions will go to hitting, things would be looking up.

Earl Smith was up against southpaw pitching all afternoon and could not connect for a hit, but Earl coaxed a pass out of Mitchell that had a big bearing on our big inning. Joe Dawson followed this walk with a smashing double to left and the Pirates had two on with nobody down. Mitchell was shelled off the hill in the round, Lefty Sweetland taking up the burden. Brother Paul nicked the younger for his homer right at the outset.

Who's Your Choice?

MANAGER BUSH finally placed Cuyler in what seems to be his natural postion in the outfield. It is striking to note that the league is packed with star centerfielders, including Sprouts Waner, Statz, Roush, Welsh, Leach, Douthit and Wilson, but is any of them the equal of Cuyler as a ball hawk and thrower?

Sprout Waner is one of the grandest little fielders in the sport. A great judge of a fly or liner, Sprout is uncanny, good on ground balls, has a good arm, and is smart, but Cuyler holds an ace in that high-powered rifle he carries. A lot of runners who might go from first to third on singles, even with Cuyler in center, will hold up for fear of being caught. These are the percentage ends in which the Pittsburgh club has been slow to play.

Joe Dawson lost a flock of games through tough breaks after joining the Pirates, but things are beginning to smile on the Louisville grad. Joe hung up his third victory as he blanked the Phillies for six rounds. His feat of holding McInnis' sluggers to two hits pleased the large outpouring of fans.

A Mean Farmer.

CY WILLIAMS did not get much of a chance to his homers in his first three attempts. Cy drew three passes in a row. Williams is a real slugger, and off the field he is one of nature's noblemen, but "by cracky" Cy will find the fences here somewhat longer than in Philadelphia, although the right field zone is somewhat in his alley if the pitchers are a bit careless.

Joe Harris seems to be in need of a rest of a day or two, yet he continues to be one of the best fighters on the Pittsburgh club. Joe's aggressiveness and smartness should be an example to one or two of the nimble-footed boys who are almost ten years younger than Joe, and who should be fighting all the way.

Oakland fans are tickled with the form Glenn Wright has shown in the past three or four days. The spreadeagle star is looking like the Wright of 1925, when he was an outstanding boy of the sport.

LABARBA TO BOX VACCA AT LOS ANGELES AUG. 23

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—(AP.)—Fidel Labarba, flyweight champion, will make a Los Angeles ring appearance August 23, when he will meet Johnny Vacca, Boston boxer. Labarba's title will not be at stake as the weight limit has been set at 118 pounds.

DEMPSEY, TUNNEY CONSIDER RETIREMENT AFTER BATTLE

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(AP.)—The second episode of the Dempsey-Tunney battle for the world's heavyweight championship may be the last ring engagement for both principals, startling as this idea may seem in an era of million-dollar purses.

So far as Tex Rickard is concerned, the possibility may be dismissed here and now, for Tex has an understanding with both by which the winner would appear in another heavyweight extravaganza in 1928; but the notion persists, nevertheless, that neither Tunney nor Dempsey is anxious to prolong his ring career.

Tunney, whose tastes run counter to the blare and glare that goes with the heavyweight title, frequently has told friends that he intended to hang up his gloves "when he made his million." He will just about have it when he collects around $750,000 for defending the crown in Chicago. With one million in hand, of course, Tunney may decide another will be useful, providing he again defeats Dempsey. If he loses, Tunney might be more in a mood to retire than otherwise—perhaps to take up the political career that has interested him at times.

Dempsey is more likely to quit the ring, win or lose, than Tunney, most observers believe.

Dempsey's prime object in returning to action was to win back the crown he wore and prized so highly for seven years. He might have retired last fall had he successfully defended it against Tunney. Well fixed financially, the erstwhile Manassa mauler, if victorious at Chicago, probably would decide he had had enough of the fistic life and retire on his laurels. If he is as decisively beaten as he was last year, there is small doubt it will be Dempsey's last fight. Defeat would leave little basis on which to erect another come-back effort.

COACH LAYDEN TO ARRIVE AUGUST 20

By JESS CARVER.

Elmer Layden

Elmer Layden, former member of the famed Four Horsemen of Notre Name and new athletic director at Duquesne University, where he succeeds F. P. McDermott, will arrive in town August 20 to take over the reins at the Bluff school.

This word was contained in a telegram from Layden to this correspondent today. Coach Layden stated that he was winding up his business both at Columbia College, Ia., where he has been coaching for the past two years, and at his home in Bittendorf, Ia.

Layden stated that he will call his football squad together shortly after his arrival in Pittsburgh. No definite plans have been made concerning a football training camp for the Dukes, either by Layden or by the Duquesne officials. This will also be settled upon the coach's arrival here.

Student Manager of Athletics Holahan said today that with the exception of a few minor details everything was ready for the new mentor. Equipment has been purchased and delivered, and in case the Dukes do have a camp, arrangements have been made at Stoneboro, where the squad was trained last year.

Rickard Tells How He And Governor Small "Kidded" Gotham

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(AP.)—Tex Rickard let New York know today that he had planned to hold the Gene Tunney-Jack Dempsey fight at Chicago ever since Dempsey lost his title last year at Philadelphia, and that the local ballyhoo was doomed to failure from the start.

The promoter related that Gov. Len Small, who was at the ringside in Philadelphia, had told him the next heavyweight championship contest "must come to Chicago." From then on, Rickard said, he fully intended to hold the bout in Chicago.

"I hope that this will be the last big fight I will have to take out of New York," said Rickard. "By this time next year I hope to have an open air arena with a seating capacity of 150,000 persons."

"BETTY" By FAITH BALDWIN

The Fascinating Love Story of a Girl of the Present Day

decent man. He's not interested in me as a woman," replied Betty, and knew perfectly well that she was lying, but not to how great a degree. "He doesn't go running around forever—thinking, thinking horrid things the way you seem to!"

"If he's only interested in helping you to a good job," asked Bob trying to control his temper, "why did he ask you out to lunch?"

This question seemed to Betty the acme of stupidity.

"You are always harping on that," she said, disregarding the fact that he had not known of this development so very long. "Why shouldn't he? It's a perfectly usual form of courtesy. If you think that every man that asks a girl out to lunch has designs on her I must say you have a very queer sort of mind."

"I don't care," repeated Bob. "I do say that men of his sort don't take their typists out as a rule—out of kindness only. And the point isn't why he asked you. I know why—but why you went with him?"

"I don't have to answer," she replied defiantly, "but if you must know I went because I wanted to."

"Why didn't you tell anyone then, if you weren't ashamed of it?"

"It was when you weren't coming to see me," she admitted presently.

He was a little happier for a moment. She was hurt, she had been bitterly hurt, she had confessed as much to him since, and perhaps this reckless acceptance of Lorrimer's "courtesies" had come about out of pique. He didn't say pique. He said, to himself, "because she was sore at me," which amounts to the same thing.

But on top of this triumph another thought came to him.

"Why didn't you tell your people? You were on speaking terms with them," he pointed out. "I could tell by the way you acted and what they said that they hadn't known anything about it."

Betty hesitated. She had no explanation to give but the true one. And so she gave that, recklessly.

"I didn't say anything because of Virginia—she's always poking around and making more of things than is really so," she stammered.

"I see," said Bob after a pause, and said no more. He knew that Virginia disliked him, and he could see through a stone wall as far as most people.

But this was the first time he had realized that Betty's sister was openly his enemy. He was instantly worried. He knew how much Betty cared for Virginia, despite her occasional complaints of her, as now, and he was a little afraid of the older girl's influence. With this added trouble, to which he dared not give voice, he rushed headlong upon the rocks just when it really looked as if the quarrel would settle down and simmer quietly, and perhaps subside altogether.

"You're interested in Lorrimer," he shot out—"that's probably why you tried to give me the air before."

Although in the light of events this accusation was more or less to be expected, it nevertheless cut Betty to the quick. He had said during their former quarrel that perhaps she wished to be free—for someone else. Now he was saying it again, in a different way, and, moreover, naming the someone else without hesitation. Angry as she had been before he had made the statement, she still felt in her heart that he had been justified in asking her certain questions, yes, even in scolding her. But this was going too far—again to doubt her love for him, her loyalty to him.

"That is not so!" she cried, and her eyes filled with tears of hurt and rage.

Bob was humble enough then, but just for a minute.

"Well, how could I tell? He has it all over anyone you know—money and looks and all that—and talks like a book as well as writes them. I—" here all his doubts came back in the seesaw way of a man in love and fighting for that love and afraid of losing it—"Betty, are you sure you don't care for him—at all? Will you swear to me that he doesn't mean anything to you?"

"Of course I'm sure," she retorted hotly, but, woman like, could not resist adding: "But I won't swear to anything. As if I have to!"

This infuriated him again, and he shouted:

"Well, if you don't care for him at all and if you are going out with him just to see what you can get out of him, then all I have to say is you're turning into a regular little gold digger—trying to work this fellow for all he's worth, just because you're pretty and young and have caught his eye somehow."

Of all the suggestions he might have made this was almost the worst, particularly as she had a fine sense of honor and had genuinely hesitated over accepting Lorrimer's proffered help lest he begin to use his influence unduly, to pull wires in some way that would land her in a job independent of her value to the firm or her own merits.

"You can't sit there and insult me like that," she told him, flaming. "You can just get up and go! And you can go for good this time. I wouldn't raise a hand to try and get you back—I don't want any man around me who thinks as little and as meanly of me as you do."

Bob was aghast.

"You mean?—you don't mean . . . ?" he stammered.

"Yes, I do mean it. I mean every word I say. I mean I break our engagement here and now and I should have done it long ago," she said and every word she uttered was like taking a knife and gouging little pieces out of her own sore heart.

"Well, you can't."

"I can't what?"

"You can't break it. It takes two to do that," answered Bob, out of some extraordinary reasoning, "and I won't let you do it. I love you and I won't give you up and I won't have you wrecking my whole happiness just because you're angry at me. If for no other reason in the world I'll stick around whether you want me or not and see that you don't make a fool of yourself."

This left her speechless and he hurried on.

"You need protection—from yourself—from everyone and I am here to see that you get it."

He rose to his feet and seemed to tower over her, although he was not an exceptionally tall man by any manner of means.

"I'll go now . . . since you've ordered me to—but I'll come back. And don't think that you can get away with anything with me," he warned her, "because you can't. You can't get rid of me this easily, either. One of these fine days you'll come to your senses and thank me . . . for staying."

And with that he had gone!

Betty sat where he left her, too astonished to move. She was perfectly furious. First he had accused her of loving Lorrimer, then he had accused her of not caring for Lorrimer but of trying to "work" him lastly he had called her a fool who couldn't look out for herself and who must be sheltered and protected and nursed along like a baby.

Anyone of the three accusations would have made her angry enough, but all three together were more than she or anyone else would have bargained for.

And on the top of it all he wouldn't accept his dismissal! He would go on being engaged to her willy nilly, no matter what she said or felt or did about it! She wasn't engaged to him, but he was engaged to her and that was the end of that!

She began to laugh—hysterically. Finally, calming herself by an almost superhuman effort, she went upstairs to her bedroom, rejoiced to find that the rest of the family had gone to bed. She wondered if they had heard anything of the disgraceful quarrel—any of them? The house was so small and the walls so thin and the spare room was just there at the head of the stairs. Bob's voice had been raised, more than once, and his was a voice that carried. And Virginia didn't sleep well. She was apt to sit up all night over a book.

What a pity Virginia had been home when Lorrimer came! As a rule she would have been at her motion picture house grinding out the inane melodies of the day to accompany the shadowy progress of the screen story. But—and there was another source of worry—Virginia had lost her job because of trouble—which she did not specify but left to the imagination—with the manager of the theater. Tomorrow she was going out to look for work again and was contemplating with open distaste the position, now empty, of cashier at one of the smaller restaurants on Fourth avenue.

Betty crept up to her room, tiptoed past the closed doors and shutting her own softly, began to undress. She ached in every limb and nerve as if her whole body had been bruised with her hurt, as if she had been literally beaten.

A midsummer miracle

Spanish creams are ideal summer desserts. Here's a recipe that performs a pleasant little miracle—producing greater richness with less cost.

Fruited Spanish Cream
½ cup Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk
2 cups hot water
2 tablespoons gelatin
1 cup cold water
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 cups fresh or canned fruit cut in pieces

Mix condensed milk and hot water and heat to scalding point. Add gelatin soaked in cold water. Add salt. Cool until mixture begins to stiffen; stir in lemon juice and fruit and pour into large or individual molds. When firm unmold and serve with whipped cream or custard sauce. (If fresh fruit is used, sugar well, let stand for a few minutes, and drain before using.)

The extra-goodness in this recipe comes from Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk! It is really two ingredients in one—pure, fresh, full-cream country milk, combined with finest sugar. More than twice as rich as ordinary milk, because most of the water has been removed. Far smoother than any blend of milk and sugar you could make at home. And it keeps fresh, pure and rich for days after the can is opened, even without ice.

Use Eagle Brand Milk for all dishes that require both milk and sugar. Watch this space for other delicious recipes... And don't fail to try Eagle Brand Milk in coffee! It creams-and-sugars—so richly and deliciously—for one-half the cost of separate cream and sugar!

Submarines Tried Centuries Ago

A SUBMARINE boat is said to have been invented about 1578, and one is believed to have been tried in the Thames early in the seventeenth century. Robert Fulton made experiments in Napoleon's time, but it was Nordenfelt's submarine, constructed at Stockholm in 1883, from which the modern submarine developed.

MY SON'S SWEETHEARTS

By Ida McGlone Gibson

BEFORE she opened the door to her apartment, she flung herself into Phillip's arms, holding him to her as though she would never let him go.

"But I haven't gone yet, dear," he said, as he loosened her strangling arms a little.

"Yes, as far as I am concerned, Wynne, this is the parting. Don't you understand, dear, that I cannot be torn by the sight of you—by the feel of your caresses, by the touch of your lips on mine and know that I have lost you?"

"This is the only way, dear. I must make it final. But, oh, Wynne, you will not forget me wholly? You did love me a little, didn't you? I did make you happy—I did make you forget all those terrible things you suffered during the war?"

As always, Pat's clinging arms and Pat's lovely voice kindled Phillip's heart to flame again. He covered her face with kisses, but she drew away from him. With her hands on his shoulder, she pushed him gently to the stairway. In a moment he was standing alone on the landing, and she was trough her doorway.

He stood there a moment apparently dazed and then he said, "Well, I'll be damned."

He spent the rest of the night haunting the American bars and trying to avoid the M. P.'s. When he slipped into his room at Ritz and threw himself on his bed, he was gloriously drunk.

CHAPTER LI.

OFF TO AMERICA.

FOR THE next few days Phillip's nerves, as well as his mother's, were rather jumpy. Phillip was all the time thinking that Pat would either telegraph or telephone. With a man's usual egotism, he could not think that she would let him go without at least one more good-bye.

Mrs. Tracy had the same feeling, and every time the telephone rang she rushed over to it. Never before had John Aukland left her without a lingering farewell.

However, at the end of the week she saw in one of the Paris papers that Maj. Aukland had gone to Turkey with the Near East expedition, and a friend told Phillip one evening that he had seen Pat leaving the station for Switzerland, consequently they both became calmer, if not happier.

Neither mother nor son referred in any way to the absence of Pat or John Aukland in their conversation, when they were perhaps more in each other's thoughts all the time than any one or anything else.

Phillip had to leave Paris for two or three days to go and get his discharge papers. During that time his mother finished up the shopping and so kept herself too busy to think much about anything.

All the time, however, she kept asking herself if again she had made a mistake, for Anne Tracy had come to see that her interference between Phil and Natlee had been a great error of judgment.

She felt better when on the Fourth of July they stood on the Rue de Rivoli and cheered the American troops as they marched up that historical street, escorted by the crack regiments of England, Belgium, Italy, Canada and Australia.

Phil lifted his mother high in the air and said, with more pride and enthusiasm than she had heard him express since she had met him abroad: "We're proud we're Americans, aren't we, young lady, and we're glad we're going home."

"Yes, Phil, I shall be so glad to get home that it seems to me now I shall never want to go away again. Oh, I have so many plans for both of us."

"Don't talk of plans, mother. They make me miserable. What can you plan for such a poor stick as I am."

Anne Huntington Tracy looked at her boy. He was thin and she saw lines on his face that ought not to have been there until he was at least 30, and the tears came to her eyes. Would he ever get back his youthful spirits again?

It was not until the 14th of August that mother and son found themselves at Le Havre, embarking for America. They were both of them leaving many happy days and many very terrible days behind, but after all, that is only what makes up life.

Just as the boat edged out from the pier, Mrs. Tracy felt her arm clutched by her son. She raised her eyes to his face. He was not looking at her. He was looking over the crowd on the dock. Following his gaze, she saw Pat's face turned up to them. Anne felt a little guilty, for Pat's eyes were very sad and the tears were streaming down her cheeks.

Phil took off his hat and bowed formally. His mother thought he seemed almost glad that the parting was just as it was. Neither mother nor son mentioned it to the other afterward. The episode was apparently closed.

Phillip was a little ashamed, for since that afternoon on the Bois he had never tried to see Pat again. He had not even written to tell her when he was sailing. His mother was perfectly willing, now they were leaving France, not to mention Phil's French sweetheart's name to him.

He noticed, as he saw her on the pier, that there had been times when he had forgotten her.

Soon they both turned away from the land and faced across the sea toward America. Both were leaving the past two years behind them. Phillip characteristically was saying to himself that he had been jilted, anyway. There was nothing else for him to do but to take it as gracefully as possible. He did not realize that he was accepting it almost too gracefully.

Mother and son did not talk much to each other as they sat on the deck in the sunshine, for to tell the truth each was more than a little curious to know exactly what the homeland would mean in the next year or two, and both were trying to adjust themselves to imagined conditions.

Early one morning, Phillip came to his mother's stateroom and said: "Would you like to say good morning to the Goddess of Liberty, Mother? She looks pretty good to me, even if she is a lying old dame, with her insinuation that America lights the world with her torch of liberty. In reality, the U. S. A. is not the 'land of the free' any more than it is the 'home of the brave'."

"Now, Phillip," said his mother, "don't be so cynical. You know the Goddess of Liberty out there in the harbor gives every American a thrill as he glimpses her after a long stay abroad."

"Well, I'll say this for her, she gave me a thrill."

"Go up on deck, Son, and I'll be up as soon as possible."

In a short time she stood beside him. Their hands were clasped together and the huge statue seemed to be welcoming them home.

All at once Phil turned away from her, and the mother saw his eyes grow misty.

"I'm afraid it will never seem the same to me without Rod. Not one of the other fellows will ever take his place."

"There's Natlee, Phil," Anne Tracy said softly.

"I'm sure Natlee has forgotten me, Mother. I have not heard from her since your arrival in Paris. By this time I presume she has married Jerry Kenyon. Seems strange to think of Jerry making up to Natlee. He used to turn his nose at the thought of her father's dairy. The other day, however, I came across a great advertisement where he and Mr. Jones were exploiting condensed milk. He seems to have a change of heart. I am satisfied I'm going to be very lonesome over here. It almost seems to me this minute that I'm coming to an alien land. I have forgotten how Americans look and act. I'll probably be ridiculous in my own home town."

Phil turned impulsively and put his arms around his mother's shoulder. "Mum, dear, you, too, are fond of Paris. Let's fix things up here and go back."

"Perhaps we will, Phillip. To tell the truth, I feel very unsettled myself."

Phillip Tracy pulled his mother to him. "Come on, young lady," he said, using the pet name he generally employed when he wanted to be particularly coaxing. "Don't let's stay here if we don't like it, just because it's America. I expect you and I have the hardest fight of our lives before us. Do you realize that the silly old war has taken two years away from us and we've got to work like the devil to get them back?"

"You'll have a chance, Son, but when a woman reaches my age, two years out of her life are gone forever."

"I'm afraid that I'll never have a chance to make those beautiful dreams come true that I had before the war. It will never be those same dreams anyway; it's too late now to take up my father's business. I'll have to brush around and find something else. Perhaps we've both made a mistake after all, Mother dear. I should have stayed in Paris, where the people know better than they do here what the world has done to the young men now living. I'm coming home a stranger. What will I find here?"

"You will be all right, Son, if you only find yourself," said Anne Tracy, softly.

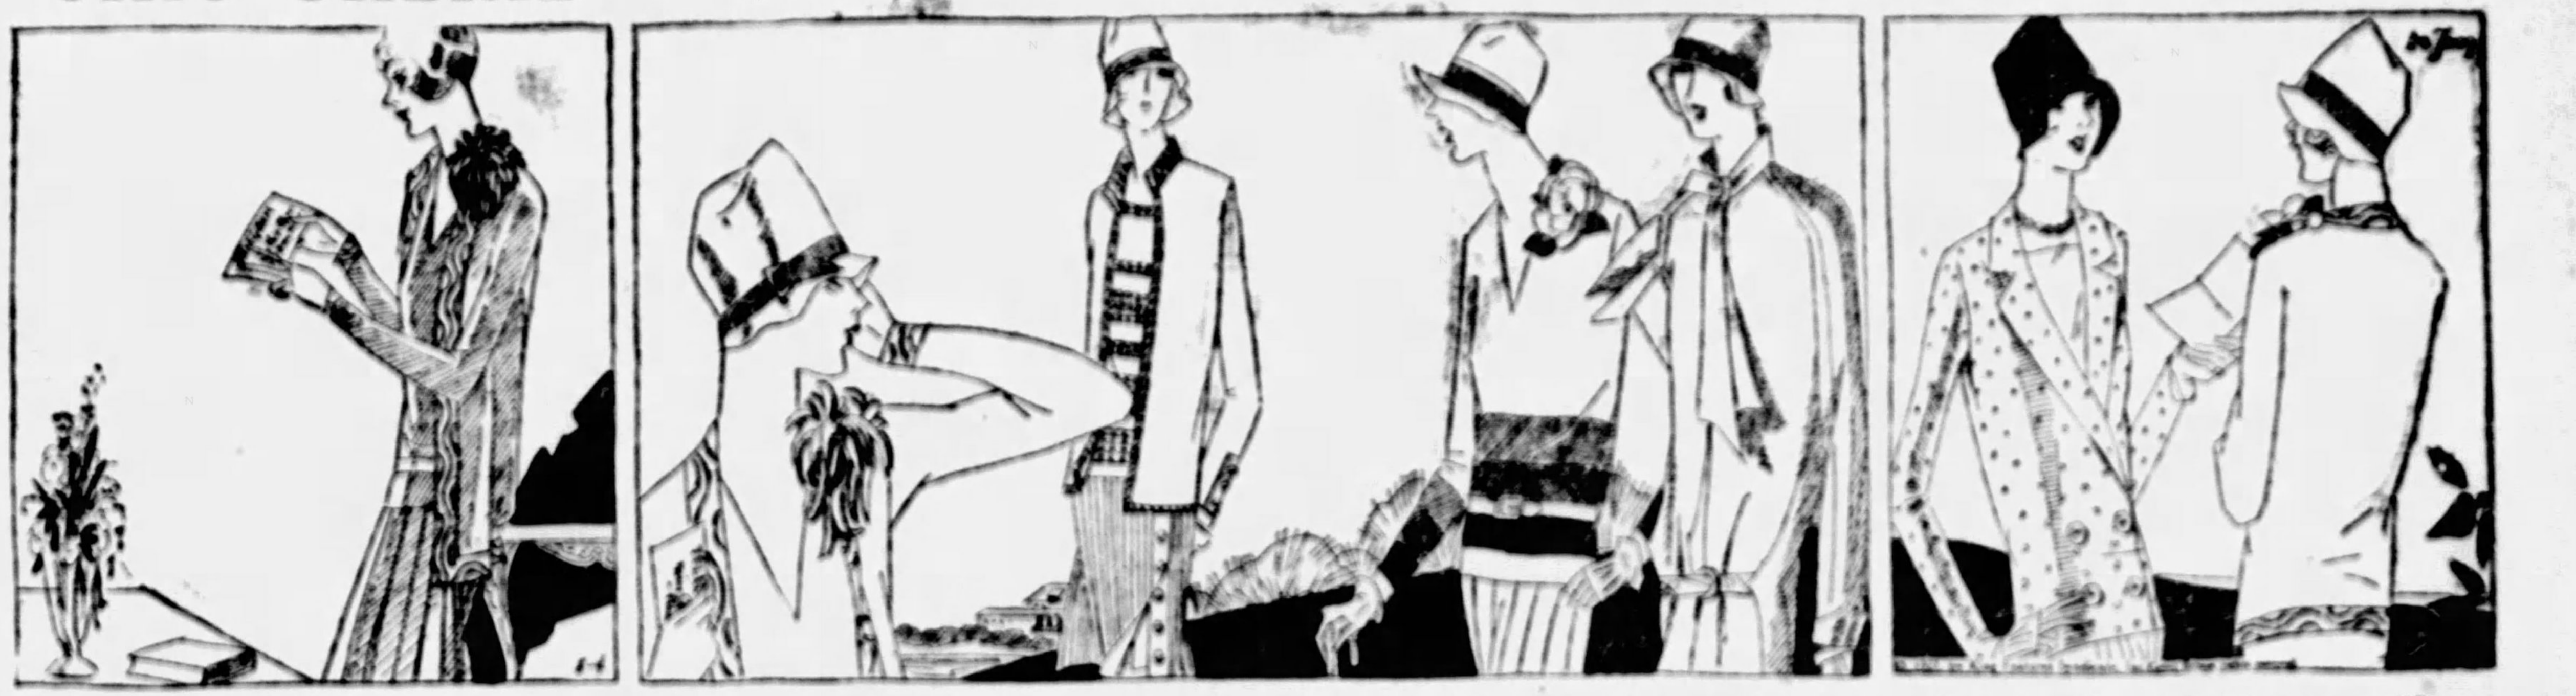
CHIC CHERIE ✣ SURE, IT'S A FAIRY GODMOTHER. ✣ LATEST FASHIONS



Almost everybody has an Aunt Em who lives on the old farm. Cherie was so broke that she remembered hers and this is certainly a telegram from the four corners. Dina sets out in a rose jacket suit to find Cherie, with the fateful message clutched in her hand.

Cherie is neatly hidden away. Not the most piercing glance from under Dina's folded felt hat can find Cherie in this selection of ladies. Nearest to Dina walks a person in a wool crepe and corduroy suit with a buttoned skirt that hardly hides the new mannish shorts.

The belted sweater jumper is gray with stripes of the same in various shades. It is worn with a gray skirt and hat. The tweed coat deserves notice because of its collar and half of a belt. They all deserve notice, but not Dina's notice, since none of them is Cherie.

Cherie, herself—and the telegram says "Come for the Summer." Aunt Em IS a fairy godmother, financial problems are nothing and Cherie decides she will buy the hat she wanted to go with this blue flannel frock and its matching jacket of blue flannel dotted with white.

Listening In on Eve

(Copyright by Associated Newspapers.)

"I DON'T see how you stand living in noisy, gardenless New York City," exclaimed Jane Blake Mehring to her sister-in-law, who was making her annual summer visit with the Jerry Mehrings in their sunshiny little home in Ridgeburg, a small mid-western city.

"And I don't see how you manage to survive in this wilderness," retorted Blanche Mehring. "I should simply perish without the inspirational environment of Greenwich Village."

"Isn't the plumbing in Patchin place pretty poor?" asked Jerry.

"Plumbing!" said Blanche, scornfully, "what does plumbing mean to art?"

"Nothing, of course," soothed Jane, "but you know Jerry doesn't care much for art, so he wouldn't understand."

"I suppose not," agreed Blanche. Then she added, very firmly: "Domestic life stifles whatever talent a woman may possess."

Jerry, meditating upon the talent for cooking which Jane, a most capable stenographer, had developed to a point of positive genius after her marriage, raised his eyebrows somewhat skeptically.

"Wild horses couldn't drag me back to Ridgeburg," continued Blanche. "The atmosphere of the provinces kills every spark of creative individuality a soul may shelter."

"Good gracious!" responded Jane, jumping up and hurrying toward the kitchen. "I've forgotten to put the children's supper cereal in the fireless cooker."

"There you have it," said Blanche accusingly to Jerry. "Not a moment to call her own. If it isn't the supper cereal its clean rompers, and if it isn't clean rompers it's a thicker sweater and fresh mittens. I tell you it's crushing, simply crushing. Some day Jane will revolt against the tyranny of the conventions."

"Umph!" growled Jerry. "Jane doesn't look especially crushed to me."

"You can't see her soul, my good man," replied Blanche, pityingly.

"That's a fact, I can't," admitted Jerry, who was apt to be annoyingly liberal at times.

"After all, Janie, pet," remarked Jerry, contentedly, some days later, "there's nothing like having the house to ourselves is there, honey?"

"Nothing, sweetest," replied Jane.

Since Blanche claimed pet names to be intellectually degrading, speech had been circumspect during her visit. But now Jane and Jerry were making up for lost time.

"And I've got to go to that blasted Chicago convention," complained Jerry. "Will you sort of throw a few things together for me like a dear child?"

"Sure," answered Jane obligingly. It was nice to be able to do something for Jerry without being accused of being his "slave."

Jane planned to get a lot of extra sewing done during the time Jerry was to be away, but she found that holding tongue during her sister-in-law's visit had left her in a state where action more violent than hemming crib sheets and cross-stitching bunnies and chickens on bib borders was required to work off her inhibited emotions.

"What, oh what, will Jerry say?" Jane asked herself, reproachfully, the morning Jerry was due back from Chicago.

What Jerry said when he started for the hose to sprinkle the lawn and made his way down the narrow stairs leading to the basement was:

"Good heavens, Jane, have you gone mad?" Which in view of the fact that the cellar steps and the handles of all the garden tools as well as the lawn-mower had been painted a passionate purple, the chimney a violet green and all the window frames and woodwork of the basement a lurid apricot orange seems not at all an unreasonable exclamation.

"The coal bin, darling—just to see the lovely coal bin," urged Jane in answer.

A lithograph of Priscilla Dean languishing across a 12-foot bill poster as "The Hell Cat of Paris," completely covered the hitherto neat and inoffensive wooden barrier.

"And the meter wall," chattered Jane. "Of course the posters are old, but I'm sure they are just as inspirational as any Blanche sees from her windows—and won't the electric and gas men be charmed?"

Once more Jerry forced his eyes to survey a scene past his comprehension. Below the gas meter Priscilla Dean faced him, this time as "The Virgin of Stamboul," while beside her, beneath the electric meter, hung "Ten Nights in a Bar-room."

"And the laundry, dearest," gurgled Jane. "You never in the world will recognize the laundry, but I'll bet I don't have any more trouble in keeping laundresses, even out here in the 'wilderness.' And on all days but Tuesdays it is to be a studio. I'm going to paint Nancy some doll furniture and if you'll promise to wear a smock while you work, you may build her a sandbox and doll-house for her birthday."

Apricot orange laundry tubs and a purple washing machine greeted Jerry, while emerald green curtains softened the glare of the western sun.

"You see," explained Jane, "Blanche got me all worked up about this freedom business, so as I've always wanted to paint, I thought I'd just go ahead and paint. At first I thought I'd do over the living room in robin's egg blue and peacock green with cerise curtains and purple floors, but I decided to compromise on the basement."

"Thank goodness," breathed Jerry, fervently. "But why, if you must have a little household Bohemia, call it that?" he asked, pointing to the great straggling green letters in the cellar stairway wall—"Apricot attic 12 stairs down?"

"The final proof of my stifled genius," answered Jane impishly. "Even Blanche couldn't ask for a more unconventional situation than an attic in the basement of a bungalow!"

For the Lovelorn

By ELEANOR GALE

Doubtful.

DEAR MISS GALE:

Why isn't it proper for a girl 15 or 16 to go with a man who is near 30? Maybe you can give me a few pointers on this subject?

DOUBTFUL B.

It is not improper for a girl of 15 to accept the attentions of a man of 30, Miss B. However, I don't advise it usually because it is very seldom that you find two people so far apart in age who have the same interests. And unless you have tastes and interests in common with a young man, a real friendship is impossible.

Billie.

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a girl 16 years of age. I recently visited in a college town, where I met a young man, who was very nice to me while there. Is it proper for me to write to him expressing my appreciation of his efforts to make my visit pleasant, or should I wait until he writes?

BILLIE.

I think it is your place to write to this young man and thank him for the lovely time you had. Then, if he wishes to initiate a correspondence he will answer your letter at length.

Dolly.

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a young girl in my teens and look considerably older than I really am. Can you advise me what to do in order to look younger. I am rather tall and plump.

DOLLY.

Excess weight adds years to any girl's appearance. My best advice to you is to reduce. Have your physician give you a sane and wholesome reducing diet and go on a strict regime of exercises.

Quicksands of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

A New Phase of Revelations of a Wife

HUGH GRANTLAND'S hand gave mine a strong, reassuring clasp as I asked him if he could come to see me after the next Friday, and I knew that I need worry no more about the task of tracing the movements of Mrs. Baker. True, I had not yet told him the service I wished of him, but when had Hugh Grantland ever failed me? I could have foretold even the words with which he answered me.

"You know that I am always at your service," he said earnestly, yet in so low a tone that I was sure my father and Lee Chow, standing in earnest conversation but a few feet away, did not hear the words. "How will Monday do? Your father is going away Saturday, and I don't suppose Sunday——"

"Oh, no!" I said hastily, furious at myself for flushing, and at him for comprehending, as I knew he could not help doing, the reason for my flush. But I knew that with Dicky at home, as he probably would be on Sunday, I could not discuss with Hugh Grantland any plans which would involve the protection of my husband's young niece. Dicky would dismiss as utterly absurd my theory concerning Mrs. Baker, and I would be compelled either to drop my investigation of her or to fly directly in the face of his expressed opinion. The last course I did not wish; the first, I did not dare; so I went on swiftly from my embarrassed exclamation.

"Monday will do splendidly," I said, reflecting that my work for Mr. Veritzen upon that day did not involve any absence from home.

"What time will suit your convenience?" he asked. "Any hour is all right for me."

I knew what that meant, that he would make it all right, no matter how it upset his own plans. But I also knew that there was no use trying to find out the best hour for him, so I chose my own, promptly, that he might not be delayed.

"Ten o'clock in the morning is best for me," I answered. "And can you bring Lee Chow with you?"

His eyes showed his surprise—and something else—my vanity wondered if it were disappointment, but his voice and face were absolutely composed.

"Of course," he answered. "We will both be here at 10 o'clock."

And then they were gone, and I, folded in my father's arms, was telling him happily, excitedly, how glad I was to see him again.

"No more joyful than I, my darling," he rejoined fondly, and then we settled down to one of our oldtime visits, in which he told me about the farm and the Ticers, and my favorite haunts at the bay and the ocean, while I answered his anxious inquiries concerning Junior and Dicky. It was not until my watch told me that it was time to give Katie directions for dinner that he said abruptly:

"Mrs. Underwood's dinner is Friday, isn't it?"

"Yes," I answered, struck with something odd in his tone. "Why?"

"Because I am to sail Saturday and I wanted to be sure that I had not mistaken the date of her dinner."

I looked at him in stricken astonishment.

"To sail?" I repeated. "Hugh said you were going away, but I did not understand——"

He put his hand upon my lips.

"You must be a good soldier, my dear," he said, soberly, yet with a note which I understood required obedience from me. "And there is no reason for your worrying. I was afraid when I was here before that my absence might be one of—long duration. But I shall be back within a year, I am sure."

I needed all my courage, as well as the remembrance of his admonition to keep back tears and expostulations. I was glad indeed when Dicky, coming home a good two hours sooner than was his wont, gave me an opportunity to flee to my own room and conquer my fright and grief before I went out to Katie.

But it was to another channel altogether that my thoughts were directed, when a half hour later, after Dicky had gone to his room, my father called me to him.

"What is the matter with Richard?" he demanded anxiously.

MARKET RALLY CONTINUES; NEW HIGHS

International News Service Wire

NEW YORK, Aug. 4. Most of the active stocks in the New York market reached higher price levels today, continuing the rally from Wednesday's sudden break in the "Coolidge bull market."

The Standard Oil shares led a brilliant forward movement as a result of the decision of the oil producers to limit the output of the Seminole crude oil fields in Oklahoma.

A 40 point jump in cotton prices, the equivalent of $2.00 a bale, restored about half of yesterday's heavy losses in cotton futures. Other commodity markets were steady.

Wall Street Briefs

Big Metal Export.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4—(AP)—Prices of copper, lead and zinc have advanced under active buying, with particularly heavy exports to Europe, the Engineering and Mining Journal reports. Copper gained the most ground during the week with a net advance of ⅛ of a cent per pound in the domestic market and ⅛ cent in the C. I. F. price of the export association. Lead is up ¼ cent, tin nearly 2 cents, and zinc 10 points. Europe also has been buying lead and zinc. The explanation frequently offered for the advance is that prices have been unwarrantably low, as there seems to be no decisive change in the domestic industrial outlook to provide a factor.

Hupp Motor Report.

The Hupp Motor Company shipped 2,727 cars in July against 2,979 in June. Shipments for seven months totalled 24,937 against 31,424 last year.

United Drug Profit.

Structural Steel Orders.

Orders for structural steel placed during the past week totalled around 31,000 tons. Pending business amounts to about 20,000 tons.

Tung-Sol Lamp.

The Tung-Sol Lamp Works Inc. reports a net profit for the quarter ended June 30, of $208,365, equal to 81 cents a share on 150,000 shares of class "A" stock and 58 cents a share on 150,000 shares of common, as compared with $208,365 for the quarter in 1926, or 81 cents a share on class "A" and 57 cents on common.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK, Aug. 4—(AP)—The cotton market opened firm at an advance of 38 to 43 points on active covering or rebuying by recent sellers who appeared to be influenced by the firmer showing of Liverpool. A belief that yesterday's break had improved the technical position of the market and unfavorable features in the weather news. December sold up to 17.62c and March to 17.90c at the start, but this bulge met a renewal of liquidation and some profit-taking by buyers on the decline of yesterday afternoon. These offerings were sufficient to check the advance and cause some irregularity with December selling off to 17.41c, but the market was holding fairly steady at about 20 to 23 points net higher at the end of the first hour.

Private cables said that further liquidation had been absorbed by covering and buying for a reaction, and a rally of a few points was reported in the market for Egyptian cotton at Alexandria.

The market was quieter late in the forenoon, but offerings were comparatively light and the tone was steady to firm, with prices selling up to 17.71c for December and 17.97 for March or about 49 to 56 points above yesterday's closing quotations. At midday the market was within 5 or 6 points of these figures, with December selling around 17.61c.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 4—(AP)—Cotton spot quiet, prices easier; American good middling, 10.25c; good middling, 9.88c; strict middling, 9.52c; middling, 9.23c; strict low middling, 8.83; low middling, 8.46c; strict good ordinary, 8.13c; good ordinary, 7.68c. Blind Man "Sees" Lindy As He Shakes His Hand

That is what P. N. Harrison, of Meade street, who lost his eyesight in the United States Air Service during the World War, said this morning after a short interview with Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, arranged at the request of Mayor Charles H. Kline.

"But I don't want it in the papers, you see, just because I'm a blind man and shook hands with Lindbergh," he added. "I'm doing it so that I can get a good picture of him—I can see that man!—and this afternoon I'll be at Bettis Field when he takes off."

CHICAGO, Aug. 4—(AP.)—Higher temperatures northwest and continued black rust reports, together with corn market strength rallied wheat prices today from declines. Corn went upward on account of buying due to unfavorable crop comment from Iowa and other parts of the corn belt. On the other hand, a leading corn crop authority here said that records of 77 years past showed little danger of killing frost until around October 1.

NEW YORK CURB REVIEW

NEW YORK, Aug. 4—(AP.)—Surprising strength was shown in the petroleum group on the curb exchange today. In financial circles this was said to reflect a return of confidence in the situation based on statements made by President Coolidge a few days ago concerning the necessity for conserving the oil resources of the country which were construed as foreshadowing announcement of some plan for federal supervision of oil land development. The fact that results of such a scheme must be far off in the future seemed to be wholly ignored, the improvements in prospect alone being sufficient to produce not only general buying but a cancellation of selling orders.

Standard Oil of Indiana, which has materially strengthened its position by acquisition in tropical oil fields, including Pan American and Lago and is now arranging to absorb Creole, was the most important feature of the market, making a further advance. Humble was one of the strongest in the afternoon trading, moving up over 2 points to above 62 and Gulf Oil gained over a point. Prairie Oil moved up over a point to over 50.

United Gas Improvement demanded most attention in the utility issues because of buying by the group that has been identified with accumulating important light and heating companies, and purchases for that account lifted this stock to a new high, making it cross 112. Associated Gas also was active and strong, moving up over 2 points.

Activity was shown in many of the industrial specialties, but they moved in different directions. Safeway Stores gained about 3 points and Johns Manville, in which trading was on a large scale, rose over a point.

Thomas Fogle, 27, of 912 Wheeler street, and Thomas Heffin, 18, of 1339 Laketon avenue, Wilkinsburg, are in the county jail today, held for court on charges of larceny and receiving stolen goods. Heffin fled when Fogle was caught and lodged in Sharpsburg police station for stripping accessories from automobiles. Detectives found him later.

Business Somewhat Quieter.

Published corporation earnings indicate that business, although good, is somewhat below last year's level in the Fourth Federal Reserve district, according to the monthly business review of the Cleveland Federal Reserve Bank. The district includes Western Pennsylvania.

The usual mid-summer quiet prevails, but July brought improvement over June in iron and steel. Continued dullness featured the soft coal markets during early July; prices receded slightly and although production was only 60 per cent in the second quarter of that in the first three months of the year it was described as almost sufficient to take care of the summer demand.

Automobile tire manufacturers report sales to retail dealers about normal, but a decrease was noted in sales to motor vehicle manufacturers. Conditions in the motor truck industry were "spotty" with manufacturers reporting a considerable decline during the second quarter compared to 1926.

Building contracts the first half of 1927 were 5 per cent in excess of the corresponding period in 1926, but building permits issued were 7 per cent less. The value of permits issued in 28 cities in the district in June totaled $21,875,928, compared to $26,152,584 in June, 1926. Among the cities showing a decrease was Pittsburgh.

MINE PARLEY IN OHIO URGED

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 4—(AP.)—Gov. Donahey has suggested that the conference of coal operators and union miners of the central competitive field proposed by him as a possible means of solving the present wage controversy be held in the Ohio National Guard Armory at Toledo at 10 a. m., August 15.

It was revealed today that this time and place is set in the Governor's letters to John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and Rice Miller, chairman of the operators in the central competitive field, urging them "in behalf of the state of Ohio" to reconvene the conference, which adjourned in a deadlock at Miami, Fla., last spring.

Gov. Donahey has asked the Governors of Indiana, Illinois and Pennsylvania to join in urging reconvening of the conference.

Govs. Len Small of Illinois, and Ed Jackson of Indiana, have replied that they would join in the urging.

GERMAN STUDENTS SPEND VACATION IN FRANCE

Berlin—Eighty boys and girls of high school age, all from families of modest means, have left for France to spend the vacation as guests of French families having boys or girls of the same age. In return, 80 French boys and girls will come to these German families five weeks later for a stay of equal length.

The project for this novel exchange of students was managed by the League for Human Rights, an international pacifist organization. The league feels that if Frenchmen and Germans of the generation now growing up learn to know each better, the talk about the "traditional Franco-German enmity" will be bound to die out.

Both the German and the French governments showed their sympathy for the scheme by granting free visas and greatly reduced railway fares. Teachers accompanied the students as far as Paris, where the German embassy took them in charge and saw to it that they reached their final destination safely.

NEW LONDON STREET TO COST $20,000,000

Nearly 700 houses must be torn down to make way for the road. The government will pay 75 per cent of the cost, and the London County Council 25 per cent.

THE SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4—(AP.)—The raw sugar market was unchanged early today, but there was a better inquiry at the season's low records and offerings were lighter and at fractionally higher levels. The only sale reported was 7,000 bags of Porto Ricans due next week to a local refiner at 4.40c.

Raw sugar futures opened unchanged to 2 points lower under liquidation and Cuban selling, but rallied later on covering and trade buying, with prices at midday about one point net higher throughout the list. The steadiness was due to the better feeling in the spot market and to reports that Europe was again inquiring for sugar in the Cuban market.

No further changes were reported in refined sugar, list quotations ranging from 5.60c to 5.80c for granulated, but a better inquiry was reported at the inside level.

C. COLUMBUS NEVER WAS, HE SAYS

Universal Service Wire.

LISBON, Aug. 4—Christopher Columbus never discovered America after all.

In fact, there never was any Christopher Columbus, and the original transatlantic trip was made by a Portuguese named Salvador Goncalvezarco.

This announcement was made by the Secular Journal here today, which states that a Portuguese investigator, Santos Ferreira, has discovered in an old convent in Lisbon documents establishing the precise national identity of Columbus.

According to the documents, Columbus was a Portuguese, son of Goncalvezarco who discovered the island of Madeira, and his true name was Salvador Goncalvezarco, which was changed to Columbus to hide certain dishonest actions which, if revealed, would cause a great sensation.

Old Water Street "Flop Joints" Go Aristocratic

The "flop joints" along Water street have gone—or gone aristocratic. The high cost of living, and property, are to blame.

Up until two years ago, toil-worn rivermen, who were called longshoremen on the dockets, but "water-rats" on the street, could get a bed for 15, 20 or 25 cents. Today it's different.

Only two joints are left in the entire Water street area, the cheapest of these is 50 cents.

For more than 100 years, Water street was the setting for row upon row of three and four-storied brick buildings. Some, formerly, had saloons on the first floor, and the upstairs were "flop-joints" with beds at two-bits. Some others had various kinds of stores on the ground floor, and "beds" above.

John Mc[illegible] has been a patrolman around the river off and on for 28 years.

"I dunno where these river rats loaf now. They used to line up these streets when the river was handling a lot of packets. Up to a couple of years ago, you could get a flop almost anywhere for two-bits. Now there's one on Market street and another down by the Point, but they're expensive, or at least half a dollar a night. Seems to me most of the old rivermen have gone and the 'rats' put up on the North Side. Property values are too high around here now and although the river may be coming back—say I can remember when the boats were lined up solid from the Smithfield Street Bridge to the Point."

4,000 GUARDS IN BATTLE

CAMP GEARY, MT. GRETNA, Pa., Aug. 4—(AP)—The "red" and "blue" armies, made up of the 4,000 members of the Pennsylvania National Guard encamped here, opposed each other in the field today in the final big maneuver of their training.

It was a maneuver involving the attack and defense of a pass in the mountains and embodied all the training which the guardsmen have been receiving for the last two weeks.

The "Blue" army was represented by the One Hundred and Eleventh Infantry and the One Hundred and Eighth Field Artillery. The "Red" army on the defensive was represented by the One Hundred and Twelfth Infantry.

The One Hundred and Third Medical Regiment and the Twenty-eighth Division Trains were divided between the two infantry regiments.

Company H of the One Hundred and Eleventh, the machine gun company of the second battalion, made the best showing of the summer with machine guns.

GIRL MISSING; 2 ARRESTED

PRAGUE, CZECHO-SLOVAKIA, Aug. 4—(AP)—Detectives are seeking to unravel the mystery of the disappearance of an American girl, Miss Margit Voerdesmart of New York. John Michalko, prominent in Czecho-Slovak political circles, and his friend and physician, Dr. Klepetar, have been arrested on suspicion of murdering her.

It is alleged by the police that Michalko went through a bogus form of marriage with Miss Voerdesmart last year, after which she, Michalko and Klepetar left for Paris, saying they were going to America. Since then nothing has been heard of her.

The remedy comprises foreign protein injections that are said to have restored the insane to an almost rational condition in experiments conducted within the last year. SOHO IS CENTER FOR "ANTIQUES"

London—There is a new industry making "big money" in Soho, London's Latin quarter. Its business is to make "old" things out of new, and sell them to American visitors.

From the shipping department of the Soho firm issue "antique" copper warming pans, door-knockers, toasting forks, jardinieres, fire dogs, brass kettles, tea-trays, tea sets, wine-coolers, salvers and fish-heaters. They are distributed to certain tea-shops which resell them to tourists.

LEVINE POSTS $10,000 FOR PILOT

PARIS, Aug. 4—(AP.)—Charles A. Levine, owner of the transatlantic plane Columbia, the newspapers stated today, has formally accepted the terms of the provisional agreement under which Maurice Drouhin, the French flyer, was engaged to pilot the plane back to New York.

That section of the agreement over which trouble developed involved the deposit of 300,000 francs (about $12,000) by way of insurance for Drouhin's wife and family.

The acceptance, before the sheriff's officer, it is added, gives the French aviator an ironclad guarantee and would enable him to place seals on the Columbia if Mr. Levine did not complete the contract.

The $10,000 Prize Novel
"REBELLION"

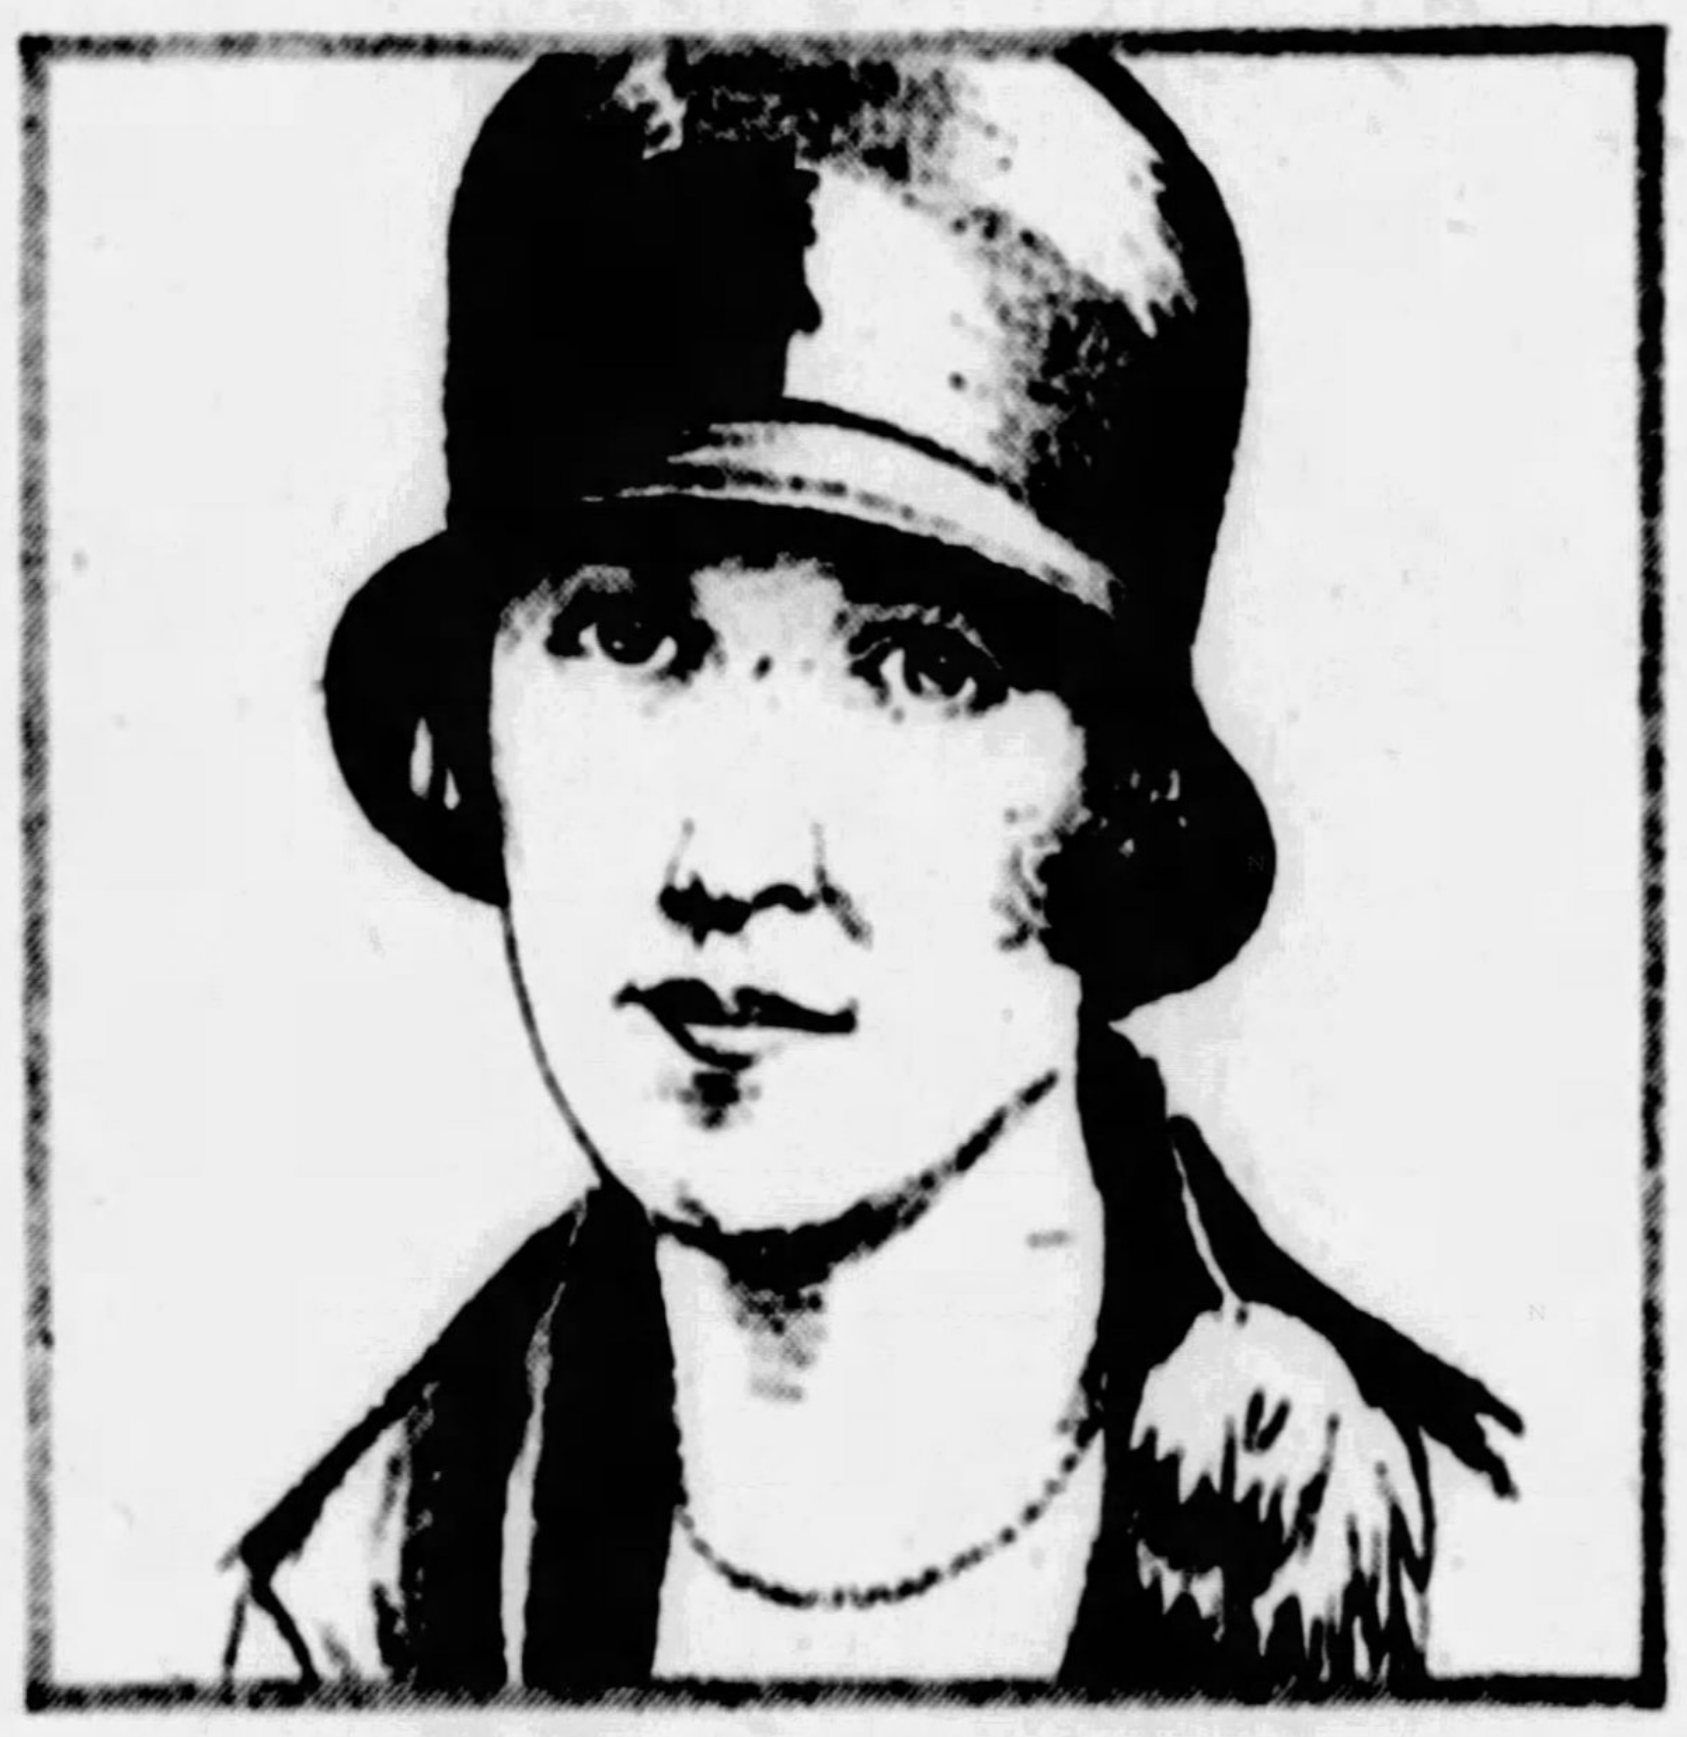
by Mateel Howe Farnham

Chosen as best of 1,300 submitted in the Pictorial Review Contest . . .

TODAY the younger generation rebels against most things the older generation held sacred. "Rebellion" is the story of a modern, dynamic young girl in revolt against her family. Already interest is country-wide in this prize novel, to be published by Dodd, Mead & Company. Indeed "Rebellion" bids fair to be an even bigger success than "Wild Geese" by Martha Ostenso, winner of the 1925 Pictorial Prize. Its charming young author was before marriage Mateel Howe, daughter of E. W. Howe.

"Rebellion" is the novel of 1927. It is romantic, thrilling, human. It makes you laugh and—it makes you sigh! In August Pictorial—don't miss the opening chapters!

Begins in August Pictorial Review



MATEEL HOWE FARNHAM, author of "Rebellion," is in private life Mrs. Dwight Farnham, wife of the industrial engineer. They live in Gramercy Park, New York, and summer in the writers' colony at Westport, Conn.

"ED" HOWE
Editor-proprietor of "Ed Howe's Monthly." His article, "My Only Daughter," is in August Pictorial Review.

Mateel Howe as a child

E. W. Howe's Daughter . . .

A Father's Tribute to the Author of the $10,000 Prize Novel

Mateel Howe Farnham comes naturally by her talent for writing. She is the daughter of the man who wrote that classic of Americana, "The Story of a Country Town."

And a beloved daughter! Read "Ed" Howe's "My Only Daughter" in August Pictorial Review. "The nearest approach to an angel is a little girl of ten or twelve," he says. "I've traveled far, but have discovered nothing equal to love. And no wife ever loved a husband as a girl of twelve loves her father. There is a trustfulness, an admiration, no grown woman has for a man. A girl of twelve hasn't found the men out; a woman of sixteen is beginning to; and I blush when I think of what women beyond twenty think of us—most of it true."

Written from the heart, "My Only Daughter"! A rare human document—the sort of thing you find in Pictorial Review.

THE WONDERFUL STORY OF AN AMERICAN NOVELIST WHO BECAME A PRIMA DONNA . .

College graduate, poet, novelist and opera singer, Dorothy Speare is one of the most versatile and most charming of American women. Pictorial readers will remember "The Excitement-Eaters," her serial novel with its vivid pictures of the younger generation. "Prelude" tells her own story of her struggle against odds—how she at last won out. You'll find it in August Pictorial Review. With many other wonderful articles and stories—big names like Joseph C. Lincoln, Wilbur Daniel Steele, Courtney Riley Cooper, Juliet Wilbor Tompkins—Don't miss the Summer Fiction Number!

DOROTHY SPEARE, College graduate, poet, novelist, and prima donna.

THE BIDDING

South Bids	West Bids	North Bids	East Bids
1C	Pass	1S	2H
2NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

Final Bid 2NT Played by South

Salient Points of the Bidding

In spite of his three Aces and distributed values in three suits, South prefers an introductory bid of one Club to No Trump, because of his weak Spade doubleton. North, with but minimum strength to justify it, bids a Spade, though holding three Clubs, in hopes that his showing of strength in that suit will enable his partner to bid No Trump, if unable to support Spades. Following East's bid of two Hearts, South, with apparently two stoppers in Hearts and the assurance that his partner can look out for Spades, properly bids two No Trumps.

Salient Points of the Play

Trick 2. Without entries and with the knowledge that Declarer must hold the Ace and Jack of Hearts, East abandons his Heart suit and leads up to weakness in Dummy as a possible aid to his partner.

Trick 5. Declarer again leads low in Clubs to retain command of the suit should he find a 4-1 adverse distribution.

Trick 10. West's hand is clearly readable as holding the King of Spades, the Jack of Diamonds, and the King and six of Clubs. Declarer leads a Spade preliminary to throwing West in the lead to force an embarrassing lead from him.

Trick 12. West, in with the Jack of Diamonds, is forced to lead away from his guarded King of Clubs.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

FRIDAY, AUGUST 5.

WHILE this day's planetary government prevails it is well to be exceedingly cautious and conservative, according to astrology.

Women may find the rule thwarting and they should defer all important affairs.

Traveling may be subject to delays or even accidents, for unusual storms appear to be presaged by the stars.

European tourists, who will exceed in numbers all previous summer records, may meet with unexpected conditions and may experience indignities in certain places.

Those who read the stars find the most conflicting planetary influence active where military matters are concerned and they predict bitter controversies.

While this configuration prevails the trend toward militarism may be strong and preparedness widely advocated and supported.

Women as well as men of many countries are to take an interest in training and drilling for war, it is foretold.

This is read as an unlucky day for seeking employment and it is wise to delay initiative.

Much anxiety and concern appears to be foreshadowed for men in positions in the sun.

For all rulers of nations new problems loom on the horizon, the seers announce, and changes in government are to be sudden.

Great movements of battleships are presaged by the stars for ports held by the British are to be menaced.

To those who read the future many waste efforts are apparent on the part of European powers who must make new alliances before the end of the year.

Italy is subject to the sinister effects of the July conjunction of Jupiter and Uranus, which presaged changes that affected the destiny of nations.

Persons whose birthdate it is have a busy and happy year before them. They will accomplish much constructive work.

Children born on this day probably will be able to succeed through their own talents and efforts. They are likely to be energetic and executive, able to succeed in independent enterprises.

FIRST NEWSPAPER AD DISCOVERED IN LONDON

London—What is believed to be the first newspaper advertisement has been discovered in the files of a London newspaper. It is exhibited at the advertising exhibition and convention held in London during July.

The ad is from a newspaper called "A Collection for Improvement of Husbandry and Trade," published in London, December 13, 1695. It reads as follows:

"A Commander of a very good merchant ship wants an apprentice that hath his Pen well, and understands Arithmetick to assist him in the keeping of Books and doing of Business, and hath Friends who will be bound for his true and faithful Service during his Apprenticeship."

QUEEN WILL DISPENSE WITH MAIDS OF HONOR

London.—The ancient position of maid of honor to the Queen will soon be abolished.

When Miss Ursula Lawley, daughter of Sir Arthur Lawley, marries Col. George Gibbs, treasurer of the King's household, in a few weeks, the Queen will allow the appointment to lapse, it is understood. Miss Lawley is the last maid of honor.

During the last few years the Queen has allowed the number of maids of honor to decline from eight, the number in the days of Queen Victoria, to one. As vacancies have arisen she has not made new appointments.

Constant noises in cities are said to be causing a spread of "malaprosis," the disease which causes people to think one thing and say another.

For instance, the boss has malaprosis when he says: "It's how much money you make in the physical year that counts."

In fact, malaprosis has reached alarming properations. The situation is pregnant with probabilities.

Perhaps something could be done by getting out propaganza.

After all, malaprosis is very common among married people. They think one thing and say another.

• • •

Moronia suffers from malaprosis. She says her girl friend's cousin's aunt used to be married to an animal in the navy.

Government Control in Oil Needed to Save Industry

Oil barons have demonstrated urgent need for the United States to step in.

The oil industry has demonstrated that it cannot run itself without help from the government. The time for government help has come.

They rush ahead, bringing more and more oil out of the ground, its natural storage, to aggravate an already intolerable condition of overproduction.

The one attempt of the oil industry to stop this waste was the so-called "agreement" of producers in the Seminole district. The public understood that they were going to voluntarily restrict production in this field, which was demoralizing the industry.

When the "agreement" was made, the Seminole production was 350,000 barrels a day. Today it is over 500,000 barrels a day.

If only the oil leaders were concerned, we might let them go to their own ruin. We might even let them throw into temporary bankruptcy an $11,000,000,000 industry with 1,500,000 stockholders. They are, however, wasting the most valuable of our national resources, one that is irreplaceable. Ralph Arnold, of Los Angeles, put the crisis succinctly in his appeal to the President last week. He said:

"The protection of our country from future foreign foes demands the conservation of oil by every method within reach.

"Our future safety depends upon our air forces. They can't be operated without oil. A nation whose oil supply is exhausted will be at the mercy of any aggressor. If transportation failed, great cities would starve to death.

"All my life I have been opposed to government regulation, but at last I am convinced of its necessity because the petroleum industry will not regulate itself."

The situation is exactly that in the railroad business forty years ago when the carriers were ruining themselves by rate-cutting and could not stop it. The Interstate Commerce act and the Interstate Commerce Commission saved the railroads and made them the most valuable forms of private property in the country today.

Robert L. Welch, counsel and general secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, said at Cuba, New York, ten days ago:

"Many oil people are hoping that we can get somebody else to run the business and thus have happen to us the terrible punishment inflicted upon the railroads, whereby they became the most prosperous and assured business in the United States."

That is what would happen to the oil business if we had a national oil law and a national oil commission. Fortunately, legislation to this end will be introduced in the next Congress.

Our Flag Making Profit on Seas, but Needs Ships

The United States Lines, operating the Government-owned Leviathan and four sister passenger ships under the American flag, announce a profit of three hundred and seventy thousand dollars in the twelve months just past.

In other words, the flag is on the seas, making money, in the most important trade in the world, the North Atlantic passenger business.

It is the most important trade in the world because it is the only one that can support the swift, high-class passenger steamers which we must have as auxiliaries to our navy for defense purposes.

Furthermore, it would be a national disgrace not to have American steamships on this chief highway of the seas. Before the war we had no such steamships of the first-class. The fortunes of war gave us the Leviathan, the George Washington and three others, which carried 84,000 passengers last year, and made money for the government.

It has been a hard pull. The United States Lines held on through four years of deficit. The largest share of the credit should go to Brig.-Gen. A. C. Dalton, head of the Merchant Fleet Corporation, which runs the government's Shipping Board vessels.

Gen. Dalton now asks Congress for two new first-class ships, which, with the Leviathan, could maintain a weekly passenger service fully equal to any competition. Congress ought to be proud to supply the money for the new vessels.

We have the largest export trade in the world, one-fifth larger than Great Britain's yearly foreign sales of four thousand million dollars. Yet 70 per cent of our overseas trade is carried in foreign-flag vessels. We are dropping farther and farther behind. Lloyd's Register tells us that on June 30 Great Britain and Ireland were building one million four hundred thousand tons of shipping, Germany four hundred thousand tons, Italy two hundred and twenty thousand tons, Holland one hundred and seventy thousand tons. The United States, in fifth place, was building one hundred and forty-six thousand tons, approximately one-tenth of the British figures.

The whole country will approve the appropriation of money for the two new Leviathan-type ships Gen. Dalton asks for.

No Great Man

We haven't one really great man in the world today, wails President Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia. Not one. And this is the first time in 2,000 years we haven't had one. No astonishing poet. No immortal philosopher. No mighty genius of war. Not even a scientist like Newton or Darwin.

Well, let us not despair. After all, more people are nearer contentment than ever before.

More people can and do read and think things over.

More people know their way about in the world, and have an idea, right or wrong, what it all means.

More people than ever before are seriously interested in the problem of the relation of man to man, and man to God.

And that is somthing, even if Dr. Butler be right, and the great are all dead.

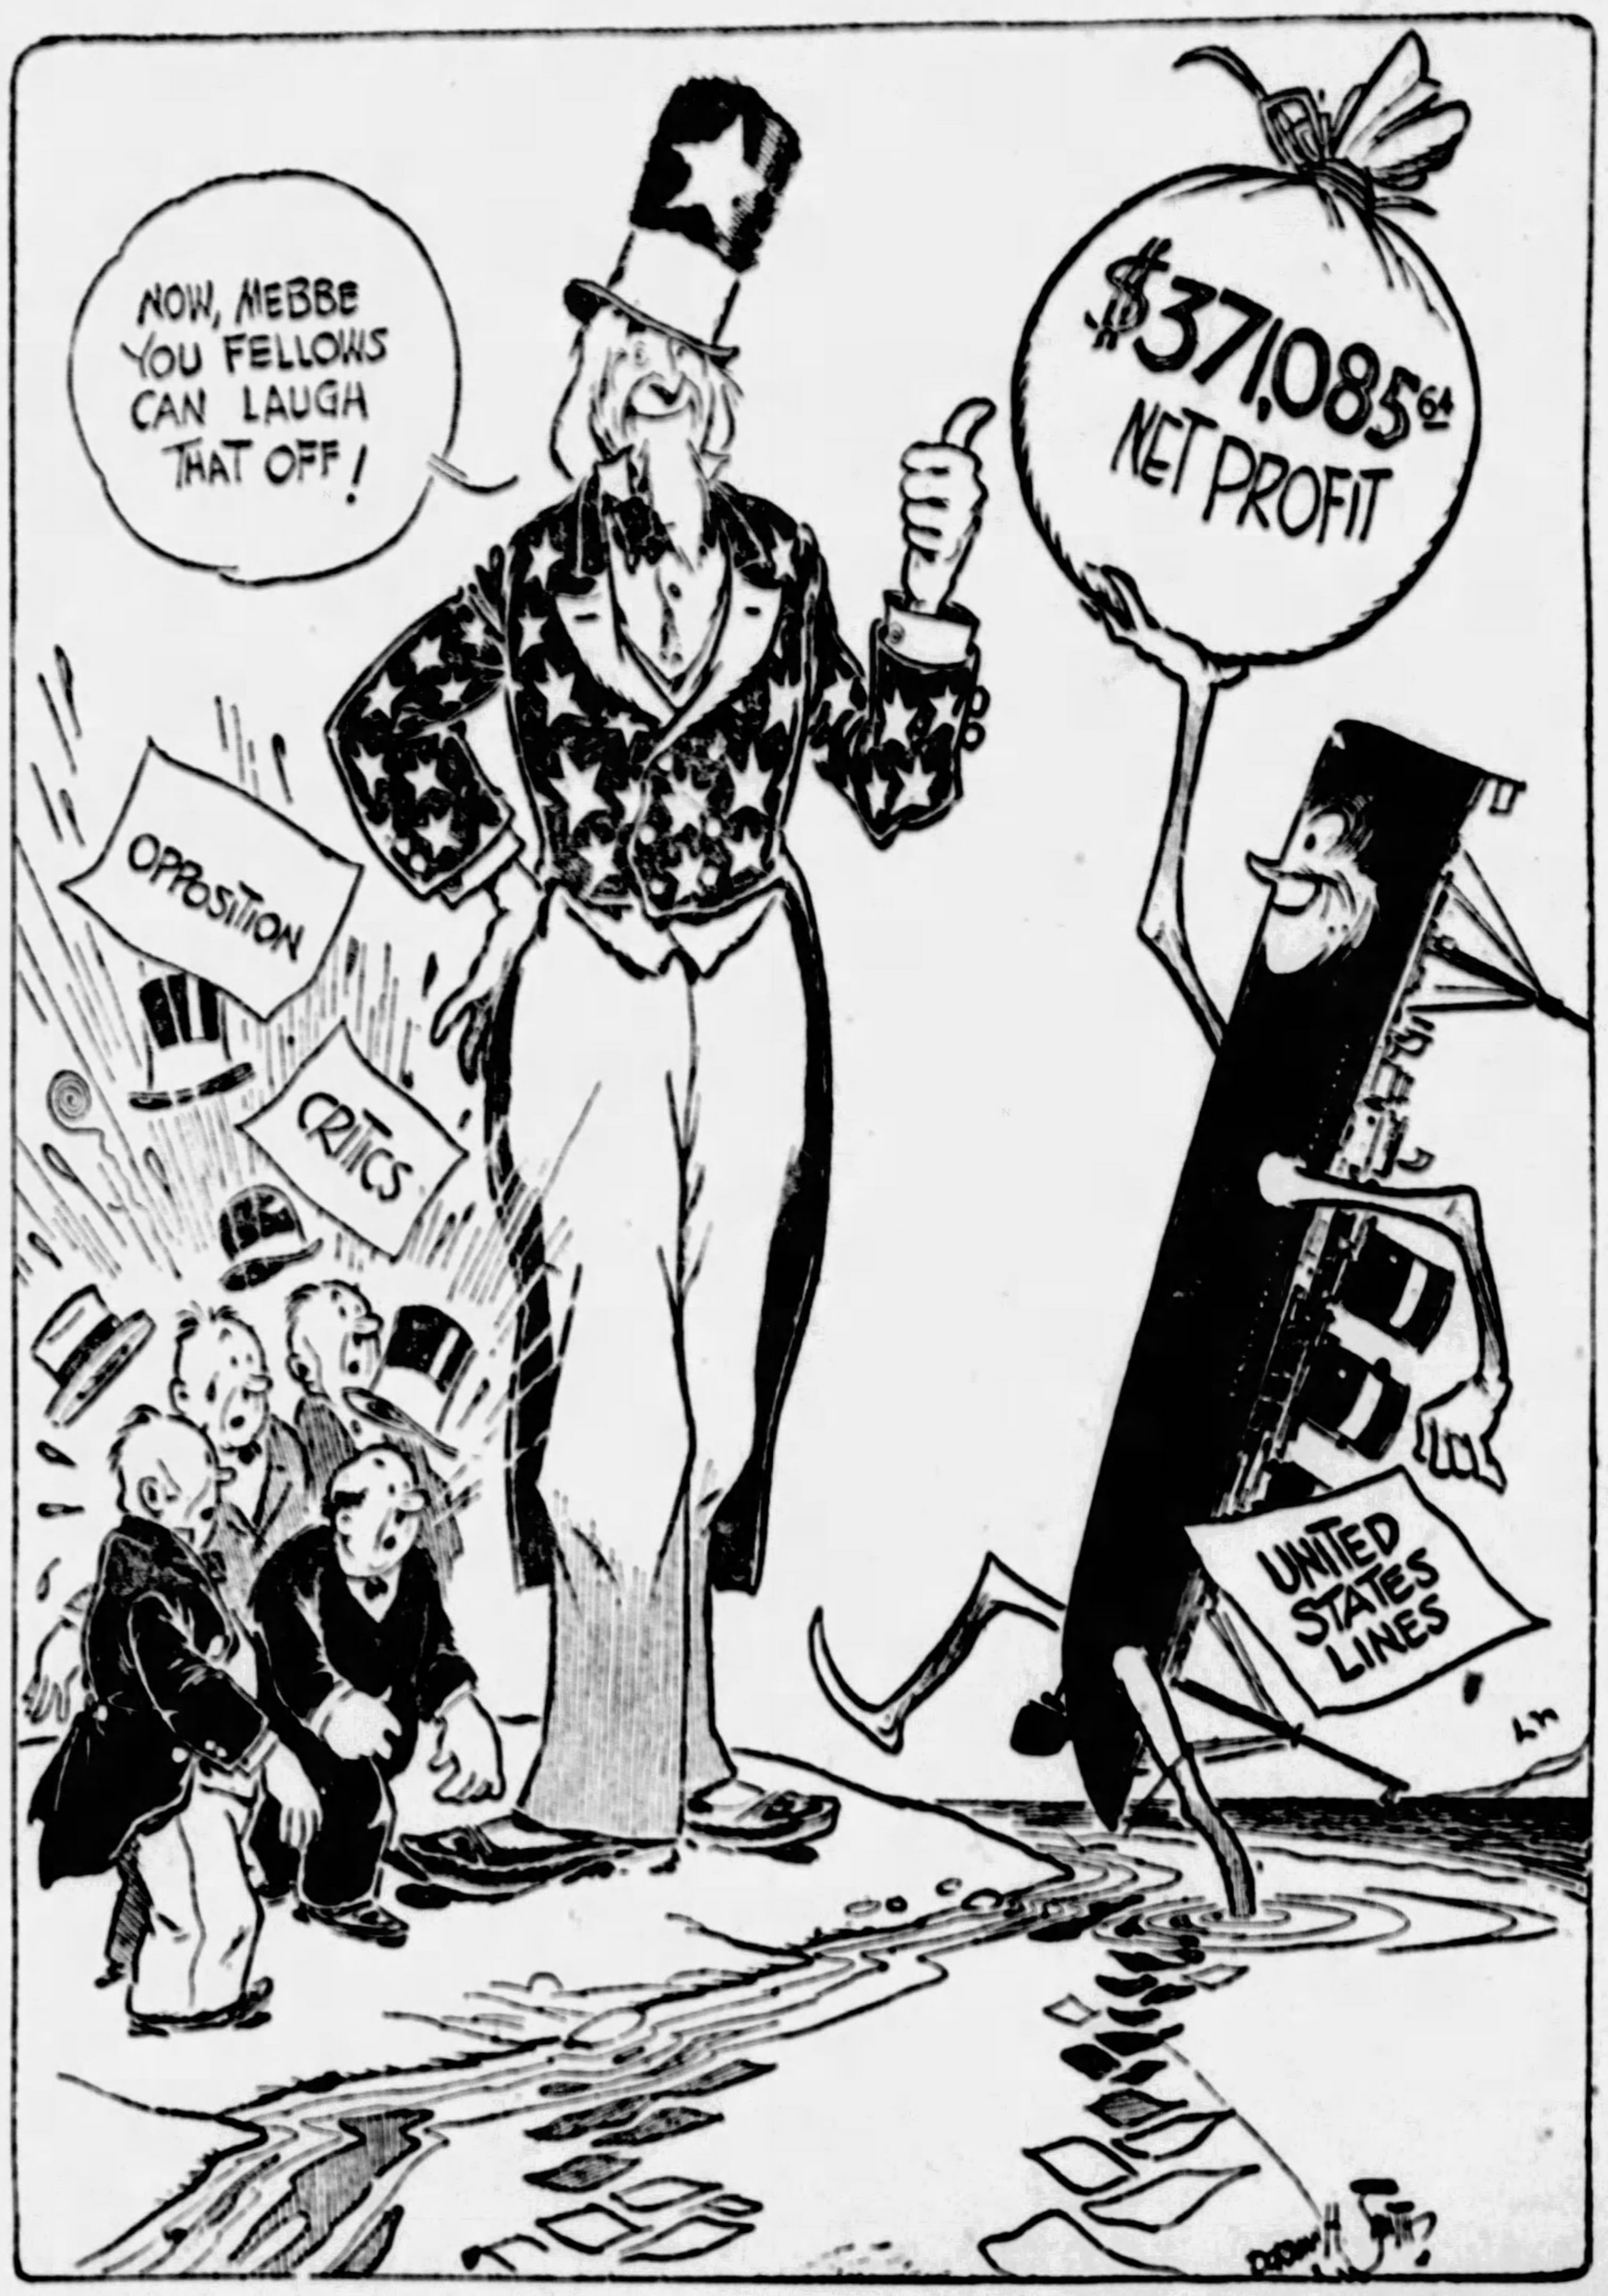
BRINGING HOME THE BACON



More Truth Than Poetry

By S. E. KISER

Loafing on the Job

WITH envy in my heart I often
Have smiled derisively at men
Who, having let their muscles soften,
Must have a month off now and then.
In Winter, when the winds are chilly,
They go in search of balmy air,
And make assertions that are silly
About the burdens they must bear.

THEIR pay continues while they follow
The golf ball over grassy plains,
And make pretenses that are hollow
Concerning shattered nerves and pains.
With little need of recreation,
And from exacting duties free,
They turn their backs on tribulation,
And see things I shall never see.

I'VE often heard them speaking gravely
About the work they have to do,
And how they turn their talents bravely
To pushing weighty matters through,
And, with contempt but poorly hidden,
I've wondered where they would arrive
If, spurned by Fortune, they were bidden
To struggle where the strong survive.

I'VE often wished I might forever
Be situated as they are,
No more compelled to work, or never
Unless my nerves were up to par,
But now and then, when ills beset me,
I cease to envy men who shirk,
And rage at those who try to get me
To go to bed and slight my work.

Just Folks

by Edgar A. Guest

MEMORY

LIFE is made of little things,
Brittle things,
Words and deeds and sighs and kisses,
And the countless passing blisses
Scarcely valued flying o'er,
But remembered long and sighed for,
Priceless pleasures vainly tried for
When they come no more.

FROM the past we turn to borrow
With tomorrow
Finding that which made us gladdest
Lost forever leaves us saddest,
Ever there's an open door
Out of which life's bits of splendor,
Brave at birth, but oh so tender,
Pass to come no more.

THUS it is that memory treasures
By-gone pleasures,
Joy which seems so lithe and agile
Is in truth so very fragile,
None its charm can store.
Even this day's cheery laughter
Through the years which follow after
Shall be heard no more.

THESE the things which we remember
To December,
Smiles that were and words once spoken,
Toys and trinkets owned and broken,
Friends who've sailed from shore,
Once we valued them so lightly,
Now we talk about them nightly
Since they are no more.

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—South of Washington Square are many twisting streets and triangular squares the average New Yorker rarely sees. There are no Byzantine towers with skyrocket effects. The old red brick buildings there have turned a sooty black.

Shutters have sloughed away to a few flapping strips. Doorsills are worn paper thin. Here is a New York living as submerged as a far away village and with somewhat the same colorless monotony. Courtyards are strung with clotheslines.

During summer evenings women sit out front in sidewalk chairs wearing fresh wrappers and the men in shirt sleeved comfort puff pipes at the corners. It is a section where peddlers are not frowned upon for bringing household bargains to the back door.

Children stand back with an awed curiosity when strangers from uptown pass along. Chain stores have not imposed their gaudiness and it is noticed the old-fashioned drug stores with red and green window bottles specialize in nostrums for "rheumatic complaints."

Speakeasies have found favorable spots in this section to hide and old-time residents gaze with a sullen resentment upon taxi cab loads of merrymakers. From the elevated trains many windows reveal highboys, andirons and gaunt hall clocks.

The parlors are places where one rather expects a glass of homemade wine and a square of sponge cake on a blue plate. In the shadows of the arty sophistication of Greenwich Village these people and their streets remain as they were years ago.

* * *

Tiny Tim, who used to sell his "soul candy" in the village, writes friends he has passed up the village permanently for San Diego. He was quite a figure among the toothpick tourists with his velveteen coat and tam. His metaphysical patter usually resulted in a sale.

* * *

Two gentlemen who flashed upon New York a little more worldly than the world itself seem to have flashed temporarily at least into the same obscurity. They were Michael Arlen with his inestimable polish and Noel Coward with his impertinent nonchalance. Each had a caviar urbanity. They had several plays running simultaneously along Broadway. Yet the plays did not last as long as the dime museum on Forty-second street.

* * *

Just as one begins to think New York thrills only to that insular glass typified by a head waiter something as naive as a horseshoe pitching contest comes along to excite it. Then it is apparent that at heart it is no different from Walla Walla.

* * *

For instance, two weeks ago three policemen were keeping crowds back while two otherwise sedate looking men were playing mumble-peg in Central Park with a forfeit for the loser of "rooting the peg"—that is pulling out a peg in the ground by the teeth.

* * *

Out of the welter of theatrical delirium of the past few years, only one fact seems concrete and that is plays with a morbid theme are generally failures.

* * *

Kibitzer has become a fixed word in the Broadway patois. A kibitzer is one who stands around offering useless advice whatever you are doing. It is an offshoot of the pinochle game which usually has a group behind the chairs telling how it must be done.

* * *

Column clown have many kibitzers, bless 'em!

The Origin of Life

By DR. FRANK CRANE

It has come again.

About once in so often it returns like the phases of the moon or the sun spots. You can look for another one in a few weeks.

I refer to the announcement that the possibility of the creation of life has been broadcast by Sir Oliver Lodge. He regards the manufacture of life as not merely a future possibility, but perhaps inevitable.

What has happened in evolution, that is the creation of form from primeval molten material, or glowing gas, may be controlled and humanly managed in the future, he says.

He is also kind enough to announce that there is nothing repugnant to religion in this.

Of course religion does not depend upon any dogma of any kind, although many dogmas have been mixed up with religious teachings.

Religion is a deep instinct of the human soul, and will outlive all scientific discoveries.

But we may well doubt that Sir Oliver Lodge is a prophet or the son of a prophet. Spontaneous generation has been announced many times, but the announcement has always been contradicted afterwards. Nobody has yet created a living thing out of anything that was not already alive.

As far as that is concerned, no man has ever created a force. Forces come from the Infinite, and man's excellency merely consists in finding out how to use them.

Nobody knows what electricity is, or gravitation, or [illegible], or love. They are simply forces that exist. We can turn them on and off, but nobody ever created one.

Looking for the origin of force is like looking for perpetual motion. The prophets of the spook world may announce the possibility of creating a force, but those of us who have [illegible] feet on the ground may well doubt it.

When somebody creates electricity or some other force, we may look for the creation of life as the next step.

Life continues the baffling mystery of mankind, and so far as we can see now, it will always continue to be such.

We know something—perhaps we know a great deal—but the origin of things is still concealed from us. Franklin could draw down lightning from the skies, but nob[illegible] has yet arisen who can tell us how the lightning got into th[illegible] [illegible]kies in the first place. We can take life, or extinguish it, b[illegible] no man knows how it originated. As far as we know, life co[illegible]es from life, and where the first life started seems to remain [illegible]p to the present time an inscrutable mystery.
